DOCKETED BY

Ajo's water and sewer rates are already too high (as well as everything else). Ajo could be a great little retirement community but they are pricing people right out of town. We had our hearts set on this quiet little town several years ago, but we kept our home on wheels, just in case things changed and change they did. We don't spend much time here anymore (only 1 month this winter) to expensive. Can't take a bath, don't flush the stool too often, can't water anything, can't even drink the water. Not a bad place to be until you need something especially water! Maybe there is a water shortage. If so they should be warning people instead of trying to get rich off of people that come here.

Sincerely,

Ray & Eloise Chelewski

Qjo's water and sewer rates are already too high (as well as every-thing else). Qjo could be a great little retirement community but they are price'ing people right out of town we had our hearts set on this quaint little town several years ago - but we kept our home on wheels, just in case things changed - and change they did. We are glad we only bought a lot. We don't spend much time here anymore (only 1 mo this winter) too expensive. Can't take a bath - don't flush the stool too often - Can't water anything - Can't even drink the water - not a bad place to be - until you need something - especially water! maybe there is a water shortage - If so they should be warning people, instead of trying to get rich off of people that come here.
