WEEKLY CALENDAR - APRIL 15, 2005

THE MISSION OF THE MINNESOTA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION IS TO CREATE AND MAINTAIN A REGULATORY ENVIRONMENT THAT ENSURES SAFE, RELIABLE AND EFFICIENT UTILITY SERVICES AT FAIR AND REASONABLE RATES

IMPORTANT NOTICE REGARDING CONTROVERSIAL AGENDA ITEMS

The Commission has authorized the Executive Secretary to modify the scheduling of controversial items. The goal is to allow for a separation between oral argument and deliberation in these cases. Oral argument in controversial cases, typically those items with two stars, will henceforth be scheduled for a Thursday afternoon session, and deliberation on those cases will be scheduled for a morning session on the following Thursday. Consequently, the Commission's Thursday meetings will have slightly different structure. The Thursday morning sessions will be devoted to deliberations on controversial items for which the Commission heard oral argument the preceding week. These morning meetings will also include less controversial decision items requiring Commission action, or items where separation of oral argument and deliberations is otherwise not deemed necessary. (Consent calendar items will be handled as they are now). Thursday afternoon sessions will be devoted to oral argument on controversial cases, and, as noted, deliberation on these cases will be heard during the Thursday morning session one week hence.

The transition to this new format will begin with the April 7th meeting and is reflected in the schedule of events in this version of the Weekly Calendar.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Organization of MISO States (OMS) is offering to all member states the opportunity to participate in the upcoming "RTO 101" sessions. This educational offering is being underwritten by Lawrence Berkley National Laboratory and the Department of Energy Office of Electric Transmission and Distribution. There is no charge to the OMS member states for this on-site educational visit.

John Chandley of LECG Consulting will be making the RTO 101 presentation; which will provide an overview of the basic functions of a Region Transmission Organization, like the Midwest Independent System Operator (MISO). The overall presentation takes approximately 6-7 hours. The Commission has decided to split the presentation into two days. There will be an afternoon session on April 18, continuing with a morning session on April 19 (each session lasting approximately three hours).

The RTO 101 presentation will take place in the Commission's Large Hearing Room on April 18 (1:00 - 4:00) and April 19 (9-12:00). Please visit www.misostates.org for more information.
