Re: Ten Year Transmission Plan- Power Up Corporation

Dear Mr. Johnson:

Pursuant to A.R.S. 40-360.02 which requires "[e]very person contemplating construction of any transmission line within the state during any ten year period... file a ten year plan with the commission on or before January 31st of each year."

Power Up Corporation, a gas and electric transmission corporation is contemplating a single transmission project currently. Specifically Power Up has just executed agreements with host incumbent utilities to study siting and construction of a new transmission line from or adjacent to the substation located at the Harquahala Generating Plant Facility now under construction west of Phoenix by National Energy Group PG&E, and then traversing westward to the Devers Substation located near Palm Springs, California.

The new project will be tentatively named the "Devers II Transmission Line".

The initial feasibility and interconnection studies will be commenced shortly. The studies will consider the proposed transmission line in both DC and AC configurations. Power Up will be glad to provide copies of those studies to the Corporation Commission once those studies are completed later in 2002.

Power Up intends to become active in the CATS and WATS Planning Groups. Should the technical studies indicate that the project is feasible, then Power Up will integrate planning for the proposed project with the WECC as well as those regional transmission groups. Subsequent to completion of these initial feasibility studies and involvement with CATS and WATS, Power Up will address power flow and stability issues. This is because those issues maybe better addressed in terms of the current regional planning efforts.

Sincerely,

Douglas V. Fant
