AZ CORP COMMISS
DOCUMENT CONTROL

I am thoroughly disgusted with the proposed rate increase. There are other things that can be done to reduce water usage and keep the rates down. Developers should be required to install recirculating pump with insulated hot water piping. That alone would save thousands of gallons of water, per home, as well as gas and/or electricity for heating wasted water, water that runs down the drain, unused, waiting for hot water to arrive at the faucet.

Lawns should not be required to be kept green through the winter with the planting of winter rye. This, again would save thousands of gallons of water a year per lawn.

OCT 16 2003

There is absolutely no reason to have such a large increase so soon. Poor planning should not shift the responsibility, for costs, to the homeowner.
