NOTICE OF FILING

SUMMARY OF TESTIMONY OF FRANK J. GRIMMELMANN

Frank J. Grimmelmann

Anthem Resident &

Chairman Finance Committee, Anthem Country Club Homeowners Association, Inc.

The following is a summary of the significant issues set forth in the surrebuttal testimony of Frank J. Grimmelmann as an Intervenor in the proceeding on Arizona-American Water Company, Inc.'s ("AZAWC") application requesting a permanent rate increase in the company's water and waste water operations serving the residents of Anthem, Arizona, among other jurisdictions. A full discussion of various key issues associated with AZAWC's rate increase request and a theory and rationale supporting both Staff and RUCO's recommendations are contained in Mr. Grimmelmann's surrebuttal written testimony that will be formally introduced into testimony with a verbal summary during the proceeding. The significant issues in this case and the supporting testimony will address the following:

Quality of Service—The public comments at Anthem that drew in excess of an estimated 1,000 people, with 80 some odd cars turned away, emphasized problems with the quality of the water, the quality of customer service and billing, and an overall degradation in service quality at a time when AZAWC seeks a rate increase.

Support for Staff and RUCOs' Recommendations—A year ago, a petition from over 1,200 Anthem residents requested Staff, RUCO and the Commission to strongly review AZAWC's request for a 32.45% increase in Anthem's combined water and sewer rates that were already the highest rates of any of the water districts under application. Staff and RUCO have delivered on that request and their findings are now public. We urge the Commissioners to give serious consideration to Staff and RUCO's findings, observations and recommendations in arriving at their final decision for the benefit of the consumers, and the provision of a fair and equitable rate of return to AZAWC.

Support for Staff and RUCOs' Recommended Adjustments—We recognize legitimate differences in the Cost of Anthem water due to a variety of factors outlined in my surrebuttal testimony. However, AZAWC's proposed increase in the rate for Anthem is almost three times the rate of inflation during the period under review, over a base which Staff and RUCO have independently concluded is already too high. This is supported and evidenced by both Staff and RUCO's recommended adjustments that if adopted result in a proposed decrease in Anthem's combined rates for sewer and water. Upon reviewing the evidence objectively, we as a community support the recommended adjustments and urge the Commission to either reject the application or apply the findings of staff to reduce the rate base for the reasons set forth in my surrebuttal testimony. Staff and RUCO's individual analyses once again support the application of well documented adjustments to the application based on acceptable and supportable methodologies applied in the State of Arizona.

Considerations on the Appropriate Rate of Return—Staff and RUCO's foundation for a fair and equitable Rate of Return based on the application of the Capital Asset Pricing Model ("CAPM") is the accepted foundation for our market mechanisms and the pragmatic operation of the capital markets provides a fair and adequate rate of return for AZAWC in determining rates. The required rate of return required to attract investors and necessary capital during a period of low inflation is substantially lower than that requested by AZAWC. While my surrebuttal testimony provides an economic foundation for these conclusions, Staff and RUCO have more than adequately supported there conclusions in there direct and surrebuttal testimony. Therefore, we support the rate of return recommended by Staff and RUCO and the corresponding reduction of the rates to Anthem, assuming that the Commission does not deny the AZAWC application.

Recommended Action In View of these Facts--Granting any increase rewards AZAWC unfairly, particularly in view of their quality of service to the Anthem community and the conclusions in Staff and RUCO's independent analyses. We urge the Commission to consider and support Staff and RUCO's recommendations in rendering its final decision on our community's rates. This action provides a vote of confidence for your constituents in Anthem, while providing a fair and equitable rate of return based on accepted methodologies in the State of Arizona.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED this 4th day of December, 2003.
