I can not believe that APS needs to have a 21.3% rate increase. As long as there is no real choice of service providers the consumer will be forced to pay rates that allow for profits and not better service. It is a well known fact that SRP provides lower energy cost to their customers because they are not a profit driven entity. SRP can loan out customer service to APS, provides refunds at the end of the year to the same customer for the excess charges and still make money on the deal! There is something very wrong with a system that does not allow all consumers the opportunity to choose between a company that gouges the consumer and one that provides service without the need for excess profit. Competition for service would result in lower rates and help consumers.
