Dear Mr. Gleason:

Grace and peace be with you.

The Devers power proposal appears to be not in the best interests of our state. With much of our state in public - i.e. government - management, we are particularly open to pressures to allow routes and power lines across these natural wonders.

I'm sure you know that a power line with high voltage count, acts destructively on natural life near it. Such lines also open the way to previously forbidden roadways for everything from ATV's to heavy equipment vehicles.

Of course Arizona needs electric power.... at least for the foreseeable future, but access to that power needs to be done in ways that do not permanently destroy precious wilderness areas.

I ask you to disapprove of the Devers proposal and suggest they find other ways to transmit power from one state to another.

Peace,

J. David Barkley
