It is hard for me to believe that the Judges' recommendation was to turn down the underground conversion project at Hillcrest Bay. My understanding of the noted recommendation to reject the project is because of a few home owners that can't afford the conversion cost (Just because they said they can't afford the cost, dose not prove they can't, they should have to show written statements of not being able to pay). However, the majority of home owners petitioned in favor of the underground conversion (we did not feel it was necessary to send letters of justification because we sign the petition to approve the project). If I am not mistaken the majority of the residents petitioned to approve the project. I feel that the judges' recommendation should have been to approve the project. I feel that the majority of the residents should not have to suffer the consequence of just a few home owners.

The utility poles in back /front of our homes add to the degradation of the scenic view at the cost of just a few residents that are unwilling to pay for the underground conversion. I feel that the judges' recommendation is totally unfair to the majority of the residents. I hope the judge reconsiders the recommendation in favor of the underground utility project at the request of the majority of the residents.
