Subject: Guest Column: ACC shows hostile, destructive thinking on solar power's promise

Dear Chairman Stump,

I support your position regarding the subject guest column. As is typical with so many liberals, Congressman Barber has revealed himself as an opportunist and a political hack. He conveniently leaves out the fact that the utility "surcharge" was illegal to begin with and all those do good liberals who pushed it, knew it; and now, has the gall to blame you and your fellow commissioners.

I was a casualty of the solar industry of the late 70's and early 80's when the solar industry died because the incentives went away. Now we are looking at a repeat simply because the liberals could not resist the opportunity to temporarily feel good about themselves by spending someone else's money.

This is a classic example of why government should NOT be "investing" in private business by subsidizing favorites. I encourage you to take every opportunity to point out the deceit and ignorance of these libs who knew they built an industry with a defective foundation.

Sincerely,
Edward J Sanaghan Jr., CEM

Message Text:

Allow me to tell you just what a "bad and irresponsible idea" is. That would be to create an industry through tax credits and illegal taxes called surcharges; knowing full well that the entire industry would collapse like a house of cards when reality catches up. That would be to create an industry doomed to failure because it had already been done in the same manner some twenty years prior. That would be to create an industry that unfairly favors the finances of the "foothills" crowd, aka donors. And beyond irresponsible is your shameless attempt to blame Republicans for YOUR negligence and the associated damage to the many Arizona citizens suffering as a consequence of your actions.
