I live on a very fixed income (small pension and Medicare) barely enough to live on and certainly not to live the retirement lifestyle I had hoped. I, like so many fellow solar users, turned to Solar as a way to stretch what little money we have. When my bill got to $349. I had to do something quickly. I am leasing my system $164, a month going up each year for 30 years plus still pay $114,00 this month to APS, Aps credits me with what they buy in excess power then turn around and reprice it upward to sell elsewhere.

I know, you are thinking it's only $5-21.00, that is one meal to 5 days of groceries for us. , What about their increase request this year, but what about the next year and the one after that. I've lived here 31 years and our Utilities cry broke all the time, well now the rest of us are broke for real.

I hope that you decide the consumers who are trying to help the environment and be good steward of this earth aren't being punished for using a free resource to alleviate the burden on the electric grid. We pay APS still and pay to Solar people we purchased our equipment, and provide product for APS and SRP to make even more money. They are not losing business from us solar people, they are gaining a clean source of electricity to resell.
