Arizona is in the national spotlight again regarding its solar policies. Despite having so much sun and so much potential for creating clean, non-polluting electricity, our state has started down a road that will lead to less solar energy production and more hurdles for those customers who want to do the right thing and help APS, all other customers (including low income customers), and the state as a whole. SRP has set a terrible example and APS is moving in that same wrongheaded direction with its proposal in this case to increase the fee charged solar customers. Luckily, the ACC can set us on the right course. Please dismiss this attempt to stifle solar and hear any arguments that APS might have (I believe there are few) in a future rate case, where all aspects of rate design and all classes, fees, and charges may be considered through evidence, rather than here. I support the ROO and oppose the APS proposal.
