Re; Docket No. E-00000J-14-0023

Dear Commissioners:

Any raise in rates to customers who help generate power would be unfair and counter-productive. First, all surplus energy produced by customer is bought by a utility at a wholesale rate, yet if the customer has to supplement his energy, the utility gets a retail rate. Second, the utility is also realizing revenue by charging a line fee and re-selling the surplus energy produced by the customer. Third, the utility companies always advertise ways to save energy--well, customers that generate energy are saving huge quantities of energy. It is hypocritical of the utility to punish only some customers that are saving energy, especially those that are saving the most! Fourth, these customers are using Arizona's most abundant resource--the sun, and therefore saving on fossil fuels and that should never be discouraged by raising rates. Please deny any rate increase.
