I was writing comment and lost it . so I am rewriting it. NTUA services my house in Querino Canyon,AZ with water and electricity. I am satisfied with their charges and services. They have been responsive to my complaints. Also like their governing structure. Their board members are appointed by the Navajo Nation Council and reflects the public interest orientation of the council. I am a customer of Windsong Water for three years. I have had nothing but negative experiences with that company in terms of delivery issues and customer services. I also believe they are engaged fraudulent business practices. I, being law school trained, don't have the time to pick a fight in court with Windsong over that issue. Suffice to say, I support the transfer of water service area to NTUA and willing to pay $500 to NTUA to hook up to their system. This is good all around especially for our property value.
