Docket # E-04204A-15-0142

Dear Chairman Little and Members of the Arizona Corporation Commission:

Since we live in a state with plenty of sun but limited resources for water and the fuels needed to create electricity, I believe it is vitally important for all Arizona entities to promote our solar. That includes the individuals and businesses who use electricity. The large utility companies that supply the current sources should act responsibly and should be promoting rather than penalizing those who install solar panels. Rather than charging higher fees, it is the duty of our public utilities to promote solar resources for electricity for our futures. The electric power utilities are allegedly providing services and are regulated to insure overall benefits to the public. Instead, they appear to be focused on making certain their executives and shareholders—especially preferred shareholders—make some money. Only fees that promote solar use for the future should be allowed. If the power companies cannot tie the increased fees to an increase in solar use, any increase in fees should be denied.
