Dear Mr. Tobin,

My husband and I are residents of Sun City and are very concerned about the proposal of Epcor to consolidate our water district with others. Most of Sun City residents are retired and on fixed incomes.

Many of us chose Sun City for our retirement due to it's relativity low cost of living. By combining us with other districts our water bills will nearly DOUBLE and it's a cost which many of us won't be able absorb.

Sun City residents have 1-2 people in a household and most of us don't have pools since there are 7 in the community for us to use. The other districts have much larger houses and typically a family including children and a swimming pool. Thus, by definition, they use MUCH more water than Sun City. People who chose to buy the larger homes were told about their water expense and chose to buy there anyway. We were also told of our water expense which was a consideration when purchasing our home.

I therefore implore you to give much thought to the SENIORS that live in the RETIREMENT community of Sun City before you decide to consolidate the water districts. I realize it might benefit Epcor, but what about the seniors who have worked hard all their lives and just want to live where we can enjoy and AFFORD our later years?

Respectfully,
Susan Seitman
