

ORIGINAL

0000182077

BEFORE THE ARIZONA CORPORATION COMMISSION

COMMISSIONERS

TOM FORESE - Chairman
BOB BURNS
DOUG LITTLE
ANDY TOBIN
BOYD DUNN

Arizona Corporation Commission

DOCKETED

AUG 15 2017

DOCKETED BY

GB

In the matter of:

CONCORDIA FINANCING COMPANY,
LTD, a/k/a "CONCORDIA FINANCE,"

ER FINANCIAL & ADVISORY SERVICES, L.L.C.,

LANCE MICHAEL BERSCH, and

DAVID JOHN WANZEK and LINDA
WANZEK, husband and wife,

Respondents.

DOCKET NO. S-20906A-14-0063

SECURITIES DIVISION'S REPLY BRIEF

The Securities Division ("Securities Division") of the Arizona Corporation Commission ("Commission") hereby submits its Reply to Respondents' Post-hearing Memoranda with respect to the administrative hearing for Concordia Financing Company, LTD, a/k/a "Concordia Finance," ER Financial & Advisory Services, L.L.C., Lance Michael Bersch, David John Wanzek and Linda Wanzek. This Reply to Respondents' Post-Hearing Memoranda is supported by the following Memorandum of Points and Authorities.

RECEIVED
AZ CORP COMMISSION
DOCKET CONTROL
2017 AUG 15 P 2:41

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9 10
11 12
13 14 15
16
17 18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. INTRODUCTION ..... 1

II. RESPONDENTS OFFERED AND SOLD SECURITIES. ..... 2

A. Concordia Admitted in its Answer that Its Servicing Agreements and Accompanying Custodial Agreements Were Investment Contracts...... 2

B. Concordia’s Servicing Agreements and Accompanying Custodial Agreements Were Investment Contracts and Securities under Howey...... 3

        1. First Element of Howey - Investment of Money. ..... 5

        2. Second Element of Howey – Common Enterprise...... 5

        3. Third Element of Howey – Expectation of Profits through the Efforts of Others..... 9

        4. The Cases Respondents Cite Are Inapposite. ..... 14

C. Concordia’s Servicing Agreements and Custodial Agreements were also Securities under Reves and MacCollum. ..... 16

D. The Promissory Notes Concordia Sold Were Securities...... 24

III.NO EXEMPTIONS FROM REGISTRATION APPLY ..... 25

A. A.R.S. § 44-1843(A)(10)’s Exemption for Notes Secured by Mortgages or Deeds of Trust on Chattel Does Not Apply...... 25

B. Concordia’s Securities Were Not Exempt from Registration Based on Regulation D or R14-4-126...... 28

        1. Concordia’s securities did not satisfy the prohibitions against general solicitation and general advertising for Rule 505, Rule 506, and R14-4-126 29

        2. Concordia did not meet the limitations on resale requirements of Rule 505, Rule 506, and R14-4-126 ..... 31

        3. Concordia’s securities did not meet the information requirements of Rule 505, Rule 506, and R14-4-126 ..... 32

        4. Respondents have failed to prove that all non-accredited Concordia investors were sophisticated as required by Rule 506 and R14-4-126 ..... 34

IV.BERSCH, WANZEK AND ER FINANCIAL COMMITTED SECURITIES FRAUD IN VIOLATION OF A.R.S. § 44-1991(A). ..... 38

1	A. “Liquid” .....	38
2	B. Failure to Disclose Commissions .....	43
3	C. Bersch and Wanzek Mised Investors by Misrepresenting They Monitored Concordia’s Financial Position. ....	47
4	D. Failure To Disclose ER Financial Was Operating As An Unlicensed Escrow Business. ....	49
5
6	V. THE LEGISLATURE HAS NOT IMPOSED A STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS AND NEITHER SHOULD THE COMMISSION. ....	52
7
8	VI. RESPONDENTS’ LACHES DEFENSE FAILS. ....	57
9
10	VII. RESPONDENTS DO NOT HAVE RIGHT TO A JURY TRIAL .....	64
11	A. Controlling Arizona Precedent Defeats Respondents’ “Right to a Jury Trial” Argument.....	64
12	B. When a Proceeding Implicates Public Rights, and the Legislature has Provided a Proper Administrative Forum for Adjudicating the Action, the Right to a Jury Trial is Inapplicable. ....	67
13	C. Respondents Rely on Inapposite Cases.....	68
14
15	VIII. THE RECORD AND THE LAW REFUTE RESPONDENTS’ FALSE ACCUSATIONS AGAINST THE DIVISION. ....	71
16
17	IX. RESPONDENTS’ MISCELLANEOUS ARGUMENTS FAIL. ....	81
18	A. The Division Fully Complied with the Applicable Discovery Standards Under the APA and the Commission’s Rules.....	81
19	B. Linda Wanzek .....	81
20	C. A Cease and Desist Order is Appropriate.....	83
21
22	X. THE COMMISSION SHOULD ORDER FULL RESTITUTION FOR THE INVESTORS AND SIGNIFICANT PENALTIES.....	84
23	A. By Concordia’s Own Admission, Respondents Owe $2.296 Million to Investors. ....	84
24	B. Reducing Respondents’ Restitution Obligations Would Undermine Investor Protection and the Public Interest.....	90
25	C. Significant Penalties Are Warranted.....	93
26

1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I. INTRODUCTION

3 Respondents committed serial violations of the Securities Act over a ten-year
4 period. They raised $26.6 million from 144 investors.<sup>1</sup> 85 of those investors were 5 “net winners,”<sup>2</sup> but they never should have been exposed to Respondents’ unlawful 6 investment contracts, which Michael Bersch, David Wanzek and ER Financial sold by 7 fraudulent means. The other 59 investors lost and are owed $2.643 million.<sup>3</sup>

8 Bersch, Wanzek and ER Financial made over $3.09 million in commissions and 9 custodial fees<sup>4</sup> for selling Concordia’s securities through multiple misrepresentations
10 and omissions of material facts.

11 From 2006, since C. Crowder took over as Concordia’s president and Concordia
12 began bleeding high six-figure and seven-figure losses, Concordia has paid him a 13 handsome six-figure salary. He was paid (or effectively paid himself) that handsome 14 six-figure salary even while he and Concordia were threatening investors that 15 Concordia would not return any more of their principal unless the investors agreed to 16 forego 55% of the balance they were owed and to release Respondents of all liability.
17 In fact, not long after Respondents did this to the investors, Crowder raised his six-18 figure salary by another 40%.

19 Respondents have no viable defenses to their serial violations of the Act. So
20 instead they falsely accuse the Division of misconduct. They have no other defense
21 options. Respondents’ plain liability, however, does not prevent them from denying 22 all responsibility. Even more disturbing, Respondents want to be commended for what 23 they have done.<sup>5</sup> The Securities Act “confirms a broad intent to sanction wrongdoing

24 <sup>1</sup> S-194 at page 3 of 3.

25 <sup>2</sup> S-194 at page 3 of 3.

<sup>3</sup> S-194 at page 3 of 3.

26 <sup>4</sup> S-194 at pages 1 and 2 of 3.

<sup>5</sup> Concordia Br. at 1:24 (“[Concordia] should be commended...”).

1 in connection with the purchase or sale of securities.” Grand v. Nacchio, 225 Ariz.
2 171, 174, ¶ 16 (2010). The Commission should exercise its broad discretion to order
3 Respondents to remedy their violations by ordering full restitution for the investor-
4 victims. The Commission should also impose significant penalties, to be paid only 5 after Respondents have made full restitution, for Respondents’ serial violations.

6
7 II. RESPONDENTS OFFERED AND SOLD SECURITIES.

8 A. Concordia Admitted in its Answer that Its Servicing Agreements
9 and Accompanying Custodial Agreements Were Investment
10 Contracts.

11 Concordia devotes several pages of its Answering Brief to arguing that its 12 Servicing Agreements and accompanying Custodial Agreements were not securities.<sup>6</sup>
13 The Commission should disregard Concordia’s arguments on this issue because in its 14 Answer, Concordia admitted that those instruments were investment contracts.

15 Paragraph 10 of the Amended Notice alleged in relevant part: “To raise capital,
16 Concordia issued ... investment contracts comprised of Sale of Contracts and Servicing 17 Agreements (“Servicing Agreements”) and accompanying Custodial Agreements.”

18 Concordia’s Amended Answer dated July 17, 2015, stated: “Concordia admits 19 the allegations in paragraph 10.” Concordia’s original Answer, dated June 8, 2015, to 20 the Amended Notice also identically stated: “Concordia admits the allegations in 21 paragraph 10.”

22 “The law is well settled that an admission in an answer is binding on the party
23 making it, and is conclusive as to the admitted fact. No evidence may be shown to 24 contradict the admitted fact, [and] a finding contrary thereto is erroneous.” Schwartz 25 v. Schwerin, 85 Ariz. 242, 249 (1959).

26

---

<sup>6</sup> See Concordia’s Br. at 13:18 to 17:19.

1 Concordia's admission is binding and conclusive against it as to the admitted
2 fact, namely that Concordia issued investment contracts comprised of Servicing
3 Agreements and accompanying Custodial Agreements. At least as to Concordia, a 4 finding that the Servicing Agreements and accompanying Custodial Agreements were 5 not investment contracts and thus securities would be erroneous. Schwartz, 85 Ariz.
6 at 249.

7
8 B. Concordia's Servicing Agreements and Accompanying Custodial 9 Agreements Were Investment Contracts and Securities under 10 Howey.

11 Despite its admission to the contrary, Concordia argues that its Servicing 12 Agreements and Custodial Agreements were not investment contracts but merely 13 "sales of debt."<sup>7</sup> Similarly, the ER Respondents describe the investments as non-14 securities in the form of "notes secured by a lien on a business or its assets."<sup>8</sup> The 15 terms "note," "secured" and "lien" do not appear anywhere in the Servicing 16 Agreements and Custodial Agreements, however.

17 Throughout their briefs, Concordia and the ER Respondents attempt to re-
18 characterize the investors as "Contract holders"<sup>9</sup> and "lenders."<sup>10</sup> Those terms,
19 however, do not appear anywhere in the Servicing Agreements and Custodial 20 Agreements. Rather, throughout the Servicing Agreements and Custodial Agreements
21 the individual entering those agreements with Concordia is called the "Investor."<sup>11</sup>
22 The same is true for the marketing materials Respondents used, which describe an

23
24 <sup>7</sup> Concordia's Br. at 13:19.

25 <sup>8</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 33:9-10 (quoting MacCollum v. Perkinson, 185 Ariz. 179, 186-87 (App. 1996)).

26 <sup>9</sup> Concordia's Br. passim.

<sup>10</sup> ER Respondents' Br. passim.

<sup>11</sup> See, e.g., S-12(a) passim; S-12(b) passim.

1 “Investment Opportunity”<sup>12</sup> in which “Concordia investors receive net 1.0% EACH
2 MONTH in interest for providing necessary capital.”<sup>13</sup> Respondents’ marketing
3 materials also compared the performance of Concordia’s investments to the Dow
4 Jones Industrial Average<sup>14</sup> and touted, “You can lock in guaranteed returns that beat
5 the 20 year stock market average rate of return...”<sup>15</sup>

6 The legislative purpose of “the securities laws [is] to regulate investments, in 7 whatever form they are made and by whatever name they are called.” Reves v. Ernst
8 & Young, 494 U.S. 56, 61 (1990). To that end, both Arizona’s Legislature and 9 Congress have enacted broad definitions of a “security,” sufficient “to encompass
10 virtually any instrument that might be sold as an investment.” Reves, 494 U.S. at 61.
11 Arizona courts “give a liberal construction to the term ‘security.’” Siporin v.
12 Carrington, 200 Ariz. 97, 101, ¶ 18 (App. 2001).

13 The definition of “security” under the Securities Act includes an investment
14 contract.<sup>16</sup> The elements of what constitutes an investment contract have been set
15 forth in S.E.C. v. W.J. Howey Co.,<sup>17</sup> adopted as law in Arizona in Rose v. Dobras.<sup>18</sup>
16 Under Howey and Rose, an investment contract will be found in “any situation where 17 (1) individuals are led to invest money (2) in a common enterprise (3) with the 18 expectation that they will earn a profit solely through the efforts of others.”<sup>19</sup> This 19 definition “embodies a flexible rather than a static principle, one that is capable of 20 adaptation to meet the countless and variable schemes devised by those who seek the 21 use of the money of others on the promise of profits.”<sup>20</sup> In applying the Howey test,

22 <sup>12</sup> S-11(e) - Brochure entitled “Concordia Finance: Investing in Transportation.”

23 <sup>13</sup> S-11(e) - Brochure entitled “Concordia Finance: Investing in Transportation” at ACC004247.

24 <sup>14</sup> S-11(e) - Brochure entitled “Concordia Finance: Investing in Transportation” at ACC004247.

25 <sup>15</sup> S-13(h) at ACC004313; S-193 at ACC015234.

26 <sup>16</sup> A.R.S. § 44-1801(26).

<sup>17</sup> S.E.C. v. W.J. Howey Co., 328 U.S. 293, 298-99 (1946).

<sup>18</sup> Rose v. Dobras, 128 Ariz. 209, 211 (App. 1981).

<sup>19</sup> Rose, 128 Ariz. at 211.

<sup>20</sup> Howey, 328 U.S. at 299.

1 courts “are mindful of the remedial purpose of the Securities Acts, as well as the 2 Supreme Court’s repeated rejection of a narrow and literal reading of the definition of 3 securities.”<sup>21</sup>

4 1. First Element of Howey - Investment of Money.

5 There is no dispute that the investors invested money by purchasing Servicing
6 Agreements and accompanying Custodial Agreements, and in certain instances,
7 Promissory Notes. There is no question that the first element of Howey is met.

8 2. Second Element of Howey – Common Enterprise.

9 “A common enterprise exists when ‘the fortunes of the investor are interwoven 10 with and dependent upon the efforts and success of those seeking the investment of 11 third parties.’”<sup>22</sup> A common enterprise will be found when either horizontal 12 commonality or vertical commonality exists.<sup>23</sup> “Horizontal commonality requires a 13 pooling of funds collectively managed by a promoter or third party,” while “[v]ertical 14 commonality requires a direct correlation between the success of the investor and the 15 success of the promoter without a pooling of funds.”<sup>24</sup>

16 a) Horizontal Commonality

17 Horizontal commonality exists because Concordia pooled investors’ funds
18 together in its Chino Bank account or the bank account it had before the Chino Bank

19 <sup>21</sup> Warfield v. Alaniz, 569 F.3d 1015, 1020 (9th Cir. 2009); Reves v. Ernst & Young, 494 U.S. 56, 60
20 (1990) (noting that, “[i]n defining the scope of the market that it wished to regulate [via the federal 21 securities laws], Congress painted with a broad brush”); Tcherepnin v. Knight, 389 U.S. 332, 336
22 (1967) (“[I]n searching for the meaning and scope of the word ‘security’ in the Act, form should be 23 disregarded for substance and the emphasis should be on economic reality.”); S.E.C. v. C.M. Joiner Leasing Corp., 320 U.S. 344, 351 (1943) (“Novel, uncommon, or irregular devices, whatever they 24 appear to be, are also reached if it be proved as matter of fact that they were widely offered or dealt in under terms or courses of dealing which established their character in commerce as ‘investment contracts,’ or as ‘any interest or instrument commonly known as a ‘security.’ ”).

25 <sup>22</sup> Vairo v. Clayden, 153 Ariz. 13, 17 (App. 1987) (quoting S.E.C. v. Glenn W. Turner Enterprises Inc., 474 F.2d 476, 482 n. 7 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 414 U.S. 821 (1973)).

26 <sup>23</sup> Vairo, 153 Ariz. at 17; Fourth Procedural Order dated 8/13/2014 at 13:20-22.

<sup>24</sup> Foy v. Thorp, 186 Ariz. 151, 158 (1996); Vairo, 153 Ariz. at 17; Daggett v. Jackie Fine Arts, Inc.,
152 Ariz. 559, 565-66 (App. 1987); Fourth Procedural Order dated 8/13/2014 at 13:22 to 14:2.

1 account.<sup>25</sup> See S.E.C. v. SG Ltd., 265 F.3d 42, 50 (9th Cir. 2001) (finding horizontal
2 commonality in part because investors' funds were pooled in a single account); S.E.C.
3 v. Deyon, 977 F. Supp. 510, 516-17 (D. Me. 1997) ("Horizontal commonality was
4 present because the investors' money was deposited into a single account ... with each
5 investor to receive 15% or 25% of the principal that he deposited. Thus, a pro rata 6 sharing of the profits was present because each investor would recover an amount in 7 proportion to the principal that he deposited."). Concordia comingled the investors'
8 monies with monies it received from other sources, such as its collections from 9 truckers, sales of repossessed trucks, and insurance claims.<sup>26</sup> Concordia held its profits
10 in its Chino Bank account and comingled those profits with the investors' funds.<sup>27</sup>
11 C. Crowder considered Concordia's Chino Bank account to be a pooled account.<sup>28</sup>
12 Concordia used those pooled funds to purchase Conditional Sales Contracts and to 13 make its interest payments to investors.<sup>29</sup>

14 If the Conditional Sales Contracts assigned to an investor were not performing,
15 Concordia paid that investor's monthly interest payments from Concordia's other
16 revenue sources.<sup>30</sup> C. Crowder testified, "If it had to come out of [Concordia's] own
17 profits, it came out of [Concordia's] own profits."<sup>31</sup>

18 In addition, each investor received 10% or 12% annual interest on the principal 19 that he or she invested with Concordia. As in S.E.C. v. Deyon, "a pro rata sharing of 20 the profits was present because each investor would recover an amount in proportion
21 to the principal that he deposited." 977 F. Supp. at 516. Likewise, each investor
22 suffered a pro rata loss of 55% of his or her principal when in December 2011

23 <sup>25</sup> Vol. I at 88:24 to 89:12 and 98:3-14.

24 <sup>26</sup> Vol. I at 96:11-23 and 98:3 to 100:1.

25 <sup>27</sup> Vol. I at 101:19 to 102:1.

26 <sup>28</sup> S-165 at 52:19-21.

<sup>29</sup> Vol. I at 79:16-18, 81:12-22 and 100:4-14; S-165 at 52:2-4.

<sup>30</sup> Vol. I at 170:24 to 171:9.

<sup>31</sup> Vol. I at 171:6-9.

1 Concordia imposed the Second Amendment.<sup>32</sup> These facts establish horizontal
2 commonality. SG Ltd., 265 F.3d at 50-51 (finding “horizontal commonality jumps off
3 the screen” because “participants’ funds were pooled in a single account” and “each
4 investor was entitled to receive returns directly proportionate to his or her investment
5 stake.”).<sup>33</sup>

6 Respondents argue, “[P]ooling is determined by what the contract says, not by 7 post-contract practices.” ER Respondents Br. at 38:17-18. That argument fails,
8 however, because the Servicing Agreements neither provide for nor prohibit 9 Concordia’s pooling of investors’ funds and its own funds. The Servicing Agreements
10 are silent on the issue of pooling, which C. Crowder testified did occur.<sup>34</sup>

11 b) Vertical Commonality

12 Vertical commonality exists because Concordia’s ability to make the promised 13 interest payments and return of principal payments to investors depended on its ability
14 to collect, on a global level, on the underlying truck loans.<sup>35</sup> C. Crowder testified:

15 Q. So am I correct that the investors’ opportunity to receive, first,
16 interest payments and, later, return of principal, depended on 17 Concordia’s ability to collect on the underlying truck financing
18 contracts?

19 A. Yes.<sup>36</sup>

20 Concordia’s ability to collect on the underlying truck loans, in turn, depended
21 in part on the quality of its credit checks for truck loan applicants.<sup>37</sup> It was important
22 for Concordia to do proper credit checks of loan applicants so as not to take on too

23 <sup>32</sup> Vol. III at 591:5-21, and 593:3-21.

24 <sup>33</sup> See also S.E.C. v. Infinity Group Company, 212 F.3d 180, 188 (3rd Cir. 2000) (finding horizontal 25 commonality where investors’ money was pooled and “the return on investment was to be 26 apportioned according to the amounts committed by the investor.”); Deyon, 977 F. Supp. at 516-17 (same).

<sup>34</sup> Vol. I at 88:24 to 89:12, 96:11-23 and 98:3 to 100:1.

<sup>35</sup> Vol. I at 116:6-23 and 117:10-15.

<sup>36</sup> Vol. I at 117:10-15.

<sup>37</sup> Vol. I at 116:24 to 117:6.

1 many borrowers who might default on their loans.<sup>38</sup> If too many borrowers defaulted
2 on their loans, as happened by 2009, Concordia could not afford to make its payments
3 to its investors.<sup>39</sup> Thus, there was a direct correlation between the success of 4 Concordia in evaluating loan applicants and collecting from borrowers, and the 5 success of the investors in receiving returns from Concordia on their investments. The 6 fortunes of the investors were linked with those of Concordia. “[W]here an investor’s
7 avoidance of loss depends on the promoter’s sound management and continued
8 solvency, a common enterprise exists.”<sup>40</sup>

9 Vertical commonality also exists where, as here, a promoter’s “interest does not 10 end upon consummation of the purchase agreement....”<sup>41</sup> Under the Servicing 11 Agreements and Custodial Agreements, Respondents earned ongoing fees. Under the 12 Servicing Agreements, the “Investor ... engages and hires Concordia as its servicing 13 agent for all servicing matters related to the Contracts....”<sup>42</sup> As its fee, Concordia
14 was “entitled to retain, during the entire term of the Contract, (a) all late payment fees,
15 (b) all NSF charges, and (c) all interest and other fees or charges in excess of that 16 amount required to pay Investor a [1.0% or 0.833%] per month return on the then 17 existing balance due under the Contracts.”<sup>43</sup> Pursuant to Section 6 of each Custodial 18 Agreement, ER Financial received monthly custodial fees.<sup>44</sup> From 2004 through 19 January 2009, ER Financial’s custodial fees totaled $2,529,337.<sup>45</sup>

20 Since Respondents’ interest did not end with the sale of a Servicing Agreement 21 and Custodial Agreement to an investor, “[T]here exists a positive correlation between

22 <sup>38</sup> Vol. I at 115:19-22.

23 <sup>39</sup> Vol. I at 115:23 to 116:2.

24 <sup>40</sup> S.E.C. v. Eurobond Exchange, Ltd., 13 F.3d 1334, 1340 (9th Cir.1994) (internal quotation and citation omitted).

25 <sup>41</sup> Daggett, 152 Ariz. at 566.

26 <sup>42</sup> See, e.g., S-12(a) at § 6.1.

<sup>43</sup> See, e.g., S-12(a) at § 6.3.

<sup>44</sup> See, e.g., S-12(b) at § 6.

<sup>45</sup> S-169.

1 the success of the investor and the success of the promoter. Hence, a common
2 enterprise does exist.”<sup>46</sup>

3
4 3. Third Element of Howey – Expectation of Profits through the 5 Efforts of Others

6 The third prong of the Howey test requires that profits be derived solely from 7 the entrepreneurial or managerial efforts of others.<sup>47</sup> The efforts of others must be
8 those which affect the failure or success of the investment.<sup>48</sup> The efforts of others need
9 not be those of the promoter, but can be that of any third party.<sup>49</sup>

10 Concordia asserts, “[T]he success depended on truck drivers paying on pledged 11 loans purchased by Concordia.”<sup>50</sup> The ER Respondents similarly assert that an 12 “investor’s recovery is determined by whether the truckers repay the specific 13 loans....”<sup>51</sup> The record evidence refutes Respondents’ argument. Respondents
14 advertised, “Concordia pays whether it collects or not.”<sup>52</sup> C. Crowder testified:

15 Q. ... Prior to the first amendment, [was] there ever a situation
16 where one investor’s contracts were performing far below
17 another’s?

18 A. There could have been, yeah.

19 Q. And was that investor with the poorer performing truck
20 contracts paid a different interest rate?

21
22 <sup>46</sup> Daggett, 152 Ariz. at 566.

23 <sup>47</sup> Daggett, 152 Ariz. at 566.

24 <sup>48</sup> Id. at 566 (citing S.E.C. v. Glenn W. Turner Enterprises, Inc. 474 F.2d 476, 482 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 414 U.S. 821 (1973)).

25 <sup>49</sup> Daggett, 152 Ariz. at 566 (“[I]t is not necessary ... that the efforts be those of the promoter.”);
Fourth Procedural Order at 17:8-9.

26 <sup>50</sup> Concordia Br. at 13:19-20.

<sup>51</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 39:21-22.

<sup>52</sup> S-110(h) at ACC011754.

1 A. No. They would have been paid whatever their sales and 2 service agreement was stated to, either the 10 or 12 percent.

3 Q. Because those interest payments weren't drawn upon the 4 success or failure of the contracts, truck contracts associated 5 with their portfolio agreement; right?

6 A. Correct.<sup>53</sup>

7 If the Conditional Sales Contracts assigned to an investor were not performing,
8 Concordia paid that investor's monthly interest payments from Concordia's other
9 revenue sources.<sup>54</sup> C. Crowder testified, "If it had to come out of [Concordia's] own
10 profits, it came out of [Concordia's] own profits."<sup>55</sup>

11 In any event, Respondents' assertions about the importance of the third party 12 truckers paying their loans only confirm that the investors were relying in the first 13 instance on the truckers' managerial skills to be able to make their loan payments.<sup>56</sup>
14 This comports with the principle that under the Howey test, "[I]t is not necessary ...
15 that the efforts be those of the promoter." Daggett, 152 Ariz. at 566.

16 Mainly, however, investors were relying on the managerial skills of Concordia
17 and the ER Respondents. Concordia held itself out as "specializ[ing] in the financial 18 needs of the commercial used truck market."<sup>57</sup> It represented that its personnel
19 included "a former bank vice president who was in charge of truck loans. He reviews
20 and approves each contract considered by Concordia and keeps on top of collections.
21 Typically, 90% of all accounts are paid at least a week ahead of the due date."<sup>58</sup>

22
23
24 <sup>53</sup> S-165 at 50:23 to 51:11.

<sup>54</sup> Vol. I at 170:24 to 171:9.

<sup>55</sup> Vol. I at 171:6-9.

<sup>56</sup> See Fourth Procedural Order at 18:4-6.

<sup>57</sup> S-11(e) at ACC004247.

<sup>58</sup> S-11(e) at ACC004248.

1 Concordia represented to investors that it “guaranteed”<sup>59</sup> they would receive their
2 monthly interest payments.

3 The ER Respondents touted Bersch’s and Wanzek’s credentials as Certified
4 Public Accountants.<sup>60</sup> The ER Respondents represented to investors that Concordia
5 reported to them<sup>61</sup> and they monitored Concordia’s financial position.<sup>62</sup> The ER
6 Respondents represented they would maintain the collateral, and review monthly
7 reports and payments to the investors.<sup>63</sup>

8 The terms of the Servicing Agreement confirm the investors’ reliance on the 9 Respondents’ managerial efforts. In Section 3.6, Concordia warranted to investors
10 that before it purchased a truck loan “from any Dealer, Concordia conducts a credit
11 check of the [truck purchaser] to determine the payment risk.”<sup>64</sup> C. Crowder testified
12 that warranting that Concordia had done credit checks was a way to assure investors 13 that although the truck loans were subprime, “there was some level of value” and “we 14 weren’t just saying yes to everything.”<sup>65</sup>

15 Under Sections 3.7 and 4.1 of the Servicing Agreement, Concordia agreed to 16 transfer and assign substitute contracts to replace those in default.<sup>66</sup>

17 Under Section 6.1, the investors agreed that Concordia would act as the 18 servicing agent responsible for “all servicing matters related to the Contracts, 19 including but not limited to sending monthly invoices to Customers for payment, the 20 collection of payments, correspondence and telephone communication with any 21 Customer in default, imposition and collection of late payment fees and NSF check

22 _____
23 <sup>59</sup> S-11(e) at ACC004247.

<sup>60</sup> See S-2(e); S-2(f); S-11(f); S-110(g) at ACC011753; S-110(h) at ACC011755.

<sup>61</sup> S-11(f) (“CONCORDIA REPORTS TO ER FINANCIAL”).

<sup>62</sup> S-2(f) (“As in the past, we will continue to monitor the financial condition of Concordia.”).

<sup>63</sup> S-2(e); S-11(f); S-13(g).

<sup>64</sup> E.g., S-12a at § 3.6.

<sup>65</sup> Vol. I at 114:21 to 115:5.

<sup>66</sup> E.g., S-12a at §§ 3.7 and 4.1.

1 charges, initiation at Concordia's sole discretion of all collection decisions, actions
2 and activities, including repossession, retention of attorneys or collection agents,
3 making repairs to damaged vehicles, reselling repossessed vehicles and all other
4 matters and decisions relating to the Contracts and the vehicles covered by the 5 Contracts, as if in all respects Concordia remained the owner of the Contracts and had 6 sole authority with respect to the collection and disposition of the Contracts."<sup>67</sup>

7 Section 8 of the Servicing Agreement required the Investor to acknowledge "the 8 importance of utilizing an experienced servicing agent" to service the truckers' 9 Conditional Sales Contracts and for that reason "the servicing fees to be paid to 10 Concordia ... are fair and reasonable."<sup>68</sup> C. Crowder admitted that Section 8 reflects
11 that the investor was relying on Concordia's efforts and experience as a servicing agent
12 to collect the amounts due on the truck loans.<sup>69</sup>

13 Under Section 12.1, the investors granted Concordia "an irrevocable power of 14 attorney, coupled with an interest, authorizing and permitting Concordia ... at any 15 time, at Concordia's option, with or without notice to Investor ... to do any and all
16 things Concordia deems necessary and proper to carry out the purpose(s) of this 17 Agreement."<sup>70</sup> C. Crowder testified that through this power of attorney provision, the 18 investors delegated to Concordia all responsibility to service the underlying 19 Conditional Sales Contracts.<sup>71</sup>

20 Concordia argues that its payment of interest to investors does not qualify as an 21 expectation of profits under the Howey test because, according to Concordia, "a static 22 interest payment is not 'profit' directly tied to the success of the business."<sup>72</sup>

---

23
24 <sup>67</sup> E.g., S-12a at § 6.1.

25 <sup>68</sup> E.g., S-12a at § 8.

26 <sup>69</sup> Vol. I at 151:17 to 152:1.

<sup>70</sup> E.g., S-12a at § 12.1(g).

<sup>71</sup> Vol. I at 152:22 to 153:1.

<sup>72</sup> Concordia Br. at 16:10-11.

1 Concordia’s argument is in conflict with directly applicable precedents from the U.S.
2 Supreme Court, the federal Courts of Appeal, and the U.S. District Court for Arizona.

3 In S.E.C. v. Edwards,<sup>73</sup> the Supreme Court was tasked with deciding “whether 4 a moneymaking scheme is excluded from the term ‘investment contract’ simply 5 because the scheme offered a contractual entitlement to a fixed, rather than variable,
6 return.” Edwards, 540 U.S. at 391. The Court unanimously held that “an investment
7 scheme promising a fixed rate of return can be an ‘investment contract’ and thus a
8 ‘security’ subject to federal securities laws.” Id. at 397. The Court rejected the same
9 argument Concordia advances here because “unscrupulous marketers of investments
10 could evade the securities laws by picking a rate of return to promise.” Id. at 394–95.
11 The Court observed that “investments pitched as low-risk (such as those offering a 12 ‘guaranteed’ fixed return) are particularly attractive to individuals more vulnerable to 13 investment fraud, including older and less sophisticated investors.” Id. at 394.

14 The Third and Ninth Circuit Courts of Appeal and the U.S. District Court for 15 Arizona have all rejected the same argument Concordia advances here. S.E.C. v.
16 Infinity Group Co., 212 F.3d 180, 189 (3rd Cir. 2000) (“[T]he definition of security 17 does not turn on whether the investor receives a variable or fixed rate of return.”);
18 Warfield v. Alaniz, 569 F.3d 1015, 1024 (9th Cir. 2009) (“After Edwards, it is clear 19 that fixed periodic payments of the sort promised in the present case may constitute 20 ‘profits’ for purposes of the Howey test.”), affirming 453 F. Supp.2d 1118, 1123 (D.
21 Ariz. 2006) (“Despite the Defendants’ assertions to the contrary, there is no reason to 22 distinguish between promises of fixed returns and promises of variable returns for 23 purposes of the test.”) (Internal quotation omitted). Applying Edwards, Infinity Group
24 and Warfield, the Commission should reject Concordia’s argument.

25
26

---

<sup>73</sup> S.E.C. v. Edwards, 540 U.S. 389, 394-96 (2004).

4. The Cases Respondents Cite Are Inapposite.

1 The cases Respondents cite are distinguishable from the facts of this case.
2 Several cases they cite involved commercial loans or loan participations made by
3 banks or savings and loans.<sup>74</sup> In contrast, the transactions at issue here involved
4 individual investors with no experience making commercial truck loans.<sup>75</sup> The 5 Commission has previously found cases primarily involving transactions between two 6 or more commercial banks to be distinguishable and unpersuasive in addressing
7 investments by individual investors.<sup>76</sup> The Commission should do the same here
8 because unlike sophisticated commercial banks, individual investors need the 9 protections of securities laws.

10 Respondents' reliance on Foy v. Thorp<sup>77</sup> is misplaced for three reasons. First, 11 in Foy, the real estate transaction "involved no pooling of [the investor's] funds with 12 those of [the defendant] or other investors" so "there [was] no horizontal 13

14
15
16 <sup>74</sup> First Citizens Fed. Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Worthen Bank & Trust Co., 919 F.2d 510, 512 (9th Cir.
17 1990) ("First Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Association ('First Citizens'), Worthen Bank and 18 Trust Company ('Worthen'), and 20 other savings and loan institutions entered into a loan
19 participation agreement ('Agreement') in connection with a real estate development."); *Union Nat'l
20 Bank of Little Rock v. Farmers Bank*, 786 F.2d 881, 885 (8th Cir. 1986) ("This case involves a 21 transaction between two banks related to participation in a note."); *Kansas State Bank in Holton v.
22 Citizens Bank of Windsor*, 737 F.2d 1490, 1495 (8th Cir. 1984) (a bank's purchase of a loan
23 participation certificate from another bank was not a security); United American Bank v. Gunter, 620 24 F.2d 1108, 1118 (5th Cir. 1981) (bank's participation in another bank's fully collateralized loan was 25 not a security, but "a routine commercial financing agreement between two banks."); Great Western 26 Bank & Trust v. Kotz, 532 F.2d 1252, 1260 (9th Cir. 1976) (note of a corporation given to a bank in exchange for a 10-month renewable line of credit was not a security); In re Epic Mortgage Insurance Litigation, 701 F. Supp. 1192, 1247 (E.D. Va. 1988) (defendants sold certificates of participation in mortgage loan pools to "sophisticated, federally regulated lending institutions."), rev'd on other grounds by Foremost Guar. Corp. v. Meritor Sav. Bank, 910 F.2d 118 (4th Cir. 1990).

<sup>75</sup> Vol. II at 213:13-21 [Luhr]; Vol. II at 278:24 to 279:1 [LeMay]; Vol. III at 501:9-17 [Dennison];
Vol. IV at 710:9-17 [Patricola].

<sup>76</sup> See In the Matter of Radical Bunny, LLC, Arizona Corporation Commission Decision No. 73768, 2013 WL 1209432 at *156 (3/21/2013) (distinguishing and not following Gunter and Kansas State Bank).

<sup>77</sup> Foy v. Thorp, 186 Ariz. 151 (App. 1996).

1 commonality.”<sup>78</sup> In contrast, here Concordia pooled investors’ funds together and with
2 its own funds in the Chino Bank account.<sup>79</sup>

3 Second, in Foy, vertical commonality did not exist “because there [was] no
4 direct correlation between the success of [the investor] and that of [the defendant].”<sup>80</sup>
5 Here, however, there was a direct correlation between the success of Concordia in 6 evaluating loan applicants and collecting from borrowers, and the success of the 7 investors in receiving returns from Concordia on their investments.

8 Third, in Foy, “If at any time, [the investor] became dissatisfied with her choice 9 of property managers [i.e. the defendant], she had the power to fire that manager and 10 hire a replacement. The purchase of Broadriver Plaza was not inextricably linked to 11 the management contract.”<sup>81</sup>

12 In contrast, Section 6.3 of the Servicing Agreement provided that Concordia’s
13 appointment as the servicing agent was “irrevocable” unless (1) Concordia defaulted
14 and failed to cure, or (2) Concordia consented to modify its appointment as the 15 servicing agent, “which consent may be withheld by Concordia for any reason 16 whatsoever without regard to any standard of reasonableness.”<sup>82</sup> Thus, absent a 17 default or Concordia’s consent, which it did not have to give, an investor was obligated 18 to use Concordia as the servicing agent.<sup>83</sup> Further, Section 8 expressly required that 19 “Concordia be retained as the servicing agent during the entire term of the 20 Contracts....”<sup>84</sup> Unlike the real estate that was purchased in Foy, the assigned truck
21 loans were inextricably linked to Concordia’s engagement as the servicing agent.

---

22 <sup>78</sup> Foy, 186 Ariz. at 158.

23 <sup>79</sup> Vol. I at 96:11-23 and 98:3 to 100:1; S-163 [K. Crowder EUO] at 79:1-13; S-165 at 52:19-21; S-24 180 at 27:16 to 28:4, and 43:3-12.

25 <sup>80</sup> Foy, 186 Ariz. at 158.

26 <sup>81</sup> Foy, 186 at 158.

<sup>82</sup> E.g. S-12a at § 6.3.

<sup>83</sup> E.g. S-12a at § 6.3; Vol. I at 135:10 to 136:1.

<sup>84</sup> E.g. S-12a at § 8.

1 Concordia argues that investors “were at all times at liberty to withdraw [from 2 the Servicing Agreements] ... [and] manage their dedicated truck loans.”<sup>85</sup> In support
3 of that argument, Concordia quotes C. Crowder’s inaccurate testimony that 4 “Concordia could not stop them from doing that.”<sup>86</sup> But Sections 6.3 and 8 of the 5 Servicing Agreements expressly empowered Concordia to prevent investors from 6 withdrawing and collecting on their own absent a default by Concordia or its consent, 7 which it reserved the right to refuse “without regard to any standard of 8 reasonableness.”<sup>87</sup> Mr. Crowder’s testimony on this issue, and Concordia’s argument,
9 should be rejected because they are contrary to the plain terms of the Servicing
10 Agreements. Most likely because the Servicing Agreements expressly prevented 11 investors from withdrawing and collecting on their own absent a default or consent,
12 no investor ever asked to do so.<sup>88</sup>

13
14 C. Concordia’s Servicing Agreements and Custodial Agreements were 15 also Securities under Reves and MacCollum.

16 Respondents argue that the Howey test should not apply and instead the 17 Commission should analyze the Servicing Agreements and Custodial Agreements 18 using the “family resemblance” test articulated in Reves v. Ernst & Young<sup>89</sup> for 19 whether a “note” is a security. Respondents’ argument rests on their assertion, “The 20 Concordia truck loan contracts are fully secured by a title lien on the big rig trucks.”<sup>90</sup>

21 There are several problems and inaccuracies with Respondents’ assertion. First,
22 the use of the term “Concordia truck loan contracts” conflates Concordia’s Servicing
23

24 <sup>85</sup> Concordia Br. at 15:17-18.

<sup>86</sup> Vol. I at 104:15-16.

25 <sup>87</sup> E.g. S-12a at § 6.3.

<sup>88</sup> Vol. I at 124:23 to 125:3.

26 <sup>89</sup> Reves v. Ernst & Young, 494 U.S. 56 (1990).

<sup>90</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 33:10-11.

1 Agreements with the underlying truck loan contracts (the conditional sales contracts).
2 But they were distinct agreements. The truck loan contracts were between Concordia
3 and the truckers. The Servicing Agreements were between Concordia and the 4 investors. The truckers were not parties to the Servicing Agreements, and the investors
5 were not parties to the truck loans. Conflating the Servicing Agreements with the 6 truck loan contracts is Respondents' attempt to obscure that investors invested because 7 Concordia, not the truckers, guaranteed it would pay them 10% or 12% annual 8 interest.<sup>91</sup>

9 To the extent that Respondents assert that the Servicing Agreements were "fully 10 secured"<sup>92</sup> by title liens, and "at the time of sale, there was 100% collateral,"<sup>93</sup> those 11 assertions are contrary to the evidence. Ken Crowder testified in his EUO that 12 sometimes Concordia did not have enough truck loans to assign so as to cover an 13 investor's entire investment:

14 Q. If I invest $100,000 with Concordia, what is done with that 15 money?

16 A. He signed a sales and service agreement, acknowledges the 17 $100,000. And then Concordia goes through its inventory of 18 contracts and comes as close as possible to 100,000 and 19 assigns those to the investor.

20 Q. This inventory, are they contracts that have already been 21 purchased by Concordia?

22 A. Correct. If there is a shortfall, then it is noted as cash waiting 23 for investment.

24
25 <sup>91</sup> See, e.g., S-110(h) (advertising, "Concordia pays whether it collects or not."); S-11(e) (advertising, "Concordia: 12% Guaranteed.").

26 <sup>92</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 33:10-11.

<sup>93</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 35:20-21.

1 Q. And what was done with that shortfall?

2 A. It was kept as a record until it could be replaced with a 3 contract.<sup>94</sup>

4 Thus, because there were “shortfalls,” there was not 100% collateral and investors
5 were not fully secured.

6 Investors were also not fully secured because the vehicle title liens were never 7 in their names:

8 Q. So were the trucks then titled in the investor’s name?

9 A. It’s a long explanation.... The titles were – Concordia
10 was placed as the lienholder in order to maintain collection
11 ability on it. The titles were signed on the back so that the 12 customer, the investor, could then go down to their custodian, 13 take all his titles, take them down to DMV, put them in their 14 name, and they could start collecting....<sup>95</sup>

15 Thus, the vehicle title liens were in Concordia’s name. Concordia was secured.
16 The investor, while potentially able to become the lienholder, never actually was 17 secured.

18 Reves’ “family resemblance” test was adopted as law in Arizona in MacCollum
19 v. Perkinson<sup>96</sup> to determine whether a note is a security for the purposes of the 20 antifraud provisions of the Securities Act. The test begins with the presumption that 21 every note is a security.<sup>97</sup> This presumption may be rebutted only if Respondents show
22 that the note bears a strong resemblance, determined by examining four specified factors,
23 to one of a judicially-crafted list of instruments that are not securities, or if those factors

24
25 <sup>94</sup> S-163 at 75:11-25.

<sup>95</sup> S-180 at 29:17 to 30:4.

26 <sup>96</sup> MacCollum v. Perkinson, 185 Ariz. 179 (App. 1996).

<sup>97</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 65.

1 establish a new category of instrument that should be added to the list.<sup>98</sup> This list of
2 notes “that are not securities includes ... the short-term note secured by a lien on a 3 small business or some of its assets....”<sup>99</sup>

4 Respondents assert that the Concordia investments were “notes secured by a 5 lien on a business or its assets.” ER Answering Br. at 33:9-10 (quoting MacCollum,
6 185 Ariz. at 186-87). In referencing “notes secured by a lien on a business or its assets”
7 as an example of non-securities, MacCollum was quoting from a footnote in State v.
8 Tober, 173 Ariz. 211, 212 n.3 (1990). Tober in turn was paraphrasing Reves, 494 U.S.
9 at 65.

10 As recited above, the actual quote from Reves as to an example of a note that is 11 not a security is a “short-term note secured by a lien on a small business or some of 12 its assets.” 494 U.S. at 65 (emphasis added). Even if Concordia’s investments are 13 considered to be notes, they were not short-term notes. The underlying truck loans
14 were of a three-year term.<sup>100</sup> The Servicing Agreements went on indefinitely until 15 Concordia imposed the First Amendment in 2009. Thus, Respondents’ argument that 16 Concordia’s investments were not securities fails because the investments do not fit
17 the “short-term note” exception from Reves.

18 In addition, none of Reves’ four factors militates in favor of finding the 19 investments to be non-securities. The first Reves factor assesses the motivations of the 20 buyer and seller to enter into the transaction at issue. If the seller’s purpose is to raise 21 money for the general use of a business enterprise or to finance substantial 22 investments, and the buyer is interested primarily in the profit the note is expected to 23 generate, the instrument is likely to be a security.<sup>101</sup>

24 <sup>98</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 65. Since both inquiries involve application of the same four-factor test, they 25 “essentially collapse into a single inquiry.” S.E.C. v. Wallenbrock, 313 F.3d 532, 537 (9th Cir. 2002).

26 <sup>99</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 65.

<sup>100</sup> S-110(g) at ACC011750; S-193 at ACC015216.

<sup>101</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 66-67.

1 Concordia was in the business of purchasing truck loans from used big rig dealers
2 and collecting the payments.<sup>102</sup> Concordia sought capital from investors to purchase
3 more truck loans and service them.<sup>103</sup> Investors wanted to generate a stream of income
4 and profit.<sup>104</sup> This first factor weighs heavily in favor of finding Concordia's
5 investments to be securities.

6 Respondents assert, "[T]he proceeds were not used for Concordia's general
7 business purposes, but to fund specific loans to truckers."<sup>105</sup> That assertion is contrary
8 to the evidence. C. Crowder testified that Concordia used the investors' principal to 9 operate its business, purchase additional loans and pay its overhead.<sup>106</sup>

10 Further, contrary to Respondents' assertion, an investor's money was not used
11 to fund specific loans to truckers. Rather, Concordia assigned truck loans to investors
12 from Concordia's existing inventory of such loans.<sup>107</sup> Kenneth Crowder testified:

13 Q. The investor invests 100,000 with Concordia.... [D]oes
14 Concordia then take that 100,000 and go to the dealer and say,
15 "I want to buy some contracts that get me as close to 100,000
16 as possible"?

17 A. No.

18 Q. Those contracts are already in Concordia's portfolio?

19 A. Correct.<sup>108</sup>

21 <sup>102</sup> Amended Notice at ¶ 10 and Concordia's Answer dated 7/17/2015 at ¶ 10; S-11(e); Vol. I at 70:8-20.

22 <sup>103</sup> Amended Notice at ¶ 10 and Concordia's Answer dated 7/17/2015 at ¶ 10; S-163 at 26:20-27:5; 23 S-11(e).

24 <sup>104</sup> Vol. II at 214:3-5 [Luhr]; Vol. II at 279:17 to 280:1 [LeMay]; Vol. III at 453:18 to 454:1 [Hatch];
25 Vol. III at 501:25 to 502:7 [Dennison]; Vol. IV at 710:22 to 711:7 [Patricola].

26 <sup>105</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 34:5-6.

<sup>106</sup> S-165 at 71:2-11; Vol. I at 158:25 to 159:9

<sup>107</sup> S-163 at 75:11-20 and 80:8-18; S-110(h) ("Concordia Finance buys conditional sales contracts.
These are then packaged and sold to the investor under a Sales and Service Agreement.").

<sup>108</sup> S-163 at 80:8-18.

1 Thus, Concordia had already fully funded the truck loans before an investor invested.

2 The second Reves factor examines the plan of distribution to determine if the 3 “note” is an instrument in which there is “common trading for speculation or 4 investment.”<sup>109</sup> “Offering and selling to a broad segment of the public is all that is 5 required to establish the requisite ‘common trading’ in an instrument.”<sup>110</sup> “If notes are 6 sold to a wide range of unsophisticated people, as opposed to a handful of institutional
7 investors, the notes are more likely to be securities.” S.E.C. v. Zada, 787 F.3d 375,
8 381 (6th Cir. 2015) (finding notes were securities when defendant sold them “to about 9 60 people in two states.”). However, the number of investors is not dispositive, but 10 must be weighed against the purchasers’ need for the protection of the securities
11 laws.<sup>111</sup> Courts find common trading when individuals, as opposed to financial 12 institutions, were solicited.<sup>112</sup>

13 Here, Respondents sold 132 investments comprised of a Servicing Agreement
14 and an accompanying Custodial Agreement.<sup>113</sup> The sales were to individual investors, 15 not sophisticated financial institutions. Most investors resided in Arizona, but twenty 16 investors had addresses in Colorado, Hawaii, North Carolina, California, Oregon,
17 Washington, Georgia, Arkansas, New Mexico or Texas.<sup>114</sup> The investors included a 18 retired deputy sheriff,<sup>115</sup> a retired respiratory therapist,<sup>116</sup> a retired firefighter,<sup>117</sup> and a 19

20 <sup>109</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 68-69.

21 <sup>110</sup> MacCollum, 185 Ariz. at 187 (quoting Reves, 494 U.S. at 68 and citing Landreth Timber Co. v.
Landreth, 471 U.S. 681, 694 (1985) (stock of closely held corporation not traded on any exchange held to be a security)).

22 <sup>111</sup> McNabb v. S.E.C., 298 F.3d 1126, 1132 (9th Cir. 2002).

23 <sup>112</sup> Stoiber v. S.E.C., 161 F.3d 745, 751 (D.C. Cir. 1998); S.E.C. v. Global Telecom Services, L.L.C., 325 F. Supp. 2d 94 (D. Conn. 2004) (the plan of distribution factor was met where notes were sold 24 to five individuals).

25 <sup>113</sup> See Stipulation for Admission of Certain Securities Division Exhibits.

26 <sup>114</sup> Stipulation No. 2, filed 12/9/2017.

<sup>115</sup> Vol. II at 201:14-17 [Luhr].

<sup>116</sup> Vol. II at 265:16-17 [LeMay].

<sup>117</sup> Vol. III at 444:23-25 [Hatch].

1 retired mechanical salesman.<sup>118</sup> The protections of securities laws would have
2 benefitted the investors in this case.<sup>119</sup> As a result, the second Reves factor supports
3 finding that the Servicing Agreements and Custodial Agreements are securities.

4 The third Reves factor examines the reasonable expectations of the investing
5 public.<sup>120</sup> This factor, which is “closely related” to the first factor,<sup>121</sup> accounts for 6 “whether a reasonable member of the investing public would consider these notes as 7 investments.”<sup>122</sup> Respondents promoted Concordia’s Servicing Agreements and 8 Custodial Agreements as investments. For example, Respondents distributed a 9 brochure titled “Concordia Finance: Investing in Transportation,” which described the 10 “Investment Opportunity,”<sup>123</sup> not a commercial loan. Respondents’ marketing
11 materials also compared the performance of Concordia’s investments to the Dow
12 Jones Industrial Average<sup>124</sup> and touted, “You can lock in guaranteed returns that beat 13 the 20 year stock market average rate of return....”<sup>125</sup> The Servicing Agreements and 14 Custodial Agreements defined the individual entering those agreements with 15 Concordia as the “Investor.”<sup>126</sup>

16 When promoters characterize instruments as “investments” it is “reasonable for 17 a prospective purchaser to take [the promoters] at [their] word.”<sup>127</sup> The third Reves
18 factor strongly supports finding that the Servicing Agreements and Custodial 19 Agreements are securities.

20 _____
<sup>118</sup> Vol. III at 496:8-10 [Dennison].

21 <sup>119</sup> See In the Matter of Shadow Beverages, Arizona Corporation Commission Decision No. 76155
dated 6/22/2017, 2017 WL 2797400 at *28.

22 <sup>120</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 68.

23 <sup>121</sup> S.E.C v. J.T. Wallenbrock & Associates, 313 F.3d 532, 539 (9th Cir. 2002).

24 <sup>122</sup> McNabb, 298 F.3d at 1132.

25 <sup>123</sup> S-11(e); S-13(f); S-110(e); S-189.

26 <sup>124</sup> S-11(e); S-13(f); S-110(e); S-189. See also S-193 at ACC015231 (comparing returns on Concordia’s Servicing Agreements to the stock market).

<sup>125</sup> S-13(h) at ACC004313; S-193 at ACC015234.

<sup>126</sup> See, e.g., S-12(a) passim; S-12(b) passim.

<sup>127</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 69.

1           The fourth and final factor is whether there are risk-reducing factors that would
2 diminish the need for protection under the Securities Act, such as the presence of other
3 regulatory schemes or collateral.<sup>128</sup> There was no regulatory scheme that would 4 significantly reduce the risk of Concordia's investments and thereby render the 5 application of the securities laws unnecessary.

6           Respondents argue that investors' risk was reduced because the title liens on the 7 big rig trucks served as collateral, and because of the substitute contract provision in 8 Section 3.7 of the Servicing Agreements. As detailed above, however, the vehicle title
9 liens were in Concordia's name, not the investors'.<sup>129</sup> Concordia was collateralized, 10 but the investors never actually were.

11           Moreover, the title liens and the substitute contract provision did nothing to 12 protect the investors when Concordia eliminated their interest payments and later
13 wrote off 55% of the investors' principal. Indeed, in November 2010, Concordia
14 instructed ER Financial to return the vehicle titles to it, notwithstanding that Section 15 4.3 of the Servicing Agreement prohibited ER Financial from doing so without the 16 investors' written authorization, which it did not have.<sup>130</sup> Wanzek sent the titles back
17 to Concordia anyway.<sup>131</sup> At that point, the investors' purported collateral was gone.<sup>132</sup>
18 Accordingly, neither the title liens nor the substitute contract provision can be seen as 19 alleviating the need for protection under the Act.<sup>133</sup>

21
22 <sup>128</sup> Reves, 494 U.S. at 67; see also McNabb, 298 F.3d at 1132-33 (“[T]his factor weighs in favor of 23 finding that the promissory notes at issue in this case were actually securities because without such 24 a classification there is the potential that the lender may be left open to significant risk.”).

25 <sup>129</sup> S-180 at 29:17 to 30:4.

26 <sup>130</sup> Vol. III at 600:12-15.

<sup>131</sup> S-161 at ¶ 4.

<sup>132</sup> Vol. IX at 1697:2-8.

<sup>133</sup> See In the Matter of Shadow Beverages, Arizona Corporation Commission Decision No. 76155
dated 6/22/2017, 2017 WL 2797400 at *30 (respondent's personal guaranties did little to protect the purchasers from default or to enforce repayment).

1 If, as Respondents argue, Concordia’s investments should be considered notes,
2 under Arizona law they are presumed to be securities. Applying the family
3 resemblances test under Reves, the investments do not resemble instruments on the 4 Reves list, and the evidence does not establish that they should be added to that list.
5 Accordingly, the Commission should find that the Servicing Agreements and 6 Custodial Agreements Respondents sold are subject to the antifraud provisions of the 7 Act.

8 D. The Promissory Notes Concordia Sold Were Securities.
9

10 The ER Respondents’ argument that Concordia’s investments were not
11 securities but instead “notes secured by a lien”<sup>134</sup> does not apply to the seven (7)
12 Promissory Notes Concordia sold.<sup>135</sup> Those Promissory Notes do not reference any 13 lien or collateral.<sup>136</sup> Nothing secured them.

14 The Division’s Opening Brief explained why Concordia’s Promissory Notes
15 were securities under Arizona law for registration purposes.<sup>137</sup> Notes are included
16 within the statutory definition of a security and the Arizona Supreme Court has held 17 that notes are therefore subject to registration requirements unless exempted by 18 statute.<sup>138</sup>
19 20

21 _____
<sup>134</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 33:9-10.

22 <sup>135</sup> The Division does not allege that the ER Respondents offered or sold Concordia’s Promissory
23 Notes or that the ER Respondents have any liability for them. Concordia is solely liable for its sales of the seven Promissory Notes.

24 <sup>136</sup> See S-35(e) [Edmonds Note for $42,000 dated 2/28/2007]; S-35(f) [Edmonds Note for $208,000
25 dated 1/10/2007]; S-87(e) [Santy Note dated 9/16/2002]; S-103(a) [Guest Note dated 11/6/2006 for $225,000]; S-105(a) [Kollars Two Year Note dated 11/6/2006 for $53,109]; S-115e [Ferris-Spence
Note dated 3/7/2001 for $200,000]; and S-115f [Ferris-Spence Note dated 5/7/2005 for $200,000].

26 <sup>137</sup> See Division’s Opening Br. at 55:16 to 56:18.

<sup>138</sup> State v. Tober, 173 Ariz. 211, 213 (1992).

1 In its Answering Brief, Concordia did not respond to or otherwise address the
2 Division's argument. "Failure to respond in an answering brief to a debatable issue
3 constitutes confession of error." Chalpin v. Synder, 220 Ariz. 413, 423, ¶ 40 n.7 (App.
4 2008); Hecla Min. Co. v. Indus. Comm'n, 119 Ariz. 313, 314 (App. 1978) (same).
5 Thus, Concordia has effectively conceded that the Promissory Notes it sold were 6 securities under Arizona law.

7 Moreover, Concordia presented no evidence at the hearing that any exemption
8 would apply to its Notes. Accordingly, the Notes are securities for purposes of the 9 registration provisions of the Securities Act.

10
11 III. NO EXEMPTIONS FROM REGISTRATION APPLY

12 A. A.R.S. § 44-1843(A)(10)'s Exemption for Notes Secured by 13 Mortgages or Deeds of Trust on Chattel Does Not Apply.

14 It is the Respondents' burden to prove any exemption from registration. A.R.S. §
15 44-2033. Because of the vital public policies underlying the Act's registration 16 requirements, all exemption requirements must be strictly complied with. State v.
17 Baumann, 125 Ariz. 404, 411 (1980) ("[T]he statutes requiring registration of 18 securities and dealers are designed to make the possibility of fraud even more 19 remote.").

20 A.R.S. § 44-1843(A)(10) exempts from the Securities Act's registration
21 requirements "Notes ... secured by a mortgage or deed of trust on ... chattels, or a 22 contract or agreement for the sale of ... chattels, if the entire mortgage, contract or 23 agreement together with all notes ... secured thereby is sold or offered for sale as a 24 unit." Respondents argue this exemption applies to what they call "Concordia's truck
25 loan contracts."<sup>139</sup> Respondents are wrong for several reasons.

26
<sup>139</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 43:3.

1 First, as explained above, Respondents' use of the term "Concordia's truck loan
2 contracts" improperly conflates Concordia's Servicing Agreements with the 3 underlying truck loan contracts. They were not the same.

4 Second, the Servicing Agreements did not contain the words "note," "chattel," 5 "secured", "mortgage" or "deed of trust." Rather, the Servicing Agreements used the 6 term "Investor" throughout. Respondents' marketing materials described an 7 "Investment Opportunity"<sup>140</sup> and compared and contrasted the projected investment
8 returns to the Dow Jones Industrial Average<sup>141</sup> and stock market.<sup>142</sup> At the hearing, 9 no investor testified that he or she thought they were buying notes secured by 10 mortgages or deeds of trust on chattel.

11 Respondents inaccurately assert, "Here, each [Servicing Agreement] applied to 12 specific truck loans, each with a fully secured title loan [sic]."<sup>143</sup> Both parts of that 13 statement are unsupported by the evidence. The "Exhibit A"s to all of the Servicing 14 Agreements, which were supposed to list the assigned truck loans, are blank.
15 Respondents did not introduce, and do not point to, any evidence of which truck loans
16 were assigned under any of the Servicing Agreements.

17 The evidence also contradicts Respondents' assertion that each Servicing
18 Agreement was fully secured. As noted above, Ken Crowder testified in his EUO
19 that sometimes Concordia did not have enough truck loans to assign so as to cover an 20 investor's entire investment, so there were "shortfalls."<sup>144</sup> Thus, the Servicing 21 Agreements were not always fully secured.

22
23
24 <sup>140</sup> S-11(e) - Brochure entitled "Concordia Finance: Investing in Transportation."

25 <sup>141</sup> S-11(e) - Brochure entitled "Concordia Finance: Investing in Transportation" at ACC004247.

26 <sup>142</sup> S-13(h) at ACC004313; S-193 at ACC015234.

<sup>143</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 43:18-19. Presumably Respondents intended "lien" and not "loan."

<sup>144</sup> S-163 at 75:11-25.

1           Moreover, under the Servicing Agreements, the vehicle title liens were in 2 Concordia's name, not the investor's name.<sup>145</sup> The investor, while potentially able to
3 become the lienholder, never actually was secured. This fact distinguishes this case
4 from Blute v. Terrazas,<sup>146</sup> which Respondents cite. In that case, the note purchaser
5 received a security interest in inventory.<sup>147</sup> Here, the investors never actually were 6 secured because the vehicle title liens were in Concordia's name.

7           Finally, Concordia's Servicing Agreements were not "sold or offered for sale as 8 a unit"<sup>148</sup> with the underlying truck loans. Rather, the truck loans were not assigned
9 until after an investor had already purchased the Servicing Agreement. Ken Crowder
10 testified in his EUO regarding the timing of the investor's investment and the 11 assignment of the truck loans:

12           Q.    If I invest $100,000 with Concordia, what is done with that 13 money?

14           A.    He signed a sales and service agreement, acknowledges the 15 $100,000. And then Concordia goes through its inventory of 16 contracts and comes as close as possible to 100,000 and 17 assigns those to the investor.<sup>149</sup>

18 If Concordia did not have enough truck loans to assign to cover the entire amount an 19 investor invested through a Servicing Agreement, Concordia noted the shortfall "as 20 cash waiting for investment"<sup>150</sup> and kept a record of it until it could assign another
21 truck loan to cover the shortfall.<sup>151</sup>

22 _____
23 <sup>145</sup> Vol. I at 103:1-11; S-180 at 29:17 to 30:4.

24 <sup>146</sup> Blute v. Terrazas, 166 Ariz. 111 (App. 1990).

25 <sup>147</sup> Blute, 166 Ariz. at 112 ("The notes issued to Dr. Blute were secured by a financing statement in inventory.").

26 <sup>148</sup> A.R.S. § 44-1843(A)(10).

<sup>149</sup> S-163 at 75:11-17.

<sup>150</sup> S-163 at 75:20-21.

<sup>151</sup> S-163 at 75:22-24.

1 Similarly, C. Crowder testified the truck loans were not assigned until after an
2 investor had already invested:

3 Q. Okay. So Investor Joe Schmoe sends his money in, and 4 Concordia selects which truck titles and truck financing
5 contracts are going to be pledged to that investor's account,
6 correct?

7 A. Correct. But –

8 Q. And the investor doesn't have – the investor didn't have any 9 input as to what contracts were assigned to his portfolio?

10 A. No.<sup>152</sup>

11 Thus, Concordia's Servicing Agreements were not "sold or offered for sale as a 12 unit"<sup>153</sup> with the underlying truck loans. The exemption from registration in A.R.S. §
13 44-1843(A)(10) does not apply.

14 B. Concordia's Securities Were Not Exempt from Registration Based 15 on Regulation D or R14-4-126.

16
17 Respondents have failed to prove that Concordia's securities were exempt from 18 registration pursuant to Regulation D, Rule 505<sup>154</sup> ("Rule 505"), Regulation D, Rule
19 506<sup>155</sup> ("Rule 506"), or A.A.C. R14-4-126 because they have failed to prove several 20 requirements that are shared by some or all of the relevant exemptions.
21
22
23

24 <sup>152</sup> S-180 at 40:10-18.

25 <sup>153</sup> A.R.S. § 44-1843(A)(10).

26 <sup>154</sup> 17 C.F.R. § 230.505

<sup>155</sup> All references to Rule 506 refer to 17 C.F.R. § 230.506(b) because 17 C.F.R. § 230.506(c) was not in effect until July 24, 2013, after the relevant timeframe. See 78 FR 44770.

1                   1. Concordia’s securities did not satisfy the prohibitions against
2                   general solicitation and general advertising for Rule 505, Rule
3                   506, and R14-4-126

4                   Respondents have not proven that Concordia’s securities were sold without any
5                   general solicitation or general advertising. One of the general conditions of Rule 505,
6                   Rule 506, and A.A.C. R14-4-126 is that the securities may not be offered or sold by 7                   any form of general solicitation or general advertising by the issuer or anyone acting
8                   on its behalf. 17 C.F.R. § 230.502(c); A.A.C. R14-4-126(C)(3).

9                   “One of the benchmarks of a general solicitation is contacting potential 10                  investors with no previous relationship to the issuer or persons promoting the 11                  offering.” Thomas Lee Hazen, 1 The Law of Securities Regulation § 4:77 (May 2017 12                  Update). Advertisements and other generally directed offers to sell clearly constitute 13                  a general solicitation. Id. Similarly, contacting a wide variety of potential purchasers
14                  without regard to their wealth or investment sophistication will be a general
15                  solicitation. Id.

16                  Substantial evidence demonstrates that Respondents used general solicitation
17                  and general advertising to offer and sell Concordia’s investments. For example, 18                  Concordia’s “Investing In Transportation” brochure advertised that Concordia “Has 19                  Contracts Available for Purchase Now,” without any restrictions as to which investors
20                  from the general public were eligible to invest. S-11(e); S-13(f); S-110(e); S-189.
21                  Accordingly, Concordia’s “Investing In Transportation” brochure was a general
22                  solicitation.

23                  Another advertising flyer titled “Fixed Base Income at 12% - Guaranteed!”
24                  described one way in which Bersch and Concordia advertised the investment to a wide
25                  variety of potential purchasers without regard to their wealth or investment
26                  sophistication:

1
2 Michael Bersch, CPA, is a club member and also on the board of 3 Concordia Finance. He saw the "FELLOW CLUB MEMBERS:
4 SHOW US WHAT YOU'VE GOT!" request in our newsletter and 5 contacted Stephen Seal. As a result, Concordia Finance was an 6 exhibitor at the December meeting in Palm Springs and many of our 7 oxford club members expressed interest and wanted to know more
8 about this opportunity.<sup>156</sup>

9 The flyer continued: "Concordia invites interested investors to contact them for more
10 information.... Investor relations is handled by the office in Lake Havasu City, 11 Arizona. You may wish to contact either Michael Bersch, CPA or David Wanzek, 12 CPA...." S-110(h) at ACC011755. See also S-110(g), which is another 13 advertisement inviting "interested investors" to contact Concordia without regard to 14 the potential investors' wealth or sophistication.

15 There is no evidence that these advertisements were intended to or did reach 16 only potential investors who had a pre-existing relationship with Concordia. Wanzek 17 testified that some people contacted him and invested without having any prior 18 relationship with him.<sup>157</sup>

19 No one at Concordia ever requested to review the marketing materials and sales
20 pitches Bersch, Wanzek or ER Financial were using.<sup>158</sup> Concordia did not supervise
21 the marketing of its investments by Bersch, Wanzek or ER Financial.<sup>159</sup> Neither C.
22 Crowder nor anyone else at Concordia ever asked Bersch, Wanzek or ER Financial 23 what they were telling investors.<sup>160</sup> C. Crowder did not have any interest in knowing
24 what Bersch, Wanzek and ER Financial were telling investors.<sup>161</sup>

25 <sup>156</sup> S-110(h) at ACC011754.

26 <sup>157</sup> Vol. IX at 1602:12-20.

<sup>158</sup> Vol. I at 93:17-21.

<sup>159</sup> Vol. I at 129:1-12.

<sup>160</sup> Vol. I at 93:22-25.

<sup>161</sup> Vol. I at 94:15-18 and 130:8-10.

1 Concordia did not do anything to determine if an investor had the financial
2 wherewithal to invest.<sup>162</sup> Concordia did not receive any questionnaires or other
3 materials to determine whether an investor was an accredited investor.<sup>163</sup>

4 Respondents engaged in general advertising and solicitation. See In the Matter
5 of Prendergast, Complaint No. C3A960033, 1999 WL 1022140 at *20 (N.A.S.D.R.
6 7/8/1999) (“Here, the advertisement invited the general public to attend Prism’s
7 seminar to learn how to invest in hedge funds. There is no evidence that the 8 advertisement was intended to or did reach only potential investors who had a pre-
9 existing relationship with Prism. Accordingly, we find that Prism’s advertisement 10 constitutes a ‘general solicitation.’”).

11
12 2. Concordia did not meet the limitations on resale requirements of Rule 505, Rule 506, and R14-4-126

13 Respondents have not proven that Concordia took the necessary steps to 14 prevent resale of its securities. Rule 505, Rule 506, and A.A.C. R14-4-126 all require 15 that an issuer exercise reasonable care to assure that its securities are not purchased by 16 underwriters. 17 C.F.R. § 230.502(d); R14-4-126(C)(4). Respondents have not argued 17 that Concordia took such reasonable care, and, in fact, it did not. There are three non-18 exclusive ways to demonstrate reasonable care: 1) reasonable inquiry about whether 19 investors are buying the securities for others instead of for themselves, 2) written 20 disclosure to investors that the securities cannot be resold without registration or an 21 exemption, and 3) placing a legend on the securities stating that they are not registered
22 and referring to limits on transferability of the securities. 17 C.F.R. § 230.502(d)(1), 23 (2), (3); A.A.C. R14-4-126(C)(4)(a), (b), (c). There is no evidence that Concordia took 24 any of these steps, nor any similar steps.

25
26 <sup>162</sup> Vol. I at 96:24 to 97:2.

<sup>163</sup> Vol. I at 97:3-9.

1 On the contrary, Concordia's Servicing Agreements expressly contemplated
2 that investors could resell the securities to others.<sup>164</sup> By failing to use reasonable care
3 to limit resale of the securities, Respondents have failed to prove that these exemptions
4 apply.

5
6 3. Concordia's securities did not meet the information
7 requirements of Rule 505, Rule 506, and R14-4-126

8 Respondents have not proven that the non-accredited investors in Concordia's
9 securities received required financial information before investing. Rule 505, Rule 10 506, and R14-4-126 require that all non-accredited investors receive financial 11 information about the issuer before investing. 17 C.F.R. § 230.502(b)(2)(i)(B); A.A.C.
12 R14-4-126(C)(2)(b).

13 Seeking to avoid the exemption's information requirements, Respondents' 14 analysis parses out the investments over ten years to minimize the sales as being on 15 average "about $2.56 million per year."<sup>165</sup> The investments, however, were part of an 16 integrated offering by Concordia. See 17 C.F.R. § 230.502(a); A.A.C. R14-4-
17 126(C)(1)(c). The factors to be considered in determining whether offers and sales
18 should be integrated for purposes of the exemptions under Regulation D and A.A.C.
19 R14-4-126 are:

20 (a) Whether the sales are part of a single plan of financing;

21
22
23 (b) Whether the sales involve issuance of the same class of securities;

24
25
26 <sup>164</sup> See, e.g., S-12a at Section 7.

<sup>165</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 45:3-4.

1
2 (c) Whether the sales have been made at or about the same time;

3
4
5 (d) Whether the same type of consideration is being received; and

6
7
8 (e) Whether the sales are made for the same general purpose.<sup>166</sup>

9
10 Except for the third factor, each of these factors demonstrates an integrated 11 offering by Concordia. Concordia sold its investment contracts as part of a single 12 plan of financing. The sales involved issuance of the same class of securities, namely 13 investment contracts comprised of Servicing Agreements and Custodial 14 Agreements.<sup>167</sup> All of Concordia's Servicing Agreements and Custodial Agreements
15 were substantially identical to each other except for the name of the investor, the amount
16 of the investment, the date and the interest rate, which was either 10% or 12%
17 annually.<sup>168</sup> Concordia received the same type of consideration, cash, from investors
18 via checks or wire transfers.<sup>169</sup> The sales were made for the same general purpose:
19 for Concordia to purchase additional truck loans, pay its overhead and operate its 20 business.<sup>170</sup>

21 Because Concordia's securities offering was over $7.5 million, Concordia was 22 required to provide all non-accredited investors with the financial statements that 23 would be required in a registration statement, namely, a balance sheet and a profit and 24 <sup>166</sup> 17 C.F.R. § 230.502(a); A.A.C. R14-4-126(C)(1)(c).

25 <sup>167</sup> Amended Notice at ¶ 10 and Concordia's Answer dated 7/17/2015 at ¶ 10; Vol. I at 77:9-23.

26 <sup>168</sup> Vol. X at 1908:17 to 1909:4; Vol. I at 147:4-7.

<sup>169</sup> Vol. I at 96:11-16.

<sup>170</sup> S-165 at 71:2-11; Vol. I at 158:25 to 159:9

1 loss statement, both certified by an independent CPA or public accountant. 17 C.F.R.
2 § 230.502(b)(2)(i)(B)(3); R14-4-126(C)(2)(b)(iv)<sup>171</sup>. See 15 U.S.C. § 77aa(25), (26).
3 There is no evidence that all, or any, of Concordia's non-accredited investors received
4 such documents as required by these exemptions.

5
6 4. Respondents have failed to prove that all non-accredited
7 Concordia investors were sophisticated as required by Rule
8 506 and R14-4-126

9 Respondents have not proven that each Concordia investor was either an 10 accredited investor or a sufficiently sophisticated investor. Rule 506 and the 11 corresponding provision of R14-4-126 require that each investor who is not an 12 accredited investor have "such knowledge and experience in financial and business
13 matters that he is capable of evaluating the merits and risks of the prospective
14 investment," or that the issuer reasonably believes that to be true. 17 C.F.R. §
15 230.506(b)(2)(ii); R14-4-126(F)(2)(b).

16 Respondents cannot prove that Concordia met this requirement for each non-17 accredited investor for two reasons. First, there is no evidence that Concordia did 18 anything to determine an investor's sophistication. Concordia did not receive any 19 questionnaires or other materials regarding an investor's qualifications.<sup>172</sup> Because it
20 did nothing to determine investors' sophistication, Concordia could not have 21 reasonably believed all its non-accredited investors were sophisticated.

22 Second, Respondents do not even claim to know who all of the non-accredited 23 investors are. Respondents speculate, "[I]t is more likely than not that no more than 24 35 non-accredited investors purchased the truck loan contracts."<sup>173</sup> This effectively

25 <sup>171</sup> This provision was numbered R14-4-126(C)(2)(b)(i)(2)(c) prior to September 28, 1999.

26 <sup>172</sup> See Vol. I at 97:3-9 (Concordia did not receive any questionnaires or other materials to determine whether an investor was an accredited investor).

<sup>173</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 45:8-9.

1 concedes that the Respondents cannot prove exactly how many non-accredited
2 Concordia investors there are, which means they cannot prove the identity and 3 sophistication of each non-accredited investor to meet the requirement. See Johnston
4 v. Bumba, 764 F. Supp. 1263, 1276 (N.D. Ill. 1991) (issuer failed to prove investors'
5 sophistication where issuer presented evidence as to some, but not all, investors).

6 Even among the non-accredited investors that Respondents do identify, not all
7 of them were sufficiently sophisticated to be capable of evaluating the merits and risks
8 of the Concordia investment, as required by Rule 506 and R14-4-126. For example, 9 Gerald Hoffort, despite having some business knowledge and experience, was not able 10 to correctly evaluate the liquidity risks of his Concordia investment. Mr. Hoffort 11 testified that his understanding was that Concordia would repay his investment at any 12 time if he asked, but, in fact, Concordia was under no obligation to repay Mr. Hoffort's 13 investment upon demand and was not even required to repay him by a fixed maturity
14 date.<sup>174</sup>

15 Investor Wesley Luhr also lacked the knowledge and experience in financial 16 and business matters needed to evaluate the merits and risks of his Concordia
17 investment. Before investing, Mr. Luhr had no experience with any business like 18 Concordia.<sup>175</sup> He had some investing experience but was not very successful at it, and 19 he invested in Concordia based on his trust in Bersch.<sup>176</sup> Mr. Luhr understood
20 generally that higher interest rates indicate higher risks.<sup>177</sup> However, he did not have 21 enough investment experience to understand that the 10% interest rate on his 22 Concordia investment indicated a high degree of risk, and he instead mistakenly 23 believed that his investment involved "very, very little risk."<sup>178</sup> Mr. Luhr also

24 <sup>174</sup> Vol. XI at 2091:25 to 2092:7; S-152a

25 <sup>175</sup> Vol. II at 212:17-20

26 <sup>176</sup> Vol. II at 212:7-15

<sup>177</sup> Vol. II at 236:23-25

<sup>178</sup> Vol. II at 208:23 to 209:5

1 mistakenly believed that his Concordia investment was “very liquid” and that he could
2 get his principal back at any time.<sup>179</sup>

3
4 C. The Non-Public Offering Exemption Does Not Apply to 5 Respondents’ Sales of Concordia’s Investment Contracts.

6 Nor were any of Respondents’ securities sales exempt as “transactions by an 7 issuer not involving any public offering” (“Non-Public Offering”) pursuant to the Act.
8 See A.R.S. § 44-1844(A)(1). Although there is no Arizona authority on the meaning
9 of A.R.S. § 44-1844(A)(1), it is identical to Section 4(a)(2) of the federal Securities
10 Act of 1933. See 15 U.S.C. § 77d(a)(2). Therefore authorities on Section 4(a)(2)
11 should be used as an interpretive guide for the Non-Public Offering provision of the 12 Act. See Laws 1996, Ch. 197, § 11(C) (Legislature intends that court interpretations 13 of substantially similar federal securities provisions be used as interpretive guide for 14 the Act).

15 The federal Non-Public Offering provision only exempts offerings in which the 16 offerees can “fend for themselves” and do not need the protection of a securities
17 registration statute, such as the executive officers of the issuer. See S.E.C. v. Ralston
18 Purina Co., 346 U.S. 119, 125-26 (1953). “A court may only conclude that the 19 investors do not need the protection of the [Securities Act of 1933] if all of the offerees
20 have relationships with the issuer affording them access to or the disclosure of the sort
21 of information about the issuer that registration reveals.” S.E.C. v. Murphy, 626 F.2d
22 633, 647 (9th Cir. 1980). The information required is “quite extensive.” Id. at 645.
23 The test for the federal Non-Public Offering exemption is based on, 1) the number of

24
25
26

---

<sup>179</sup> Vol. II at 205:8–14

1 offerees, 2) the sophistication of the offerees,<sup>180</sup> 3) the size and manner of the offering,
2 and 4) the relationship of the offerees to the issuer. Id. at 644–645.

3 In the present case, however, it is not necessary to analyze these factors because 4 Respondents cannot prove that the Non-Public Offering exemption applies based on the 5 hearing record. “The party claiming the exemption must show that it is met not only
6 with respect to each purchaser, but also with respect to each offeree.” Murphy, 626 F.2d
7 at 645. This proof “must be ‘explicit, exact and not built on conclusory statements’” of 8 Respondents. Bumba, 764 F. Supp. at 1273 (quoting S.E.C. v. Continental Tobacco
9 Co., 463 F.2d 137, 156 (5th Cir. 1972)). Therefore “... the exact number and identity
10 of all offerees must be produced.” Western Fed. Corp. v. Erickson, 739 F.2d 1439, 1442
11 (9th Cir. 1984).

12 The hearing record does not establish the identity of all of Concordia’s offerees or 13 even the number of offerees. There is no evidence in the record about the identity or 14 sophistication of each offeree or their relationship to Concordia.

15 Because they have not proved the exact number, identity and sophistication of all
16 of the offerees, Respondents have failed to prove the Non-Public Offering exemption
17 applies. See Western Fed. Corp., 739 F.2d at 1442 (private offering exemption did not 18 apply because investment promoters failed to prove the exact number and identity of all 19 offerees); Murphy, 626 F.2d at 645 (without introducing evidence on the number of 20 offerees, defendant could not establish private offering exemption); Bumba, 764 F. Supp.
21 at 1279 (holding that private offering exemption did not apply because court “simply did 22 not learn enough about the entire class of purchasers and offerees so as to conclude that 23 they did not need the protections of the Act.”).

24
25
26 <sup>180</sup> Sophistication is a factor, but it is “not a substitute for ‘access to the kind of information which registration would disclose.’” U.S. v. Custer Channel Wing Corp., 376 F.2d 675, 678 (4th Cir. 1967) (quoting Ralston Purina, 346 U.S. at 127).

1 IV. BERSCH, WANZEK AND ER FINANCIAL COMMITTED
2 SECURITIES FRAUD IN VIOLATION OF A.R.S. § 44-1991(A).

3 The ER Respondents are correct that the Division has withdrawn its theories
4 that Bersch, Wanzek and ER Financial violated § 44-1991(A) by misrepresenting that 5 they were Concordia's "investor relations office" and that a third-party insurer had 6 approved the sale of Concordia's investments. In addition, although the ER
7 Respondents' argument is not well taken, in order to reduce the issues on which these 8 Respondents will inevitably appeal, the Division will agree to withdraw its assertion 9 that they also committed fraud by: (i) misrepresenting to investors that the investments
10 offered "low risk" and "safety of principal"; and (ii) failing to disclose Concordia's 11 losses and rapidly deteriorating financial condition to Mrs. Patricola before she 12 invested $150,000 in 2008.

13 That being said, Bersch, Wanzek and ER Financial made over $3.09 million in 14 commissions and custodial fees<sup>181</sup> for selling Concordia's securities through multiple 15 misrepresentations and omissions of material facts.

16
17 A. "Liquid"

18 Bersch and Wanzek sold Concordia's securities by misrepresenting that the 19 investor's investment in Concordia would be liquid and/or the investor could get his 20 or her money out.<sup>182</sup> For example, presentations Respondents gave investors 21 represented:

- 22 • "Servicing Agreements provide safety of principal and 100% liquidity in 23 the event of emergency need;" and

24 <sup>181</sup> S-194 at pages 1 and 2 of 3.

25 <sup>182</sup> Luhr - Vol. II at 205:8-14; LeMay - Vol. II at 419:20 to 420:19; Hatch - Vol. III at 448:17 to 26 449:9; Dennison - Vol. III at 498:11-20; Patricola - Vol. IV at 707:12-17 and 763:21-24; Fuhrman -
Vol. VII at 1350:15 to 1351:3; Hospice - Vol. VII at 1351:17 to 1352:1; Pike - S-13h at ACC004312;
S-193 at ACC015233.

- “Higher guaranteed yield to offset inflation, safety of principal backed by collateral and 100% liquidity has made Concordia Servicing Agreements the preferred fixed income investment for many of our clients.”<sup>183</sup>

Specifically, Bersch sold Concordia’s securities to the following investors by misrepresenting their investment would be liquid and/or the investor could get his or her money out if necessary:

Investor	Transcript and/or Exhibit	Servicing Agreement	Custodial Agreement	Date
Luhr	Vol. II at 205:8-14 (“it was very liquid”).	S-11a	S-11b	5/11/2004
LeMay	Vol. II at 419:20 to 420:19.	S-2a	S-2b	4/30/2002
Dennison	Vol. III at 498:11-20.	S-17a	S-17b	3/30/2000
Patricola	Vol. IV at 707:12-17 and 763:21-24	S-18a	S-18b	4/1/2008 and 11/6/2008 (S-190 at ACC004727)
Fuhrman	Vol. VII at 1340:16-20; S-193 at ACC015233	S-110a	S-110b	11/25/2005
Hospice of	Vol. VII at	S-111a	S-111b	12/1/2005

<sup>183</sup> S-13(h) at ACC004312 and S-193 at ACC015233 (emphases added).

Havasu	1340:21 to 1341:13
--------	-----------------------	--	--	--

Wanzek sold Concordia's securities to the following investors by misrepresenting their investment would be liquid and/or the investor could get his or her money out if necessary:

Investor	Transcript	Servicing Agreement	Custodial Agreement	Date
Hatch	Vol. III at 448:17 to 449:9 ("it was, you know, basically liquid")	S-108a	S-108b	12/1/2005
McCowan	Vol. VII at 1350:15 to 1351:3.	S-88a	S-88b	11/1/2002
Martin	Vol. VII at 1351:17 to S-1352:1	S-54a	S-54b	2/17/2004
Roth	Vol. VII at 1352:8-14	S-57a	S-57b	3/6/2004
Bronsart	Vol. VII at 1353:3-10.	S-50a	S-50b	9/1/2004
Peters	Vol. VII at 1354:14-19; Vol. XII at 2300:18-25.	S-109a	S-109b	12/5/2005

1           Bersch's and Wanzek's misrepresentations regarding "100% liquidity" and the
2 ability of investors to get their money out were false when they made them, as C.
3 Crowder's EUO testimony confirms. At his first EUO, C. Crowder testified:

4           Q.     ... Through 2007, could an investor come to Concordia and 5                 withdraw 100 percent of their investment principal?

6           A.     Efforts would be made, you know to do that. But it wasn't --
7                 - if she'd asked me March 1st, I couldn't necessarily --- I may 8                 not be able to, you know, do that on March 1st. What she 9                 could do is go to her custodian, take the contracts and the 10                titles, and she could perfect them in her own name and then 11                start collecting on those....<sup>184</sup>

12           The California attorney representing C. Crowder at that EUO, Steven Gourley, 13 then interjected: "I think what's not being said here, and please let [the Division's
14 counsel] know if it is otherwise, this is clearly not a liquid investment."<sup>185</sup> C. Crowder
15 answered, "No."<sup>186</sup>

16           The EUO continued with respect to the illiquid nature of the investments:

17           Q.     And you did not intend it to be a liquid investment.

18           A.     No.

19           Q.     Because you needed the principal to do your business:
20                 Purchase truck contracts?

21           A.     Right.

22           Q.     Service these agreements?

23           A.     Right.

24           Q.     Pay for overhead?

25           

---

<sup>184</sup> S-165 at 70:3-12.

26           <sup>185</sup> S-165 at 70:21-23.

<sup>186</sup> S-165 at 70:24.

1 A. Right.<sup>187</sup>

2
3 In his second EUO, C. Crowder testified that Bersch and Wanzek knew
4 Concordia's investments were not liquid:

5 Q.: Mr. Crowder, in your testimony in California in 2013, do you
6 recall being asked about the liquidity of the investments in the 7 sale of contracts and servicing agreements by my predecessor,
8 Mr. Womack? Do you recall, in particular, testifying that they 9 were not liquid; they were never intended to be liquid?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Did Mr. Bersch -- do you know whether Mr. Bersch knew that 12 the investments in Concordia were not liquid?

13 A. He understood the process that I told you; that the investors 14 could take and perfect their titles and collect them on their 15 own, and that was it.

16 Q. The same question with respect to Mr. Wanzek. Did Mr.
17 Wanzek understand that the investments were not liquid, in 18 the sense that an investor couldn't call up and say, "Hey, I've 19 got an emergency. I need my $100,000 back"?

20 A. Yes, and it's the same answer that I gave for Mr. Bersch. They 21 understood that it was -- they could perfect those, those titles,
22 and take. That's the only thing they definitely could do.

23 Q. And it would be up to the investor to perfect the title and to--

24 A. Start collecting.

25
26

---

<sup>187</sup> S-165 at 71:2-11.

1 Q. And start collecting from the trucker, or if the trucker went
2 into default, to repo the truck and then sell it on the secondary
3 market, right?

4 A. Correct.

5 Q. And you wouldn't characterize that process for the investor to 6 recoup their money as liquid, would you?

7 A. No.<sup>188</sup>

8 Section 7.1 of the Servicing Agreements provides additional evidence of the 9 illiquid nature of investments. Section 7.1 restricted the investor's ability to liquidate
10 the investment by selling or assigning the assigned truck loans to a third party.<sup>189</sup> An 11 investor who needed cash and wanted to sell or assign the loans to a third party had to 12 first offer to sell them back to Concordia for only 95% of the then existing principal
13 balance due under the loans, and give Concordia 90 days to accept or reject the offer.<sup>190</sup>

14 Thus, Bersch and Wanzek knowingly misrepresented to investors that 15 Concordia's investments offered "100% liquidity," when that was untrue. With 16 respect to each investor identified above, Bersch, Wanzek and ER Financial violated
17 § 44-1991(A).

18
19 B. Failure to Disclose Commissions

20 In selling the Concordia investments to at least five investors – Wesley Luhr,<sup>191</sup>
21 Suellen LeMay,<sup>192</sup> Stephen Dennison,<sup>193</sup> Theresa Patricola<sup>194</sup> and Kathy Hodel<sup>195</sup> --

22
23 <sup>188</sup> S-180 at 70:15 to 71:22.

<sup>189</sup> See, e.g., S-12a at § 7.1.

<sup>190</sup> See, e.g., S-12a at § 7.1.

<sup>191</sup> Vol. II at 207:6-25 and 247:2-20.

<sup>192</sup> Vol. II at 272:22 to 273:4.

<sup>193</sup> Vol. III at 499:13 to 500:1.

<sup>194</sup> Vol. IV at 708:11-13.

<sup>195</sup> Vol. VI at 951:13-15.

1 Bersch failed to disclose that Concordia would pay him or ER Financial a commission
2 if they invested. Similarly, Wanzek did not disclose to Mr. Hatch that Concordia
3 would pay him or ER Financial a commission if Mr. Hatch invested.<sup>196</sup>

4 Bersch and Wanzek had a duty to disclose the commissions Concordia would 5 pay them for recruiting these investors. Bersch was the CPA for Mr. Luhr,<sup>197</sup> Ms.
6 LeMay,<sup>198</sup> Mr. Dennison,<sup>199</sup> and Mr. and Mrs. Hodel.<sup>200</sup> Wanzek was Mr. Hatch's
7 CPA.<sup>201</sup> "As a matter of public policy, attorneys, accountants, and other professionals
8 owe special duties to their clients...." Barmat v. John and Jane Doe Partners A-D, 9 155 Ariz. 519, 523 (1993).

10 Arizona law governing accountants imposes an affirmative duty on a CPA to 11 disclose in writing that he will receive a commission for recommending a product or 12 service, like Concordia's investments. A.A.C. R4-1-455(B)(2)(e) requires a CPA who 13 will receive a commission to make a written disclosure "to any person or entity to 14 which the certified public accountant, public accountant, or firm recommends or refers 15 a product or service to which the commission relates."<sup>202</sup> This regulation demonstrates 16 both the duty to disclose and the materiality of the commissions.

17 The duty to disclose financial self-interest in recommending investments is not 18 unique to CPAs. "When recommending a security to a customer, a salesman has a 19 duty to disclose material adverse facts of which he is aware such as economic self-
20 interest because such facts could influence the salesman's recommendation."<sup>203</sup>
21 Investors "must be permitted to evaluate overlapping motivations through appropriate

22 <sup>196</sup> Vol. III at 451:10-13.

23 <sup>197</sup> Vol. II at 202:4-10, and 204:1-4.

24 <sup>198</sup> Vol. II at 266:6-21.

25 <sup>199</sup> Vol. III at 497:2-14.

26 <sup>200</sup> Vol. VI at 944:9-12.

<sup>201</sup> Vol. III at 452:5-6.

<sup>202</sup> A.A.C. R4-1-455(B)(2)(e)

<sup>203</sup> In re McGee, Exchange Act Release No. 80314, 2017 WL 1132115, at *7 (Mar. 37, 2017); In re Scholander, Exchange Act Release No. 34-77492, 2016 WL 1255596, at *5 (Mar. 31, 2016).

1 disclosures, especially where one motivation is economic self-interest.” Chasins v.
2 Smith, Barney & Co., 438 F.2d 1167, 1172 (2d Cir. 1970) (citing SEC v. Capital Gains
3 Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 196 (1963)). It was incumbent on Bersch and 4 Wanzek to disclose that they would receive commissions so that the investors could 5 evaluate the extent to which their recommendations of Concordia’s investments were 6 based on the fact that they would receive commissions versus the purported benefits
7 of the investments themselves.

8 As to the materiality of the omissions, under the basic test of materiality -- 9 whether there is a substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would have 10 considered the fact important in making an investment decision<sup>204</sup> -- the commissions
11 were a material fact in the context of Bersch’s and Wanzek’s affirmative
12 recommendations that their CPA clients buy Concordia’s investments. There is a 13 substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would have considered Concordia’s
14 substantial commission payments - $565,424 between 2004 and 2008 alone --
15 important to an evaluation of Bersch’s and Wanzek’s recommendation to buy the 16 investments, and, ultimately, to an investment decision. At a minimum, the 17 commissions from Concordia had the potential to influence Bersch’s and Wanzek’s
18 recommendation of its investments. Bersch’s and Wanzek’s undisclosed commissions
19 cast doubt on the sincerity of their recommendations.

20 The failure to disclose the payment of commissions “constitutes a violation of 21 the antifraud provisions, since such a payment, especially to persons who have a 22 fiduciary relationship with the purchaser, is a material fact that the purchaser will want
23 to consider.”<sup>205</sup> See In re McGee, Exchange Act Release No. 80314, 2017 WL

24 <sup>204</sup> Hirsch v. Arizona Corp. Comm’n, 237 Ariz. 456, 463, ¶ 27 (App. 2015).

25 <sup>205</sup> Joseph C. Long et al., 12 Blue Sky Law § 7:105 n. 3 (2016 Update) (citing DuPont v. Brady, 646 26 F. Supp. 1067, 1072 (S.D.N.Y. 1986) (failure to disclose commission paid by issuer to attorney upon investment by his client in a security was a material omission), rev’d on other grounds, 828 F.2d 75 (2d Cir. 1987)).

1 1132115, at *6 (Mar. 37, 2017) (“McGee violated Exchange Act Section 10(b) and
2 Exchange Act Rule 10b-5 because his compensation from [the issuer] was a material
3 fact that he had a duty to disclose.”); In re Scholander, Exchange Act Release No. 34-
4 77492, 2016 WL 1255596, at *5 (Mar. 31, 2016) (affirming order barring salesmen
5 from associating with FINRA member firms in any capacity; “The failure to disclose
6 the $350,000 payment is, on its own, sufficient to support FINRA’s finding of fraud.”);
7 In re DuBois, Exchange Act Release No. 48332, 2003 WL 21946858, at *3 8 (8/13/2003) (finding antifraud violations where a broker recommended securities but 9 failed to disclose that he was being compensated by the promoter of the stock).

10 The ER Respondents falsely assert that the $565,424 Concordia paid them were 11 not commissions or finder’s fees, but “was for filling out paperwork.”<sup>206</sup> Ken 12 Crowder’s EUO testimony exposes the falsity of that assertion. He testified:

13 Q. ... What were those finder’s fees paid for?

14 A. The first time a new investor was brought in, or if that 15 investor, portfolio investor added additional significant,
16 significant amounts of money, the finder’s fee was paid for 17 the person, to the person who brought them to the company.<sup>207</sup>

18 Thus, Concordia did not pay the ER Respondents $565,424 “for filling out
19 paperwork.”<sup>208</sup> Concordia paid them to recruit new investors and raise more money
20 for Concordia to use.<sup>209</sup>

21 Finally, the ER Respondents cite two federal court cases<sup>210</sup> to argue they had no
22 duty to disclose their commissions. Neither case involved a situation like this one

23
24 <sup>206</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 54:19-20.

<sup>207</sup> S-163 at 42:24 to 43:5.

<sup>208</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 54:19-20.

<sup>209</sup> S-163 at 42:24 to 43:5.

<sup>210</sup> U.S. v. Skelly, 442 F.3d 94 (2d Cir. 2006) (affirming convictions for securities fraud); S.E.C. v. Mapp, 2016 WL 5870576 (E.D. Tex. 2016).

1 where state law imposed an affirmative duty on the defendants to disclose
2 commissions, as A.A.C. R4-1-455(B)(2)(e) does for CPAs.

3 In any event, Arizona courts “will not defer to federal case law when, by doing
4 so, we would be taking a position inconsistent with the policies embraced by our own
5 legislature.” Siporin v. Carrington, 200 Ariz. 97, 103, ¶ 28 (App. 2001). “We will 6 depart from those federal decisions that do not advance the Arizona policy of 7 protecting the public from unscrupulous investment promoters.” Id. at 103, ¶ 28. The 8 two federal court cases the ER Respondents cite on the failure to disclose commissions 9 for recommending an investment “do not advance the Arizona policy of protecting the 10 public from unscrupulous investment promoters.” Id. at 103, ¶ 28. The Commission 11 should reject them.

12
13 C. Bersch and Wanzek Mised Investors by Misrepresenting They 14 Monitored Concordia’s Financial Position.

15 In soliciting further investments, Bersch and Wanzek represented to at least two 16 investors, Mr. Dennison and Ms. LeMay, that they monitored Concordia’s financial 17 position for the investors.<sup>211</sup> In a form letter addressed to “Our Portfolio Investors,” 18 in which Bersch and Wanzek sought “additional funds to invest,”<sup>212</sup> they wrote: “As 19 in the past, we will also monitor the financial position of Concordia.”<sup>213</sup>

20 Bersch testified, however, that he does not recall receiving any financial 21 information about Concordia.<sup>214</sup> Therefore, Bersch could not have been monitoring
22 Concordia’s financial position.

23
24
25 <sup>211</sup> Vol. III at 510:13-19; S-2f; S-17e; see also S-2h.

26 <sup>212</sup> S-2f; S-17e.

<sup>213</sup> S-2f; S-17e.

<sup>214</sup> Vol. X at 1903:9-11 and 1904:9-14.

1 Wanzek testified that he did not always receive Concordia's financial 2 statements.<sup>215</sup> Because Wanzek was not consistently receiving Concordia's financial
3 statements, it was misleading for him to represent that he was he was monitoring
4 Concordia's financial position.

5 The ER Respondents assert that this fraud theory was not alleged in the 6 Amended Notice of Opportunity and the Division only raised it for the first time in its 7 Opening Brief, which is true. The reason for that, however, is that the hearing
8 presented the first opportunity the Division had to determine whether or not Bersch or 9 Wanzek monitored Concordia's financial position as they represented they did.
10 Throughout his EUO, Bersch asserted his privilege against self-incrimination, so the 11 Division could not ask him about whether he monitored Concordia's financial position
12 until Bersch testified at the hearing.

13 Similarly, the Division attempted to take an EUO of Wanzek, but he refused to 14 appear. See Objection to Subpoenas filed 3/27/2015. So the Division could not ask 15 Wanzek if he monitored Concordia's financial position until Wanzek testified at the 16 hearing.

17 The Amended Notice provided ample notice that the Division alleged Bersch or 18 Wanzek violated A.R.S. 44-1991(A) in multiple ways. Only at the hearing did the 19 Division learn that Bersch's and Wanzek's written representations to investors that 20 they monitored Concordia's financial position were untrue. Thus, the Division could 21 not have alleged this fraud theory before the hearing.

22 Bersch and Wanzek should not get free passes for this fraud violation based on 23 Bersch's invocation of his privilege against self-incrimination at his EUO and 24 Wanzek's refusal to appear for an EUO. Giving Bersch and Wanzek free passes for 25 this fraud violation would be contrary to the Legislature's directive that the Securities 26

---

<sup>215</sup> Vol. IX at 1637:25 to 1638:3, and 1639:13 to 1640:16.

1 Act “shall be liberally construed as a remedial measure” to advance “the prosecution
2 of persons engaged in fraudulent or deceptive practices in the sale or purchase of 3 securities” and “the protection of the public.”<sup>216</sup> The Act “confirms a broad intent to 4 sanction wrongdoing in connection with the purchase or sale of securities.” Grand v.
5 Nacchio, 225 Ariz. 171, 174, ¶ 16 (2010).

6
7 D. Failure To Disclose ER Financial Was Operating As An Unlicensed
8 Escrow Business.

9 The Division’s Opening Brief detailed why the ER Respondents operated as an 10 unlicensed escrow business and escrow agents,<sup>217</sup> and as such were subject to being 11 shut down at any time.<sup>218</sup> The failure to disclose to investors that ER Financial was 12 engaged in the conduct of an unlicensed escrow business was a material omission. A 13 reasonable investor would want to know that the Custodian holding the truck loan 14 contracts and title liens collateralizing the investment “[was] not even licensed to be 15 engaged in that type of a business activity.” S.E.C. v. Levine, 671 F. Supp.2d 14, 28-
16 29 (D.D.C. 2009) (investment promoters violated the anti-fraud provisions in § 17(a) 17 of the Securities Act of 1933 and § 10(b) of the Exchange Act of 1934 “by engaging 18 in an illegal escrow business in connection with the offer or sale of securities.”); S.E.C.
19 v. Randy, 38 F. Supp.2d 657, 669 (N.D. Ill. 1999) (fact that bank whose securities were 20 being sold was not legally licensed was material). The Division reiterates the Opening
21 Brief’s analysis regarding why the ER Respondents’ unlicensed escrow activities

22
23 <sup>216</sup> 1951 Ariz. Sess. Laws Ch. 18, § 20; Shorey v. Arizona Corporation Comm’n, 238 Ariz. 253, 257, 24 ¶ 12 (App. 2015) (Securities Act is “designed to protect the public from fraud and deceit arising in 25 securities transactions”) (internal quotation omitted).

26 <sup>217</sup> A.R.S. § 6-801(4), (5) & (7).

<sup>218</sup> A.R.S. § 6-840(A) (providing that when the Arizona Department of Financial Institutions ascertains that an escrow agent’s “affairs are in an unsafe condition, [ADFI] may immediately take possession of all the property, business and assets of the agent....”).

1 violated A.R.S. § 44-1991(A) in connection with the offer or sale of Concordia's
2 securities.

3 The ER Respondents' argument that the Division did not prove they were 4 unlicensed escrow agents is spurious. Bersch and Wanzek both testified that neither
5 of them had ever applied to be licensed as escrow agents, and ER Financial was never 6 licensed as an escrow business. Vol. IX at 1703:2-17; Vol. X at 1928:15-21.

7 The ER Respondents argue they acted not as escrow agents but more like a dry
8 cleaner or a parking valet. Those analogies miss the mark and their argument fails.
9 When one drops their clothes at a dry cleaner or valets their car, they are not doing so
10 "in connection with the sale, transfer, encumbrance or lease of ... personal property"
11 within the meaning of A.R.S. § 6-801(4) defining an escrow. There is no "sale, 12 transfer, [or] encumbrance" of the clothes or car. The person owns those items.
13 Absent the person failing to pay the cleaner or the valet, there is no "contingent 14 happening or nonhappening of a specified event or performance or nonperformance of 15 a prescribed act," A.R.S. § 6-801(4), that will trigger whether the person gets their 16 clothes or car back.

17 Unlike a dry cleaner or a parking valet, ER Financial was holding personal 18 property, the truck loan contracts and title liens, "in connection with the sale, transfer,
19 [or] encumbrance ... of ... personal property," namely the trucks. Further unlike a dry
20 cleaner or a parking valet, whether ER Financial returned a truck loan contract and title
21 lien to Concordia was contingent on the trucker paying off the loan or the trucker
22 defaulting, in which case Concordia needed to provide a substitute contract.<sup>219</sup> Whether 23 ER Financial delivered the truck loan contract and title lien to an investor was contingent
24
25

26 _____
<sup>219</sup> See, e.g., S-12(a) at §§ 1.10 and 4.1.

1 on whether Concordia defaulted or consented for ER to do so.<sup>220</sup> “This is the very
2 essence of escrow....” U.S. Life Title Co. v. Bliss, 150 Ariz. 188, 190 (App. 1986).

3 The ER Respondents argue that no investor expressed concern that they
4 operated an unlicensed escrow business, so it could not have been a material fact.<sup>221</sup>
5 This argument is erroneous and irrelevant. It is erroneous because materiality is based 6 on an objective standard. Hirsch, 237 Ariz. at 463, ¶ 27. ““Under this test, there is no
7 need to investigate whether an omission or misstatement was actually significant to a
8 particular buyer.”” Id. at 464, ¶ 27 (quoting Trimble v. American Savings Life 9 Insurance Company, 152 Ariz. 548, 553 (App. 1986)).

10 The ER Respondents’ argument is also irrelevant. The fact that they were never 11 shut down and no investor was harmed thereby is irrelevant. If a person drives drunk 12 but does not get into an accident, he still endangered the public and broke the law.

13 Finally, the ER Respondents’ argument that the Commission’s powers “do not 14 include jurisdiction over escrow issues”<sup>222</sup> is misplaced and should be rejected. The 15 Division is seeking to enforce the anti-fraud provisions of the Securities Act, not the 16 escrow laws. In Levine, the S.E.C. was not deemed to be attempting to enforce 17 Nevada’s escrow licensing laws. Similarly, in Randy, the S.E.C. was not deemed to 18 be attempting to enforce bank licensing laws. Rather, the securities fraud in those 19 cases, as here, resulted from the defendants’ failure to inform investors of the 20 unlicensed and therefore unlawful business activity they were conducting.

21 Adjudicating the ER Respondents’ material omissions is squarely within the 22 Commission’s jurisdiction and will not in any way intrude on the jurisdiction of the 23 Arizona Department of Financial Institutions. As the Administrative Law Judge ruled 24 in denying the ER Respondents’ prior motion to dismiss the unlicensed escrow

25 _____
26 <sup>220</sup> See, e.g., S-12(a) at §§ 4.2, 4.3 and 7.

<sup>221</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 58:7-9.

<sup>222</sup> ER Respondents Br. at 59:13-14.

1 allegation, “An allegation of fraud in connection with the offer or sale of securities is 2 within the jurisdiction of the Commission, not the Department of Financial 3 Institutions.”<sup>223</sup> The ER Respondents have failed to establish a jurisdictional basis for 4 not adjudicating this violation of the Act’s anti-fraud provision.

5 6 V. THE LEGISLATURE HAS NOT IMPOSED A STATUTE OF 7 LIMITATIONS AND NEITHER SHOULD THE COMMISSION.

8 The Securities Act does not impose a time limit within which the Division must 9 bring an enforcement action. Bersch v. State, 2016 WL 3101789 (Ariz. App.
10 6/2/2016), review denied Dec. 13, 2016; Trimble v. American Sav. Life Ins. Co., 152 11 Ariz. 548, 555-56 (App. 1986) (state agencies are “immune from the statute of 12 limitations defense” in A.R.S. § 44-2004 when they pursue an action in the public 13 interest).

14 The Commission should reject Respondents’ invitation to err by imposing a 15 limitations period when the Legislature has not done so. “The legislature has the 16 exclusive power to declare what the law shall be.” State ex rel. Woods v. Block, 189 17 Ariz. 269, 275 (1997) (internal quotation and citation omitted). “Whether statutes of 18 limitations governing prosecution of ... offenses should be adopted at all is a matter
19 solely for the legislature.” Story v. State, 721 P.2d 1020, 1028-29 (Wyo. 1986) cert.
20 denied, 479 U.S. 962 (1986); Agbanc, Ltd v. United States, 707 F. Supp. 423, 426 (D.
21 Ariz. 1988) (“To create a limitations period in this particular situation where one does 22 not exist is not the province of this Court but rather that of the Congress.”). “If the 23 law is to be changed the responsibility rests with the legislative department of 24 government....” State Tax Comm’n v. Quebedeaux Chevrolet, 71 Ariz. 280, 289
25 (1951), superseded by statute as stated in People of Faith Inc. v. Ariz. Dep’t of Revenue,

26

---

<sup>223</sup> Fifteenth Procedural Order dated 7/7/2015 at 14:17-19.

1 161 Ariz. 514, 519 n.3 (T. C. 1989). Imposing a limitations period would usurp the
2 Legislature’s authority to legislate. See Bowslaugh v. Bowslaugh, 126 Ariz. 517, 519
3 (1979) (adding phrase to statute by “judicial fiat,” despite benevolent intent, “would 4 be an infringement upon the province of the legislature”).

5 The absence of a limitations period for enforcement actions is fully consistent
6 with Arizona law and public policy. “Arizona case law has consistently recognized 7 the common law doctrine ‘nullum tempus occurrit regi’—time does not run against 8 the king.” City of Phoenix v. Glenayre Elecs., Inc., — Ariz. —, —, 393 P.3d
9 919, 922, ¶ 10 (2017) (citing Kerby v. State ex rel. Frohmiller, 62 Ariz. 294, 307 (1945) 10 (noting the established rule that statutes of limitations “do not run or operate against 11 the state”); and City of Bisbee v. Cochise County, 52 Ariz. 1, 9 (1938) (finding “ample
12 justification for the rule, stated in the ancient maxim and confirmed by our Legislature
13 from time to time, that statutes of limitations which govern between private individuals
14 do not apply in proceedings on behalf of the state”)). It is Arizona’s public policy<sup>224</sup>
15 that statutes of limitation do not run against the state “unless the Legislature has 16 expressly and definitely declared that they do.”<sup>225</sup> City of Bisbee, 52 Ariz. at 10.

17 “The nullum tempus doctrine is based on the premise that, although time
18 limitations apply to private parties so as to prevent fraudulent, stale claims, time stands
19 still, as it were, for the state because “[t]he officers who are charged with the active 20 duty of enforcing [the] rights [of the state] have no personal profit to gain thereby, and 21 therefore no inducement for the bringing of false and unwarranted actions.” Glenayre

---

22
23 <sup>224</sup> Arizona’s constitution, statutes and judicial decisions embody its public policy. CSA 13-101
Loop, LLC v. Loop 101, LLC, 236 Ariz. 410 412, ¶ 8, 341 P.3d 452, 454 (2014); Wagenseller v.
Scottsdale Memorial Hosp., 147 Ariz. 370, 378, 710 P.2d 1025, 1033 (1985) (“[O]ur state’s 24 constitution and statutes embody the public conscience of the people of this state.”).

25 <sup>225</sup> See also Defenders of Wildlife v. Hull, 199 Ariz. 411, 415, ¶ 2, 18 P.3d 722, 726 (App. 2001)
26 (73-year dormancy did not affect the validity of the state’s claims because “[n]either doctrines of laches nor statutes of limitations ... can be allowed to defeat the state’s sovereign title to trust lands.”).

1 Elecs., 393 P.3d at 922, ¶ 10 (quoting City of Bisbee, 52 Ariz. at 9). Although the 2 doctrine was originally established as a royal prerogative similar to sovereign
3 immunity, its role under modern law is “to protect the public” and ensure “its rights to 4 redress against wrongdoers.” Tucson Unified School Dist. v. Owens-Corning
5 Fiberglass Corp., 174 Ariz. 336, 337, 849 P.2d 790, 791 (1993).

6 Although Respondents attack the nullum tempus doctrine as “outdated,”<sup>226</sup> in 7 May 2017 the Arizona Supreme Court reaffirmed its applicability. See Glenayre
8 Elecs., 393 P.3d at 921, 926 & 928, ¶¶ 4, 27 & 36 (holding that City of Phoenix was 9 not time-barred from bringing indemnity claims against developers for conduct that 10 occurred between 17 and 40 years earlier). The court reaffirmed that “statutes of 11 limitations do not and should not apply to the state, in the absence of an express 12 declaration to the contrary by the Legislature, that is, unless the Legislature has 13 expressly and definitely declared that they do.” 393 P.3d at 923, ¶ 14 (internal 14 quotations and citation omitted).

15 Respondents’ reliance on Gabelli v. S.E.C.<sup>227</sup> and Kokesh v. S.E.C.,<sup>228</sup> which 16 construed 28 U.S.C. § 2462, is misplaced. 28 U.S.C. § 2462<sup>229</sup> is statute of general 17 applicability that “requires that any [federal] administrative action aimed at imposing 18 a civil penalty must be brought within five years of the alleged violation.” 3M Co v.
19 Browner, 17 F.3d 1453, 1455-56 (D.C. Cir. 1994) (internal quotation and citation 20 omitted).

21 _____
22 <sup>226</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 64:9-10.

23 <sup>227</sup> Gabelli v. S.E.C., --- U.S. ---, 133 S. Ct. 1216 (2013)

24 <sup>228</sup> Kokesh v. S.E.C., --- U.S. ---, 137 S. Ct. 1635 (2017).

25 <sup>229</sup> 28 U.S.C. § 2462 provides:

26 Except as otherwise provided by Act of Congress, an action, suit or proceeding for the enforcement of any civil fine, penalty, or forfeiture, pecuniary or otherwise, shall not be entertained unless commenced within five years from the date when the claim first accrued if, within the same period, the offender or the property is found within the United States in order that proper service may be made thereon.

1            “[F]ederal law is persuasive in interpretation of Arizona securities laws only
2 where [the] provisions and underlying policies are similar.” Hirsch v. Arizona
3 Corporation Comm’n, 237 Ariz. 456, 466, ¶ 41 (App. 2015) In interpreting a state
4 statutory scheme such as the Securities Act, “[Arizona Courts] will give less weight
5 and not necessarily defer to federal case law that construes a parallel federal statute
6 when the state and federal statutory provisions or their underlying policies materially 7 differ.” Sell v. Gama, 231 Ariz. 323, 327, ¶ 18 (2013).

8            28 U.S.C. § 2462 has no counterpart in Arizona law. § 2462 is not a parallel
9 federal statute to § 44-2004 or any other provision in the Securities Act. § 2462 is not 10 even specific to securities law. “[I]t governs many penalty provisions throughout the 11 U.S. Code.” Gabelli, 133 S. Ct. at 1219. That federal law contains a provision with 12 no counterpart under Arizona law “gives us ‘good reason to depart from that 13 authority.’” Hirsch, 237 Ariz. at 466, ¶ 41 (quoting Sell, 231 Ariz. at 327, ¶ 18).<sup>230</sup>
14 For this reason, Gabelli and Kokesh, which construed § 2462, are wholly inapposite.

15            Imposing a limitations period on enforcement actions would undermine the 16 Commission’s ability to remedy violations of the Act by limiting the time available to 17 investigate and develop securities fraud claims. Steps typically include: (1) reviewing 18 investor complaints, which the Securities Division may not receive until several years
19 after the date of investment; (2) interviewing investors; (3) investigating the business,
20 which may include an undercover investigation that takes months to develop; (4)
21 collecting evidence using document subpoenas and examinations under oath; (5) 22 interacting with the business in an attempt to reach a negotiated resolution; and (6) if 23 necessary, filing an enforcement action.

24
25 <sup>230</sup> See also Siporin v. Carrington, 200 Ariz. 97, 103, ¶ 28 (App. 2001) (“[W]e will not defer to 26 federal case law when, by doing so, we would be taking a position inconsistent with the policies embraced by our own legislature. We will depart from those federal decisions that do not advance the Arizona policy of protecting the public from unscrupulous investment promoters.”).

1           Imposing a statute of limitations would compress this timeline and might force
2 the Division to race the clock to vindicate investors' rights, especially because it would
3 often be difficult to ascertain when the clock began to run. This result would be bad
4 for investors and worse for businesses that would no longer benefit from the Division's
5 ability to take the necessary time to carefully investigate and resolve investor
6 complaints of alleged violations, often without any adverse action or litigation.

7           Securities violations often extend for several years before they come to light.
8 Under a limitations period, a violator could only be held accountable for recent 9 conduct, the Division's available evidence would be limited, and some defrauded
10 investors would be left without any claim to receive restitution. Imposing a limitation
11 period would frustrate the Act's legislative purposes.

12           As for Respondents' complaints about the ability of businesses to raise funds
13 and destroy records, Trimble has been the law in Arizona for 31 years. There is no
14 evidence in the record that the Commission's ability to enforce the Act without a time
15 limitation has hindered business growth in Arizona.

16           In any event, arguments as to the wisdom of imposing a limitations period on 17 enforcement actions are appropriately directed to the legislature, not to the 18 Commission. To the extent that imposing a limitations period would benefit violators
19 like Respondents by providing finality for them, the Legislature is the appropriate 20 body to weigh those private benefits against the costs to public rights.

21           Ultimately what Respondents advocate for is a rule that would permit fraudsters 22 to know that if they can only avoid detection of their violations for long enough, they 23 will go scot-free. That is not the law in Arizona. Nor should it be the outcome in this 24 case.
25
26

1 VI. RESPONDENTS' LACHES DEFENSE FAILS.

2 Respondents seek to preclude the Division from responding to their arguments
3 that this action is barred by the doctrine of laches. They argue that because the 4 Division did not address laches in its Opening Brief, the Division has waived its right
5 to respond to Respondents' laches arguments.<sup>231</sup>

6 The doctrine of laches is an affirmative defense. At all times, it is Respondents'
7 burden to raise and prove it. The Division had no obligation to address any of 8 Respondents' affirmative defenses in its Opening Brief. Respondents cite no authority
9 for their absurd argument, which if accepted, would be patently unfair. The 10 Commission should reject Respondents' effort to preclude the Division from 11 responding on the merits, or lack thereof, to their laches defense.

12 Laches does not apply to this case for several reasons. First, "the doctrine of 13 laches does not apply against the State or its agencies in matters affecting the public 14 interest absent a statute expressly allowing such a defense." State ex rel. Darwin v.
15 Arnett, 235 Ariz. 239, 245, ¶ 33 (App. 2014); Kerby v. State ex rel. Frohmiller, 62
16 Ariz. 294, 307-08 (1945) (13-year delay by state auditor before bringing suit to recover 17 unauthorized expenditures by Secretary of State; "when the public interest is 18 concerned, neither laches nor the statute of limitations applies against the state, in the 19 absence of a statute expressly allowing such defenses."<sup>232</sup> Respondents have not 20 identified any statute expressly allowing a laches defense against a securities
21 enforcement action, and there is none.

22 _____
23 <sup>231</sup> ER Respondents' Br. at 67:10-11.

24 <sup>232</sup> See also Defenders of Wildlife v. Hull, 199 Ariz. 411, 415, ¶ 2, 18 P.3d 722, 726 (App. 2001) (73-
25 year dormancy did not affect the validity of the state's claims because "[n]either doctrines of laches 26 nor statutes of limitations ... can be allowed to defeat the state's sovereign title to trust lands."); State v. Durham, 860 S.W.2d 63, 67 (Tex. 1993) ("[T]he principal argument of the dissenting Justices is that it just is not fair to be litigating events that occurred almost sixty years ago. However, the State in its sovereign capacity, unlike ordinary litigants, is not subject to the defenses of limitations, laches, or estoppel.").

1 Respondents assert that at the oral argument at the Court of Appeals, “the 2 Division conceded that laches would apply to this proceeding.”<sup>233</sup> That assertion is 3 incomplete and therefore inaccurate. The relevant exchange at the Court of Appeals
4 was as follows:

5
6 Hon. Kent Cattani: Assuming there is not a statute of limitations,
7 is there anything that would prevent the parties from alleging
8 that in this case the length of time that they waited to bring an 9 action was simply unreasonable ... because we are unable to 10 bring in evidence we could have brought in earlier? Are they precluded from ever making any kind of equitable argument like that?

11 Division’s Counsel: No they are not your Honor, because they 12 have a due process claim. But the due process claim or the 13 laches claim or the estoppel claim would involve
14 unreasonable delay. In fact, due process would involve 15 intentional delay by the government. Same with laches and estoppel. Laches and estoppel require unreasonable delay and you’ll see that in some of the cases they have cited....<sup>234</sup>

16 The Division then went on to distinguish the Tucson Electric Power,<sup>235</sup> Valencia
17 Energy<sup>236</sup> and State v. Garcia<sup>237</sup> cases. In those cases laches or estoppel was applied
18 against the government. In Garcia, laches barred a child support arrearage case
19 because the mother and the Department of Economic Security (DES) made no attempt 20 to determine paternity for 16 years and DES purged relevant records in the interim, 21 prejudicing the father.<sup>238</sup> In Valencia Energy and Tucson Electric Power the

22
23 <sup>233</sup> Concordia Br. at 32:15; ER Respondents’ Br. at 67:1-2.

24 <sup>234</sup> The oral argument at the Court of Appeals is available on You Tube by searching under “CR1 5 10 2016 CV150340”. The excerpt quoted above begins at 23 minutes and 22 seconds into the video.

25 <sup>235</sup> Tucson Electric Power Co. v. Arizona Dep’t of Revenue, 174 Ariz. 507 (App. 1992).

26 <sup>236</sup> Valencia Energy Co. v. Arizona Dep’t of Revenue, 191 Ariz. 565 (1998).

<sup>237</sup> State v. Garcia, 187 Ariz. 527 (App. 1996).

<sup>238</sup> Garcia, 187 Ariz. at 529.

1 Department of Revenue gave companies assurances on tax issues, but later reversed
2 its positions and sought to assess back taxes.<sup>239</sup>

3 In concluding the answer to Judge Cattani's question quoted above, the 4 Division's counsel stated: "Yes, there is a remedy for a litigant who can establish that 5 the government knew about the conduct and then unreasonably delayed or 6 intentionally delayed in order to gain some sort of a tactical advantage. There is no
7 evidence in the record of anything like that here." Respondents' assertion that the 8 Division conceded that laches applies here mischaracterizes the exchange between 9 Judge Cattani and counsel.

10 "Laches is an equitable defense that prevents a plaintiff, who 'with full 11 knowledge of the facts, acquiesces in a transaction and sleeps upon his rights.'" Danjaq LLC v. Sony Corp., 263 F.3d 942, 950-51 (9th Cir. 2001) (quoting Southern 12 Pac. Co. v. Bogert, 250 U.S. 483, 500 (1919) (McReynolds, J. dissenting)). As stated
13 at the Court of Appeals, a necessary element of laches is unreasonable delay. League
14 of Ariz. Cities & Towns v. Martin, 219 Ariz. 556, 558, ¶ 6 (2009). Delay alone is not 15 sufficient to establish a laches defense; it has to have been unreasonable. Id. at 558, ¶
16 6; Harris v. Purcell, 193 Ariz. 409, 412, ¶ 16 (1998). In determining whether the delay 17 was unreasonable, courts "examine the justification for delay, including the extent of 18 plaintiff's advance knowledge of the basis for challenge." Harris, 193 Ariz. at 412, ¶ 19 16. For laches to apply, "[T]he delay must come after the party against whom the 20 defense is asserted becomes aware of or has knowledge of ... his right." Flynn v.
21 Rogers, 172 Ariz. 62, 66 (1992) (quoting Jerger v. Rubin, 106 Ariz. 114, 117 (1970)).

23 <sup>239</sup> Valencia Energy, 191 Ariz. at 569, ¶¶ 4-5 (estoppel applied where taxpayer sought and relied on 24 position of Department of Revenue, which wrote 3 separate letters saying tax would not apply, and 25 then reversed its position and assessed taxes four year later); Tucson Electric Power, 174 Ariz. at 26 514-16 (utility conferred with audit supervisor for the Department of Revenue regarding whether pollution certifications from New Mexico would qualify for amortization purposes on its Arizona tax return and was told they would; years later, the Department of Revenue reversed its position and assessed back taxes).

1 “[L]aches penalizes inexcusable dilatory behavior; if the plaintiff legitimately was
2 unaware of the defendant’s conduct, laches is no bar to suit.” Jarrow Formulas, Inc.
3 v. Nutrition Now, Inc., 304 F.3d 829, 838 (9th Cir. 2002). Absent prior knowledge of 4 Respondents’ violations, the Division cannot be deemed to have delayed taking 5 enforcement action.

6 The evidence demonstrates that the Division did not have any knowledge of 7 Respondents’ activities until July 2012, when an investor, Sue Ellen LeMay, submitted
8 a complaint.<sup>240</sup> The Division promptly commenced an investigation.<sup>241</sup> In August
9 2012, Gary Clapper was assigned as the investigator.<sup>242</sup> The Division filed this 10 enforcement action eighteen (18) months later. In the interim, the Division had to 11 work through Respondents’ efforts to obstruct the investigation. Respondents’ 12 obstructionist tactics included:

- 13 • Concordia refused to honor the Division’s subpoena duces tecum.<sup>243</sup> The 14 Division then had to work with the California Corporations
15 Commissioner<sup>244</sup> to subpoena Concordia’s documents and the testimony
16 of K. Crowder,<sup>245</sup> A. Dekmejian<sup>246</sup> and C. Crowder.<sup>247</sup>
- 17 • Bersch and Wanzek refused to produce any of ER Financial’s responsive 18 documents in response to the Division’s investigative subpoena. First,
19 however, Bersch and Wanzek obtained two extensions from the Division
20 so they could supposedly prepare ER Financial’s response to the 21

22
23 <sup>240</sup> Vol. VII at 1209:5-12.

<sup>241</sup> Vol. VII at 1209:3-8.

<sup>242</sup> Vol. VII at 1209:3-8.

<sup>243</sup> Vol. VII at 1221:5-14.

<sup>244</sup> Vol. VII at 1221:5-20 and 1222:4-24.

<sup>245</sup> See S-163.

<sup>246</sup> See S-164.

<sup>247</sup> See S-165.

1 subpoena.<sup>248</sup> Instead, Bersch and Wanzek dissolved ER Financial<sup>249</sup> and 2 then claimed that because it no longer existed, they did not have to 3 produce any of its records.<sup>250</sup>

4 There was no delay, let alone unreasonable delay, by the Division.

5 The lapse of time and purported prejudice Respondents complain about are self-
6 inflicted wounds caused by Respondents' failures to register with the Commission as 7 A.R.S. §§ 44-1841 and 44-1842 require, and not a result of any conduct by the 8 Division. "[T]he statutes requiring registration of securities and dealers are designed 9 to make the possibility of fraud even more remote." State v. Baumann, 125 Ariz.
10 404, 411, 610 P.2d 38, 45 (1980) (citing A.R.S. §§ 44-1841 and 44-1842). By failing 11 to register the securities or themselves, Respondents evaded the Division's review of 12 their activities. The Division could not act on violations of which it was unaware.

13 Turning their obligation to register under A.R.S. §§ 44-1841 and 1842 on its 14 head, Respondents argue that the Division should have discovered their violations
15 sooner because their sales of Concordia's securities were "open and notorious."<sup>251</sup> The 16 phrase "open and notorious" is a term of art applicable to the doctrine of adverse 17 possession. See Lewis v. Pleasant Country Ltd., 173 Ariz. 186, 189 (App. 1992).
18 "[A]dverse possession cannot run against the State." Ziggy's Opportunities, Inc. v. I-
19 10 Indus. Park Developers, 152 Ariz. 104, 107 (App. 1986). Respondents' argument 20 fails.

21 Arnett<sup>252</sup> illustrates that laches does not apply to bar this action. In Arnett, in 22 1988 and 1990, an underground storage tank leaked gasoline.<sup>253</sup> By February 1990,

24 <sup>248</sup> S-185; S-186; Vol. VII at 1228:7 to 1229:18.

25 <sup>249</sup> S-168.

26 <sup>250</sup> Vol. VII at 1235:20-25; S-160; S-174.

<sup>251</sup> Concordia Br. at 34:17; see also ER Respondents' Br. at 69:14-15.

<sup>252</sup> Arnett, 235 Ariz. at 245, ¶¶ 33-35.

<sup>253</sup> Arnett, 235 Ariz. at 241, ¶¶ 4-5.

1 the Tucson Fire Department and the Arizona Department of Environmental Quality
2 (ADEQ) were aware of the contamination.<sup>254</sup> In February 2005, ADEQ learned the 3 identity of the owner of underground storage tank.<sup>255</sup> Five-and-a-half years later, in 4 September 2010, ADEQ sued the owner for the cost of cleanup and civil penalties.<sup>256</sup>
5 The superior court rejected the owner's laches defense, and the Court of Appeals
6 affirmed. The courts rejected the owner's argument that, because he recorded a deed
7 in 1982 reflecting that he was the owner of the land on which the underground storage
8 tank was located, ADEQ should have identified him and brought the action sooner.<sup>257</sup>
9 The Court of Appeals held: "Because the statute of limitations does not apply to this
10 type of litigation, and because applying laches to bar ADEQ's action in the instant
11 case would adversely affect ADEQ's ability to regulate USTs and would harm the 12 public's interest in safe water, the superior court properly rejected Arnett's laches 13 defense."<sup>258</sup>

14 In contrast to Arnett where ADEQ waited five-and-a-half years to bring its 15 enforcement action from when it learned who owned the leaky tank, here the Division 16 brought this enforcement action within eighteen (18) months of first learning of 17 Respondents' activities. As in Arnett, no statute of limitations applies to this litigation.
18 Applying laches to bar this enforcement action would adversely affect the Division's 19 ability to remedy securities violations and would harm the public interest.
20 Enforcement actions like this one are "brought for the public benefit...." Trimble, 152
21 Ariz. at 56, 733 P.2d. at 1139. Accordingly, the Commission should reject
22 Respondents' laches defense.

---

24 <sup>254</sup> Id. at 241, ¶ 5.

25 <sup>255</sup> Id. at 241, ¶ 13.

26 <sup>256</sup> Id. at 241, ¶ 14.

<sup>257</sup> Id. at 240-41 & 243-44, ¶¶ 2 & 24-26.

<sup>258</sup> Id. at 245, ¶ 35.

1 Finally, Respondents cite several cases for the proposition that when a plaintiff
2 files suit in equity or admiralty outside the limitations period that would apply to an
3 analogous action at law, laches presumptively applies. Those cases are inapposite.
4 All but two of them involved suits solely between private litigants.<sup>259</sup> In one of the 5 two cases that involved government entities, the court held the private litigant's claim
6 was barred by laches.<sup>260</sup> In the other case that involved a government agency, the court
7 held that laches did not bar the agency's efforts in 1996 to collect overpayments it
8 made to a hospital in 1981.<sup>261</sup>

9 In any event, Respondents' attempt to impose laches against the Division based 10 on the analogous limitation periods in A.R.S. § 44-2004 for private litigants fails.
11 Arizona law is clear that "when the public interest is concerned, neither laches nor the 12 statute of limitations applies against the state, in the absence of a statute expressly 13 allowing such defenses." Kerby, 62 Ariz. at 307-08.

---

14 15
16
17
18 <sup>259</sup> Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc., 304 F.3d 829, 838-39 (9th Cir. 2002) (private litigant
19 knew of its Lanham Act cause of action in 1993 but waited until 2000 to file suit without offering
20 any legitimate excuse for the delay); Danjaq LLC v. Sony Corp., 263 F.3d 942 (9th Cir. 2001) (private 21 litigant waited between 19 and 36 years from when he knew of defendant's alleged copyright
22 infringement before he brought suit); Tandy Corp. v. Malone & Hyde, Inc., 769 F.2d 362 (6th Cir.
23 1985) (laches did not bar trademark infringement when plaintiff brought suit 32 months after learning
24 of defendant's conduct); Brown v. Kayler, 273 F.2d 588, 591 (9th Cir. 1959) (in admiralty action for 25 personal injury, laches applied because the plaintiff did not bring suit within analogous 2-year statute
26 of limitation and did not present a valid excuse for the delay); Wilson v. Northwest Marine Iron Works, 212 F.2d 510, 511 (9th Cir. 1954) (same); Costello v. Muheim, 9 Ariz. 422 (1906) (laches did not bar quiet title action between private litigants); Patchett v. DiVito, 3 Ariz. App. 72 (1966) (laches applied to claim and counterclaim between private litigants).

<sup>260</sup> Lavin v. Board of Education, 447 A.2d 516, 520 (N.J. 1982) (teacher's claim against school board for retroactive salary increase based on military service was barred by laches; teacher did not bring her claim until 9 years after she began employment and 23 years after military service).

<sup>261</sup> Robert F. Kennedy Medical Center v. Dep't of Health Services, 61 Cal. App. 4th 1357, 1359-60
(1998).

1 VII. RESPONDENTS DO NOT HAVE RIGHT TO A JURY TRIAL

2 Respondents argue they are entitled to jury trial on the Division’s requests for 3 restitution and civil penalties. Respondents are mistaken.<sup>262</sup>

4
5 A. Controlling Arizona Precedent Defeats Respondents’ “Right to a 6 Jury Trial” Argument.

7 Article 2, Section 23 of the Arizona Constitution provides in relevant part: “The 8 right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate.” This constitutional provision “preserves
9 a right to a jury trial in only those actions that existed at common law when the Arizona
10 Constitution was adopted in 1910.” Life Investors Ins. Co. of Am. v. Horizon
11 Resources Bethany, Ltd., 182 Ariz. 529, 532 (App. 1995).

12 Controlling Arizona precedents hold, “Unless expressly provided for by statute,
13 ‘there is no right to a jury trial on statutory claims that did not exist at common law
14 prior to statehood.’” State ex rel. Darwin v. Arnett, 235 Ariz. 239, 245, ¶ 36 (App.
15 2014) (Article 2, Section 23 of the Arizona Constitution did not provide a right to jury
16 trial in enforcement action by state agency to recover damages to remediate
17 environmental contamination and civil penalties) (quoting In re Estate of Newman,
18 219 Ariz. 260, 272, ¶ 45 (App. 2008), review denied 10/28/2008); Life Investors, 182
19 Ariz. at 532 (no right to jury in deficiency judgement action; “Since the deed of trust
20 statute was enacted in 1971, there was no provision for this type of statutory action in 21 1910, and, hence, no issue exists regarding preservation of a nonexistent right.”).

22 Applying the holdings of Arnett, Estate of Newman and Life Investors, 23 Respondents do not have a right to a jury trial on the Division’s requested statutory 24 remedies of restitution and administrative penalties. The Division is bringing this 25 administrative enforcement action pursuant to the Securities Act, which was enacted

26 <sup>262</sup> The Division incorporates and adopts the analysis of the Administrative Law Judge regarding the jury trial issue set forth in the Twenty-Ninth Procedural Order dated 11/28/2016 at 20:3 to 21:5.

1 in 1951. See Laws 1951, Ch. 18. In Article 16 of the Act, the Legislature expressly
2 authorized the Commission to “take appropriate affirmative action ... to correct the 3 conditions resulting from the [violation] including, without limitation, a requirement
4 to provide restitution as prescribed by the rules of the [C]ommission.” A.R.S. § 44-5 2032(1).

6 Pursuant to this express statutory authorization to require restitution and its 7 general statutory rule-making authority, the Commission promulgated A.A.C. R14-4-8 308 (“Commission Rule 14-4-308”). See A.R.S. §§ 44-1821 and 44-2032(1), and 9 A.A.C. R14-4-308. Commission Rule 14-4-308 provides, in relevant part:

10 A. When a person or persons have violated the Securities Act
11 or the IM Act, or any rule or order of the Commission, the Commission 12 may require the person or persons to make rescission and/or restitution as 13 provided herein.

14 ...

15 C. If restitution is ordered by the Commission,

16 1. The amount payable as damages to each purchaser shall 17 include:

18 a. Cash equal to the fair market value of the consideration paid, 19 determined as of the date such payment was originally paid by the buyer;
20 together with

21 b. Interest at a rate pursuant to A.R.S. § 44-1201 for the period
22 from the date of the purchase payment to the date of repayment; less

23 c. The amount of any principal, interest, or other distributions
24 received on the security for the period from the date of purchase payment
25 to the date of repayment.<sup>263</sup>

26 The Legislature has also expressly authorized the Commission to assess administrative penalties, after a hearing.<sup>264</sup> By statute, the Commission may not

<sup>263</sup> A.A.C. R14-4-308(A) and (C).

<sup>264</sup> A.R.S. § 44-2036(A) (“A person who, in an administrative action, is found to have violated any provision of this chapter or any rule or order of the commission may be assessed an administrative penalty by the commission, after a hearing, in an amount of not to exceed five thousand dollars for each violation.”).

1 order restitution or penalties prior to providing a respondent with notice of a hearing
2 or a notice of an opportunity for a hearing, and the Commission shall provide a 3 hearing when requested.<sup>265</sup>

4 As in Arnett, Estate of Newman and Life Investors, the statutory causes of 5 action and statutory remedies at issue did not exist when the Arizona Constitution
6 was adopted in 1910. Because “Article II, Section 23 preserves a right to a jury trial
7 in only those actions that existed at common law when the Arizona Constitution was 8 adopted,” Life Investors, 182 Ariz. at 531, Respondents do not have a right to a jury 9 trial on any issue in this action, including the requested statutory remedies of 10 restitution and administrative penalties. See Arnett, 235 Ariz. at 245, ¶ 36 (Article 11 2, Section 23 of the Arizona Constitution did not provide a right to jury trial in 12 ADEQ’s action to recover damages and civil penalties.)

13 Respondents fixate on Commission Rule 14-4-308(C)’s use of the word
14 “damages” in describing how to calculate the amount a respondent must pay to each
15 purchaser “[i]f restitution is ordered by the Commission.” Commission Rule 14-4-16 308(C)’s use of the word “damages” does not change the foregoing analysis, however.
17 In Arnett and Estate of Newman, the defendants did not have a right to a jury trial
18 under the Arizona Constitution despite the fact that they were defending against claims
19 seeking damages. See Arnett, 235 Ariz. at 241, ¶ 15; Estate of Newman, 219 Ariz. at 20 264, ¶ 6. The same result applies to Respondents.

21 Because the Securities Act was enacted in 1951, there was no provision for this 22 type of statutory action when the Arizona Constitution was adopted in 1910.
23 Therefore, Article 2, Section 23 did not preserve a jury trial for statutory claims that 24 did not exist in 1910. Arnett, In re Estate of Newman and Life Investors are controlling 25 and dispose of Respondents’ arguments concerning a purported jury trial right.

26

---

<sup>265</sup> See A.R.S. § 44-1972(C), (E); Twenty-Ninth Procedural Order dated 11/28/2016 at 20:10-12.

1
2       B. When a Proceeding Implicates Public Rights, and the Legislature has
3       Provided a Proper Administrative Forum for Adjudicating the 4       Action, the Right to a Jury Trial is Inapplicable.

5       The United States Supreme Court has held that the Seventh Amendment right
6 to a jury trial does not apply to administrative proceedings. Atlas Roofing Co. v.
7 Occupational Safety and Health Review Comm'n, 430 U.S. 442, 455 (1977); Tull v.
8 United States, 481 U.S. 412, 418, n.4 (1987) (“[T]he Seventh Amendment is not 9 applicable to administrative proceedings.”). Legislatures can assign to administrative 10 agencies the power to enforce certain laws, or adjudicate certain “public rights.” Atlas
11 Roofing, 430 U.S. at 450. These are situations in which the government acts in its 12 sovereign capacity to enforce public rights under a statute. Simpson v. Office of Thrift
13 Supervision, 29 F.3d 1418, 1423 (9th Cir. 1994) (citing Atlas Roofing, 430 U.S. at 450).

14       Respondents argue that the restitution the Division seeks under A.R.S. § 44-
15 2032(1) and A.A.C. R14-4-308 (C) is the same as the damages an investor bringing a 16 private cause of action could seek under A.R.S. § 44-2001(A). Respondents argue that 17 this makes the Division’s request for restitution a private right, to which a jury trial
18 should apply, instead of a public right. Disregarding the plain language of A.R.S. § 19 44-2032(1), Respondents further argue that the remedy of restitution is “not integral 20 to a regulatory scheme.”<sup>266</sup>

21       Respondents’ argument is contrary to Arizona law. Enforcement actions the 22 Securities Division brings, such as the one here, are “brought for the public benefit...”
23 Trimble, 152 Ariz. at 556. The corrective actions taken by the Commission “benefit 24 the public as a whole. The public interest is served by the cessation of illegal and 25 fraudulent acts.” Id. at 555-56. Requiring persons who violate the Securities Act “to 26

---

<sup>266</sup> Concordia Br. at 39:10.

1 make restitution to the victims has a deterrent effect, which also serves the public
2 interest.” Id. at 556. “The fact that the action in its present status is directed toward 3 remedies for individuals does not diminish the public interest nature of the 4 proceeding.” Id. at 556.

5 When a proceeding implicates public rights, as this one does, and the legislature
6 has provided a proper administrative forum for adjudicating the action, the right to a 7 jury trial is inapplicable. See Simpson, 29 F.3d at 1424; see also Atlas Roofing, 430
8 U.S. at 455 (Seventh Amendment does not prevent Congress from committing 9 litigation to administrative agencies with special competence in the relevant field).
10 Respondents are not entitled to jury trial on the Division’s requests for the statutory 11 remedies of restitution and penalties.

12
13 C. Respondents Rely on Inapposite Cases.

14
15 Respondents cite eight Arizona cases concerning jury trial rights, but none
16 involve statutory causes of action or administrative enforcement proceedings.<sup>267</sup> They 17 are inapposite. Most stand for the unremarkable proposition that the right to a jury

---

18 <sup>267</sup> Derendal v. Griffith, 209 Ariz. 416, 418, ¶ 2 (2009) (criminal misdemeanor prosecution for drag
19 racing); Brown v. Greer, 16 Ariz. 215, 216 (1914) (action for an accounting and settlement of 20 copartnership’s affairs), superseded by statute as stated in Hoyle v. Superior Court in and for Maricopa County, 161 Ariz. 224, 229 (App. 1989); Fisher v. Edgerton, 236 Ariz. 71, 73, ¶ 2 (App.
21 2014) (trial de novo to jury following appeal of compulsory arbitration of claims arising from auto
22 accident); Orme School v. Reeves, 166 Ariz. 301, 303 (1990) (indemnity claim by school defending
23 a claim of salmonella poisoning by former student); Dombey v. Phoenix Newspapers, Inc., 150 24 Ariz. 476, 565 (1986) (libel action); Perkins v. Komarnyckyj, 172 Ariz. 115, 116 (medical 25 malpractice action; trial judge erred by (1) communicating with jurors without notifying counsel 26 and (2) instructing jurors that those voting against liability should not participate in determining damages); Chartone, Inc. v. Bernini, 207 Ariz. 162, 164, ¶ 1 (App. 2004) (action for breach of an implied contract; trial judge erred by bifurcating trial into separate phases for liability and damages and then, while jury was deliberating on liability, vacating bifurcation order an appointing a special master to determine damages); and Moses v. Daru, 4 Ariz. App. 385, 387, 391 (1966) (plaintiff/counterdefendant was entitled to have jury decide his liability and the amount of damages on defendant’s counterclaim for defamation).

1 trial is preserved in those common law actions for which there was a right to jury trial
2 when the Arizona Constitution was adopted. See Fisher 236 Ariz. at 73, ¶ 2 (claims,
3 presumably negligence, arose from auto accident); Chartone, 207 Ariz. at 164, ¶ 1
4 (breach of an implied contract); Perkins; 172 Ariz. at 116 (medical malpractice
5 action); Dombey, 150 Ariz. at 565 (libel action); Moses, 4 Ariz. App. at 387
6 (counterclaim for defamation).

7 Respondents' reliance on Del Monte Dunes,<sup>268</sup> Feltner<sup>269</sup> and Granfinanciera<sup>270</sup>
8 is misplaced. Those cases hold that the Seventh Amendment's preservation of a right
9 to a jury trial "applies not only to common-law causes of action but also to statutory 10 causes of action 'analogous to common-law causes of action ordinarily decided in 11 English law courts in the late 18th century, as opposed to those customarily heard by 12 courts of equity or admiralty.'"<sup>271</sup> In the 18th century before the Seventh Amendment
13 was adopted, there was no common-law cause of action analogous to a securities
14 enforcement action. Thus, this holding of Del Monte Dunes, Feltner and 15 Granfinanciera does not apply.

16 Tull v. United States<sup>272</sup> undermines, rather than supports, Respondents'
17 arguments. Tull was a Clean Water Act enforcement action the government brought 18 in federal district court, not in an administrative agency.<sup>273</sup> 481 U.S. at 415. Thus,

19
20 <sup>268</sup> City of Monterey v. Del Monte Dunes at Monterey, Ltd., 526 U.S. 687 (1999) (Section 1983 action).

21 <sup>269</sup> Feltner v. Columbia Pictures Television, Inc., 523 U.S. 340, 348 (1998) (copyright infringement action)

22 <sup>270</sup> Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 U.S. 33 (1989) (bankruptcy trustee's action to void fraudulent transfers).

23 <sup>271</sup> Del Monte Dunes, 526 U.S. at 708-09 (quoting Feltner, 523 U.S. at 348 (internal quotation omitted)); Granfinanciera, 492 U.S. at 42.

24 <sup>272</sup> Tull v. United States, 481 U.S. 412 (1987).

25 <sup>273</sup> The statute under which the government brought its enforcement action in Tull requires that any 26 enforcement action "be brought in the district court of the United States for the district in which the defendant is located or resides or is doing business, and such court shall have jurisdiction...." 33
U.S.C. § 1319(b).

1 unlike this proceeding, the dispute in Tull was not an adjudication before an
2 administrative tribunal, but was in a forum - federal court - that provided a procedure
3 for a trial by jury. Therefore, Tull is neither analogous nor relevant, except that the 4 Supreme Court reaffirmed that “the Seventh Amendment is not applicable to 5 administrative proceedings.” Id. at 418, n. 4 (citing Atlas Roofing Co. v. Occupational 6 Safety and Health Review Comm’n, 430 U.S. 442 (1977)).

7 Finally, Great-West Life Annuity Ins. Co. v. Knudson<sup>274</sup> did not involve a jury
8 trial issue and it does not help Respondents. In Great-West Life, the insurer to an 9 ERISA plan sued a beneficiary who was injured in an auto accident and whose 10 personal injury settlement recovered some of the medical expenses the insurer and 11 plan had paid. The insurer sought to enforce the plan’s reimbursement provision 12 giving it the right to recover from a beneficiary any payment for benefits paid by the 13 plan that the beneficiary was entitled to recover from a third-party. 534 U.S. at 207.
14 The issue was whether the insurer could proceed under a federal statute that authorizes 15 a civil action “to enjoin any act or practice which violates the terms of the plan, or ...
16 to obtain other appropriate equitable relief...” 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3). The Court held 17 the suit could not proceed under that statute because the insurer was not seeking 18 equitable relief but legal relief instead. Id. at 221. The insurer sought “in essence, to 19 impose personal liability on [the plan’s beneficiary] for a contractual obligation [under 20 the plan] to pay money....” Id. at 210. The Court reasoned, “A claim for money due 21 and owing under a contract is quintessentially an action at law.” Id. at 210 (internal 22 quotations and citation omitted).

23 In contrast to the insurer’s claim in Great-West Life, the Division is not seeking 24 to enforce the investment contracts between Respondents and their investors. The 25 Division does not seek to impose contractual liability on Respondents, nor could it.

26 _____
<sup>274</sup> Great-West Life Annuity Ins. Co. v. Knudson, 534 U.S. 204 (2002).

1 Neither the Division nor the Commission is a party to the investment contracts.
2 Rather, the Division seeks to impose statutory liability on Respondents to pay
3 restitution and penalties pursuant to A.R.S. §§ 44-2032(1) and 44-2036 because they 4 violated the Securities Act.

5 In short, the authorities Respondents rely upon are inapposite. They do not 6 provide a basis on which to conclude that Respondents are entitled to a jury trial on 7 the Division's request relief of restitution and administrative penalties.

8
9 VIII. THE RECORD AND THE LAW REFUTE RESPONDENTS' FALSE
10 ACCUSATIONS AGAINST THE DIVISION.

11 Having no real defense to their serial violations of the Securities Act,
12 Respondents attack the Division's integrity. They assert, "the Division presented false
13 testimony and withheld exculpatory evidence."<sup>275</sup> Neither the record nor the law
14 supports Respondents' false accusations.

15 Respondents provided several investors with flowcharts that stated,
16 "PRODUCT APPROVED BY KANSAS CITY LIFE INC., BROKER: SUNSET
17 FINANCIAL."<sup>276</sup> The Division alleged that Kansas City Life Insurance Company
18 never approved the investments in Concordia.<sup>277</sup>

19 On March 12, 2015, the Division provided Respondents with its preliminary 20 Lists of Witnesses and Exhibits. The exhibits included the flowcharts. The list of 21 witnesses included A. Craig Mason, Jr. of Kansas City Life Insurance Company.

22 On December 6, 2016, the Division called Mr. Mason to testify. He is a senior 23 vice president, general counsel and secretary of Kansas City Life Insurance
24

25 <sup>275</sup> Concordia Br. at 5:22-23.

26 <sup>276</sup> S-2(e); S-11(f); S-13(g); S-24(l); S-110(f).

<sup>277</sup> See Amended Notice at ¶¶ 61 & 72(c).

1 Company.<sup>278</sup> He is also the secretary of Sunset Financial Services, Inc.,<sup>279</sup> which is
2 Kansas City Life's wholly owned subsidiary.<sup>280</sup> Despite that ownership, Sunset
3 Financial is separate legal entity from Kansas City Life.<sup>281</sup>

4 Mr. Mason testified that Kansas City Life "had no record of this or knowledge
5 of this [Concordia] product whatsoever,"<sup>282</sup> and had never approved it.<sup>283</sup>

6 Mr. Mason also testified that Sunset Financial had records concerning 7 Concordia investments that one of its registered representatives, Randolph Albers, had
8 sold to three clients.<sup>284</sup> Mr. Mason further testified that although Mr. Albers had sold
9 those investments, Sunset did not approve them for sale.<sup>285</sup> Mr. Mason testified that 10 Sunset learned of the Concordia investments when Mr. Albers reported them on his 11 annual compliance questionnaire.<sup>286</sup> After that, Sunset required Mr. Albers to report
12 the investments through the firm so as to monitor his outside business activities.<sup>287</sup>

13 Mr. Mason testified that Sunset sent a binder of whatever documents it had 14 found concerning Concordia to the Division.<sup>288</sup> Concordia moved that both Sunset
15 and the Division be ordered to produce any such documents.<sup>289</sup> After conferring with 16 Chief Investigator Gary Clapper, the Division's counsel stated his then existing belief, 17 which was erroneous, that "the Division, in fact, did not receive any binder from 18 19

---

20 <sup>278</sup> Vol. V at 792:24 to 793:1.

21 <sup>279</sup> Vol. V at 792:24 to 793:1.

22 <sup>280</sup> Vol. V at 793:13-16.

23 <sup>281</sup> Vol. V at 793:17-20.

24 <sup>282</sup> Vol. V at 796:5-7.

25 <sup>283</sup> Vol. V at 796:21-24; 797:15-21; 819:5-13.

26 <sup>284</sup> Vol. V at 796:8-16; 798:19-24.

<sup>285</sup> Vol. V: at 796:17-20; 818:25 to 819:4.

<sup>286</sup> Vol. V at 812:14-17.

<sup>287</sup> Vol. V at 812:12-13; 829:16-21.

<sup>288</sup> Vol. V at 832:11-15; 833:10-17.

<sup>289</sup> Vol. V at 833:2-9.

1 Sunset Financial.”<sup>290</sup> The Division’s counsel continued, “And that being said, if Mr.
2 Mason is willing to provide a copy of that binder, we have no objection to that....”<sup>291</sup>

3 During the colloquy that ensued, the Division’s paralegal, Karen Houle,
4 checked the Division’s electronic file, which indicated that the Division probably did 5 have documents sent from Sunset. The Division’s counsel immediately stated: “We 6 may well have that binder that I just stated we didn’t – I didn’t think we had. If we 7 do, we will produce it....”<sup>292</sup>

8 After a short recess, the Administrative Law Judge asked: “Mr. Burgess, have 9 you had an opportunity to find out anything more about the binder that was mentioned
10 by the prior witness?”<sup>293</sup> The Division’s counsel responded:

11 Yes. As I discussed with Mr. Baskin over the break, there is a 12 substantial number of documents. Over the lunch hour or the lunch
13 break ... I will look at what the documents are and determine the 14 extent that we may need to redact them. And then we’ll begin 15 processing them for production as quickly as we can. Without 16 looking at it, I mentioned to Mr. Baskin that we might be able to get 17 them to the respondents as early as tomorrow, but either way, I will 18 give them an update on what it is and when they can expect it.<sup>294</sup>

19 Respondents falsely assert that the Division made “efforts to bury that 20 information [received from Sunset].”<sup>295</sup> To the contrary, when the Division’s counsel
21 did not believe the Division had any documents from Sunset, he stated that the 22 Division had no objection if Mr. Mason produced the documents he had described.<sup>296</sup>
23 When moments later it appeared that the Division had received documents from Sunset

23 <sup>290</sup> Vol. V at 23-25.

24 <sup>291</sup> Vol. V at 833:25 to 834:2.

24 <sup>292</sup> Vol. V at 837:10-16.

25 <sup>293</sup> Vol. V at 840:24 to 841:2.

25 <sup>294</sup> Vol. V at 841:3-15.

26 <sup>295</sup> Concordia Br. at 44:2-3.

26 <sup>296</sup> Vol. V at 833:25 to 834:2.

1 in July 2013, the Division's counsel volunteered to produce them to Respondents.<sup>297</sup>

2 The record belies Respondents' false accusation.

3 Nor did the Division "withhold" or "conceal" the Sunset documents as 4 Respondents assert. Respondents' accusation incorrectly presumes the Division had 5 an obligation to disclose the Sunset documents sooner than it volunteered to do. But 6 no such obligation existed.

7 The Administrative Procedures Act (APA) and the Commission's Rules provide 8 for limited discovery by subpoenas and depositions, upon a showing of reasonable 9 need, and allow for the exchange of exhibits prior to a hearing.<sup>298</sup> The APA and the 10 Commission's Rules do not require the parties to disclose documents they do not 11 intend to use as exhibits at the hearing. This is as true for the Division as it is for the 12 Respondents.

13 The Division did not intend to use the Sunset documents at the hearing. The 14 Division's counsel was unaware they even existed until the middle of Mr. Mason's
15 testimony.<sup>299</sup> The Division did not have any obligation to disclose the Sunset
16 documents before it volunteered to produce them. To the contrary, even if counsel
17 had been aware of the Sunset documents, absent authorization or the documents
18 becoming "a matter of public record,"<sup>300</sup> the Securities Act's confidentiality statute<sup>301</sup>

19 <sup>297</sup> Vol. V at 837:10-16.

20 <sup>298</sup> A.R.S. § 41-1062(A)(4); A.A.C. R14-3-108(A); A.A.C. R14-3-109(L); A.A.C. R14-3-109(O);
A.A.C. R14-3-109(P).

21 <sup>299</sup> Vol. V at 837:10-16.

22 <sup>300</sup> A.R.S. § 44-2042(A)

23 <sup>301</sup> A.R.S. § 44-2042(A), provides in relevant part:

24 The names of complainants and all information or documents obtained by any officer, 25 employee or agent of the commission ... in the course of any examination or 26 investigation are confidential unless the names, information or documents are made a matter of public record. An officer, employee or agent of the commission shall not make the confidential names, information or documents available to anyone other than a member of the commission, another officer or employee of the commission, an agent who is designated by the commission or director, the attorney general or law

1 required that the Division keep them confidential, as did Ethical Rule 1.6. See ER 1.6, 2 cmt. [3] (“The confidentiality rule ... applies not only to matters communicated in 3 confidence, but also to all information relating to the representation, whatever its 4 source. A lawyer may not disclose such information except as authorized or required
5 by the Rules of Professional Conduct or other law.”).

6 Respondents cite no authority for their contention that the Division had an 7 obligation to disclose what they characterize as exculpatory evidence. Their 8 contention is contrary to the law.

9 The state has an obligation to disclose exculpatory evidence to defendants in 10 criminal cases. Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). That obligation does not 11 extend to civil enforcement actions like this one. “Brady is limited to the criminal 12 context and has never been applied in a civil or administrative setting.” Ellsworth v.
13 Baltimore Police Dep’t, 89 A.3d 1183, 1192 (Md. 2014) (Brady’s disclosure 14 obligations did not apply to police disciplinary hearing); Culver v. Culver, 360 S.W.3d 15 526, 536 (Tex. App. 2011) (wife “has not provided this Court with any authority that 16 Brady is applicable to a protective order proceeding – a civil proceeding – and we are 17 not aware of any.”); Alexander v. New York State Div. of Parole, 654 N.Y.S.2d 835, 18 836 (App. 1997) (“The right of a criminal defendant to discover exculpatory material
19 does not apply in the context of parole revocation proceedings.”); Smigelski v. Dubois, 20 100 A.3d 954, 967 (Conn. App. 2014) (rejecting attorney’s due process claim that the 21 state bar’s disciplinary counsel “had any obligation to correct [a witness’] testimony 22 or to provide [the attorney] with any evidence favorable to his case.”).

23
24
25 enforcement or regulatory officials, except pursuant to any rule of the commission or 26 unless the commission or the director authorizes the disclosure of the names, information or documents as not contrary to the public interest.

1 As one court recently ruled: “Our case law amply demonstrates that Brady
2 applies only to defendants in criminal prosecutions.... This case is not a criminal
3 action, but rather a civil enforcement action and, thus, the requirements of Brady do
4 not apply.”<sup>302</sup> In short, the Division had no obligation to disclose the Sunset
5 documents.

6 Nothing prevented Respondents from contacting Sunset to request its 7 documents concerning Concordia. Respondents knew as early as March 12, 2015, that 8 the Division intended to call Mr. Mason to testify. Yet Respondents never contacted 9 him or Sunset to determine if potentially relevant documents existed. If Sunset had 10 been unwilling to provide its documents, pursuant to the APA and the Commission’s 11 Rules,<sup>303</sup> Respondents could have applied for a subpoena to Sunset to obtain the 12 documents.

13 Nor were the Sunset documents exculpatory. Nowhere did they state that 14 Kansas City Life had ever approved Concordia’s investments. What they showed was 15 that Mr. Albers reported to Sunset in his annual compliance questionnaires that he had 16 sold three Concordia’s investments, and he told Sunset it had approved the sales.<sup>304</sup>
17 There is a difference, however, between Mr. Albers’ telling Sunset it had approved 18 those investments and Sunset actually approving them. The documents also showed 19 that Concordia paid commissions to Sunset and Mr. Albers.<sup>305</sup>

20 After the Division produced the Sunset documents, it invited Respondents to 21 recall Mr. Mason to testify again so they could examine him about the documents:
22 “Mr. Sabo is free to – the respondents are free to recall Mr. Mason if they want to 23
24

25 <sup>302</sup> Gonzalez v. State Elections Enforcement Comm’n, 77 A.3d 790, 802 (Conn. App. 2013).

<sup>303</sup> A.R.S. § 41-1062(A)(4); A.A.C. R14-3-109(O).

26 <sup>304</sup> See ER-15 at ACC011521 to ACC011525.

<sup>305</sup> ER-15 at ACC011527 to ACC011543.

1 recall him.”<sup>306</sup> The Division then offered to arrange Mr. Mason’s further testimony,<sup>307</sup>
2 which it did.

3 On December 13, 2016, Mr. Mason testified again. Mr. Mason did not waiver
4 from his prior testimony that Sunset did not approve Mr. Albers’ sale of the 5 Concordia’s investments: “[H]e did not sell it through the firm, but our treatment
6 would be as if it had been sold by a different firm. We never did an initial suitability
7 review of this; we never took in initial paperwork of the sales. It was treated as if the 8 product had been sold privately and then brought to us.”<sup>308</sup>

9 With respect to the first commission payment dated October 30, 2000, Mr.
10 Mason testified that Sunset accepted that check, even though it did not have a selling 11 agreement for Concordia’s investments, because “we didn’t have good procedures in 12 place.”<sup>309</sup> Sunset was subsequently disciplined by FINRA in two different 13 Acceptance, Waiver and Consent (AWC) agreements for its supervisory and due 14 diligence deficiencies.<sup>310</sup> Mr. Mason testified that starting in 2003, as a result of the 15 first AWC, for investments like Concordia’s for which Sunset did not have a selling 16 agreement, Sunset required its representatives to report them and run their 17 commissions through the firm.<sup>311</sup> Sunset then took a share of any monies that flowed 18 through the firm.<sup>312</sup>

19 Whatever this evidence reflects about whether Sunset actually ever approved
20 Concordia’s investments, it does not show that Kansas City Life ever approved them.
21 That, however, is what Respondents’ flowcharts misrepresented.

22
23 <sup>306</sup> Vol. VII at 1192:9-11.

24 <sup>307</sup> Vol. VII at 1199:25 to 1200:1.

25 <sup>308</sup> Vol. X at 1798:1-7.

26 <sup>309</sup> Vol. X at 6-9.

<sup>310</sup> C-31; Vol. X at 1794:24 to 1795:6, and 1811:23.

<sup>311</sup> Vol X at 1811:21 to 1812:3.

<sup>312</sup> Vol. X at 1809:13-14.

1 Respondents accuse the Division of misconduct by seeking to impeach C.
2 Crowder with a portion of the Sunset documents. This accusation is unwarranted and
3 hypocritical. In its List of Witnesses and Exhibits dated October 28, 2012, Concordia
4 itself reserved “the right to use documents not identified above in cross-examination
5 or rebuttal.” Thus, Concordia reserved the right to use undisclosed documents for 6 impeachment, but contends the Division had no similar right. The Commission should 7 reject Respondents’ double standard.

8 Moreover, impeaching Concordia’s president with offering documents he and 9 Concordia’s C.F.O. created in 2010 was entirely appropriate. The documents
10 undermined Concordia’s representation in its opening statement that in 2008 it
11 “voluntarily ceased” attempting to raise investor money.<sup>313</sup> And the documents
12 directly contradicted C. Crowder’s testimony.

13 C. Crowder testified it would have been irresponsible for Concordia to take on 14 more investor money in 2009, 2010, 2011 and 2012<sup>314</sup> because Concordia has been on 15 the brink of bankruptcy since 2009.<sup>315</sup> Echoing what Concordia represented in its 16 opening statement, C. Crowder testified that Concordia has not sought to raise money
17 from investors since 2008:

18 Q. You and Concordia have not sought to raise new investor money
19 since 2008, correct?

20 A. Concordia has not, no.

21 Q. Okay. Concordia has not sought funds from investors since 2009
22 to fund its operations?

23 A. Not that I know of.<sup>316</sup>

24
25 <sup>313</sup> Vol. I at 41:10-11.

26 <sup>314</sup> Vol. VI at 1155:2-12.

<sup>315</sup> Vol. VI at 1155:13-20.

<sup>316</sup> Vol. VI at 1155:21 to 1156:2.

1 C. Crowder further testified, however, that in July 2010, he and Armen
2 Dekmejian discussed creating another company to raise money from investors but “it
3 wasn’t for Concordia.”<sup>317</sup> C. Crowder further testified:

4 Q. It wasn’t for Concordia?

5 A. No.

6 Q. The money would not be used for Concordia?

7 A. No.

8 Q. And by “Concordia” you mean Concordia Finance?

9 A. Correct.<sup>318</sup>

10
11 Within the Sunset documents were emails dated between July and September
12 2010 in which C. Crowder and Dekmejian attempted to solicit interest from Sunset
13 Financial in a securities offering to be issued by a new company, “Concordia Funding
14 I, LLC.”<sup>319</sup> An offering memorandum that C. Crowder and Dekmejian sent to Sunset 15 Financial stated: “Concordia through Concordia Funding I, LLC, is currently seeking 16 to raise up to $10 million in senior secured financing ... to fund the opportunities in 17 the pre-owned truck finance business over the next two years.”<sup>320</sup> The offering 18 memorandum further stated, “Concordia Finance Co. Ltd. will be the manager of 19 Concordia Funding I, LLC.”<sup>321</sup> The LLC would be “used only to acquire and hold the 20 Conditional Installment Sales Contracts (‘Sales Contracts’) originated and serviced by 21 Concordia Finance, Inc.”<sup>322</sup> Thus, contrary to C. Crowder’s testimony, Concordia
22 tried to use the LLC as a shell to raise money to fund Concordia’s operations.

23
24 <sup>317</sup> Vol. VI at 1157:19-23.

<sup>318</sup> Vol. VI at 1557:24 to 1158:4.

25 <sup>319</sup> ER-15 at ACC011545 to ACC011571.

<sup>320</sup> ER-15 at ACC011559.

26 <sup>321</sup> ER-15 at ACC011568.

<sup>322</sup> ER-15 at ACC011555.

1 A term sheet for the offering further contradicted C. Crowder's testimony. It
2 stated, "Investment Purpose: Concordia Finance, Inc. ('Concordia') intends to use the 3 net proceeds to purchase class 8 truck Sales Contracts...."<sup>323</sup> Thus, Concordia
4 intended to use the money raised to purchase more truck loans.

5 These offering materials demonstrate that C. Crowder testified falsely when he 6 stated:

7 Q. Okay. Concordia has not sought funds from investors
8 since 2009 to fund its operations?

9 A. Not that I know of.<sup>324</sup>

10 ...

11 Q. The money would not be used for Concordia?

12 A. No.<sup>325</sup>

13 Further, the documents demonstrate that the offering documents Concordia
14 prepared contained material misrepresentations and omissions. The offering
15 memorandum represented that one of the strengths of the offering was that Concordia
16 then currently had "a portfolio with stellar performance."<sup>326</sup> This was contrary to C.
17 Crowder's testimony characterizing the performance of Concordia's truck loan
18 portfolio since 2009 as first being "in dramatic freefall" and then slowly going
19 "sideways."<sup>327</sup> The offering memorandum contained a section disclosing certain risks 20 of the investment, but nowhere did it disclose that Concordia was on the brink of 21 bankruptcy.<sup>328</sup>

22
23
24 <sup>323</sup> ER-15 at ACC011555.

25 <sup>324</sup> Vol. VI at 1155:21 to 1156:2.

26 <sup>325</sup> Vol. VI at 1557:24 to 1158:2.

<sup>326</sup> ER-15 at ACC011566 (emphasis added).

<sup>327</sup> Vol. VI at 1156:3-6.

<sup>328</sup> See ACC011566 to ACC011567.

1 Concordia's opening statement and C. Crowder's testimony introduced the 2 issues of whether Concordia sought to raise money from investors after 2008 and what
3 its financial condition was. Concordia should not be heard to complain that the Sunset
4 documents its counsel insisted be produced turned out to contain offering materials
5 Mr. Crowder prepared in 2010, which exposed a misrepresentation in Concordia's
6 opening statement and impeached Mr. Crowder.

7
8 IX. RESPONDENTS' MISCELLANEOUS ARGUMENTS FAIL.

9
10 A. The Division Fully Complied with the Applicable Discovery
11 Standards Under the APA and the Commission's Rules.

12 The ER Respondents again complain that they were denied discovery under the 13 Arizona Rules of Civil Procedure.<sup>329</sup> For the reasons detailed in the Motion to Quash
14 filed January 5, 2015, and the Reply filed February 3, 2015, the Arizona Rules of Civil 15 Procedure do not apply to this proceeding. The discovery provisions in the 16 Administrative Procedures Act and the Commission's Rules apply.<sup>330</sup> The Division
17 also incorporates the reasoning at pages 5 and 6 of the Twelfth Procedural Order dated 18 July 19, 2017, in WMF Management, LLC et al., A.C.C. Docket No. S-20988A-16-19 0354.

20
21 B. Linda Wanzek

22 The ER Respondents again argue the Commission does not have jurisdiction to 23 proceed against Linda Wanzek because she moved to Florida in 2010, and Florida is 24

25 _____
26 <sup>329</sup> ER Respondents Br. at 80:5-6.

<sup>330</sup> A.R.S. § 41-1062(A)(4); A.A.C. R14-3-108(A); A.A.C. R14-3-109(L); A.A.C. R14-3-109(O);
A.A.C. R14-3-109(P).

1 not a community property state. The Administrative Law Judge properly rejected this
2 argument in the Fourth Procedural Order filed August 13, 2014. The Division adopts
3 the reasoning and authorities set forth at pages 25 through 27 of the Fourth Procedural 4 Order.

5 The ER Respondents also argue Linda Wanzek was denied due process because 6 the Commission did not provide her a reasonable accommodation under the Americans
7 With Disabilities Act. Specifically, the ER Respondents assert the Commission did 8 not “set up a secure web feed”<sup>331</sup> so she could monitor the proceedings from her home.

9 The ER Respondents never requested a reasonable accommodation for Mrs.
10 Wanzek or a “secure web feed.” Instead, they requested the Commission to publicly 11 broadcast the hearing. See Letter from Jodi Jerich to Timothy Sabo dated 11/22/2016.
12 The Commission’s Executive Director acted well within her discretion in denying the 13 ER Respondents’ request for a public broadcast.

14 Further, the ER Respondents’ request for a public broadcast merely stated that 15 Mrs. Wanzek would be unable to travel due to health issues, not that she was 16 disabled.<sup>332</sup> The request did not mention the Americans With Disabilities Act or the 17 term “reasonable accommodation.”<sup>333</sup>

18 In any event, an allegation of an ADA violation is not a defense to the Wanzeks’ 19 liability in this action. See In re Doe, 60 P.3d 285, 291 (Hawaii 2002) (allegations of 20 an ADA violation were not a defense to a parental rights termination proceeding
21 “because any purported violation may be remedied only in a separate proceeding 22 brought under the provisions of the ADA.”).

23
24
25 <sup>331</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 74:24-25.

26 <sup>332</sup> See Letter from Jodi Jerich to Timothy Sabo dated 11/22/2016 reciting the reasons stated in the ER Respondents’ request.

<sup>333</sup> See id.

1
2 C. A Cease and Desist Order is Appropriate.

3 Concordia argues there is no reason for a cease and desist order because in 2008
4 it ceased trying to raise money from investors.<sup>334</sup> The argument is factually incorrect.
5 As set forth above and in the Division’s Opening Brief, in 2010 Concordia attempted
6 to raise $10 million from investors<sup>335</sup> by misrepresenting it had “a portfolio with stellar 7 performance.”<sup>336</sup>

8 Cease and desist orders are properly entered when defendants have violated the 9 securities laws. See Black Diamond Fund, LLLP v. Joseph, 211 P.3d 727, 738 (Colo.
10 App. 2009) (“Compliance with the [Colorado Securities Act] is necessarily in the 11 public interest.... We also find nothing arbitrary or capricious in the terms of a cease 12 and desist order that mandates compliance with those laws.”); S.E.C. v. Alexander, 13 115 F.Supp.3d 1071, 1085-86 (N.D. Cal. 2015) (permanent injunction was warranted
14 against future violations of securities laws because defendants’ actions were not 15 isolated incidents, they never publicly acknowledged wrongfulness of their conduct, 16 and they provided no assurances against future violations); S.E.C. v. Deyon, 977 F.
17 Supp. 510, 518-19 (D. Me. 1997) (permanent injunction was warranted against future 18 violations because defendants would not admit wrongful conduct).

19 As in Alexander, Respondents’ violations were not isolated incidents.
20 Respondents sold 132 of Concordia’s unlawful investment contracts over ten years.
21 Concordia and the ER Respondents refuse to acknowledge the wrongfulness of their 22 conduct. To the contrary, Concordia brazenly asserts “it should be commended”<sup>337</sup> for 23 its unlawful conduct. Accordingly, a cease and desist order is appropriate.

24
25 <sup>334</sup> Concordia Br. at 18:9-10.

<sup>335</sup> ER-15 at ACC011559.

26 <sup>336</sup> ER-15 at ACC011566 (emphasis added).

<sup>337</sup> Concordia Br. at 1:24.

1
2 X. THE COMMISSION SHOULD ORDER FULL RESTITUTION FOR
3 THE INVESTORS AND SIGNIFICANT PENALTIES.

4 The Commission has broad authority to order Respondents to remedy their 5 violations of the Securities Act, “including, without limitation, a requirement to 6 provide restitution as prescribed by rules of the commission.” A.R.S. § 44-2032(1); 7 A.A.C. R14-4-308(A) & (C). Ordering persons who violate the Act to make their 8 victims whole by paying restitution advances the Act’s remedial purposes as well as 9 investor protection. “Requiring the [violators] to make restitution to the victims has a 10 deterrent effect, which ... serves the public interest.” Trimble, 152 Ariz. at 555-56
11

12 A. By Concordia’s Own Admission, Respondents Owe $2.296 Million
13 to Investors.

14 Concordia introduced its exhibit, C-24, which purported to rebut the Division’s
15 financial data summary, S-194, showing the $2.643 million of net principal still owed
16 to 59 investors. The ER Respondents did not object to Concordia’s introduction of C-
17 24.<sup>338</sup> Concordia’s witness who prepared C-24 admitted it contained several mistakes
18 and inaccuracies.<sup>339</sup> But even according to Concordia’s own exhibit, investors are 19 owed net principal of $2,296,185.15.<sup>340</sup> Pursuant to A.R.S. § 44-2032(1) and A.A.C.
20 R14-4-308 (C), the Commission should order Respondents to pay restitution of at least 21 $2,296,185.15.

22 The Division’s forensic accountant, Avi Beliak, C.P.A, prepared S-194, which 23 accurately summarizes the investment documents, ledgers and spreadsheets Concordia
24

25 <sup>338</sup> See Vol. XIV at 2411:14 to 2422:14.

26 <sup>339</sup> Vol. XIV at 2413:17 to 2414:19, 2415:11-12, 2417:16-20, and 2420:19 to 2421:9.

<sup>340</sup> C-24 at C002031.

1 produced in response to the State of California's subpoena duces tecum.<sup>341</sup> Mr. Beliak
2 determined the amounts Concordia repaid investors by examining Concordia's
3 account ledgers and spreadsheets.<sup>342</sup> When Concordia's account ledgers and 4 spreadsheets covered concurrent dates, they sometimes contained conflicting 5 information.<sup>343</sup> The ledgers documented the dates, check numbers and amounts of 6 payments Concordia sent to investors.<sup>344</sup> The spreadsheets did not list any check
7 numbers, but rather amounts that appeared to be repayments or accruals of interest.<sup>345</sup>
8 So for the time periods for which Concordia produced its ledgers, Mr. Beliak used the 9 ledgers as the best available evidence of repayments.<sup>346</sup> For the periods for which 10 ledgers were not available, Mr. Beliak used Concordia's spreadsheets to give 11 Respondents credits for what appeared to be payments to investors.<sup>347</sup>

12 In many instances, Mr. Beliak determined that investors are owed less net
13 principal than Concordia calculates.<sup>348</sup> In an effort to reconcile the differences
14 between S-194 and C-24, the Division requested information from Concordia, but 15 Concordia did not provide it.<sup>349</sup>

16 Mr. Beliak credited, and S-194 accurately reflects as of the date it was prepared,
17 all payments to investors shown on the documents Concordia produced. The Division
18 and the State of California subpoenaed and tried to obtain evidence of all repayments
19 to investors, including any monthly interest payments Concordia made between 1998 20 and 2003. See S-162 at Request No. 21 requesting Concordia to produce "records of 21 _____

22 <sup>341</sup> S-181; S-182; Vol. VII at 1224:2 to 1225:3; Vol. VI at 1028:12-14, 1033:7 to 1034:1, and 1140:22-25.

23 <sup>342</sup> Vol. VI at 1033:16-1034:1, 1077:2-20, 1107:11-21 and 1123:23 to 1125:6.

24 <sup>343</sup> Vol. VI at 1107:9-14.

25 <sup>344</sup> Vol. VI at 1033:16-1034:1.

26 <sup>345</sup> Vol. VI at 1124:8 to 1125:8.

<sup>346</sup> Vol. VI at 1107:11-21.

<sup>347</sup> Vol. VI at 1107:15 to 1108:4.

<sup>348</sup> S-194 at Tab 1A; Vol. VI at 1038:7-24.

<sup>349</sup> Vol. VI at 1118:10-13.

1 all payments” to investors, ACC011997; S-184 at Request No. 26 requesting ER
2 Financial to produce “The amounts and dates of any interest, earnings, distributions,
3 dividends, ... refund, or any other form of returns” to investors. The ER Respondents
4 produced no evidence of any repayments to investors. Concordia only provided the 5 ledgers and spreadsheets for some of the time period at issue.

6 S-194 does not purport to credit repayments for which Respondents provided
7 no evidence. For this reason, the Division did not choose “to omit ... monthly interest
8 payments to Contract holders from prior to 2004 and as far back to 1998,” as 9 Respondents erroneously contend.<sup>350</sup> The Division used the same consistent approach
10 as with the rest of the time period at issue. The Division credited Respondents with 11 repayments as long the ledgers and/or spreadsheets Concordia produced documented 12 those payments.

13 Respondents’ assertion that the Division “simply made judgment calls”<sup>351</sup> about 14 what amounts to credit is untrue. As Mr. Beliak testified, the Division relied on the 15 evidence Concordia produced to determine the repayment amounts.<sup>352</sup> The Division
16 did not estimate or assume that payments were made to investors where Respondents
17 provided no documents supporting such payments. Because payment is an affirmative
18 defense, the burden is on Respondents to prove any payments they made. See B & R
19 Materials, Inc. v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 132 Ariz. 122, 124 (App.
20 1982).

21 It is Respondents’ problem, not the Division’s, that Respondents failed to keep 22 records of some of the payments they may have made to investors. Respondents’ poor
23 record-keeping is no reason to harm the investors by reducing the restitution
24 Respondents owe them.

25 <sup>350</sup> Concordia Br. at 12:6-10.

26 <sup>351</sup> Concordia Br. at 24:16-17.

<sup>352</sup> Vol. VI at 1033:16-1034:1, 1077:2-20, 1107:11-21 and 1123:23 to 1125:6.

1           Moreover, the Division is not refusing to account for payments made to
2 investors from 1998 through 2003, as Respondents contend.<sup>353</sup> To the contrary,
3 pursuant to A.A.C. R14-4-308(C)(4), Respondents are entitled to be credited for any 4 payments they can verify they made. But it is incumbent on Respondents that they do 5 so.

6           Respondents complain that the Division’s request for restitution does not take 7 into account the Second Amendments that Concordia imposed in December 2011. The 8 Second Amendments purported to reduce the principal amounts owed to investors by 9 55%, and to release Concordia and its agents from all liability.

10           The Second Amendments are void and of no effect, however. The Securities
11 Act’s anti-waiver statute, A.R.S. § 44-2000, expressly prohibits and voids agreements
12 that purport to waive the applicability of the Act: “Any condition, stipulation, or 13 provision binding any person acquiring any security to waive compliance with this 14 chapter or chapter 13 of this title or of the rules of the commission is void.”<sup>354</sup> The 15 Legislature enacted § 44-2000 to prevent sellers of securities from using contractual 16 waivers to narrow the protection for investors at which the Arizona Securities Act is 17 aimed. R & L Limited Investments, Inc. v. Cabot Investment Properties, LLC, 729 F.
18 Supp.2d 1110, 1113 (D. Ariz. 2010) (§ 44-2000 voided provision for Georgia law to 19 govern an investment contract sold to an Arizona resident; contractual provision could 20 not displace applicability of Arizona Securities Act).

21           § 44-2000 prohibits Respondents from using the Second Amendments to 22 contract their way out of their obligation to pay full restitution pursuant to the Act and 23 the Commission’s Rules.<sup>355</sup> Pursuant to § 44-2000, the Second Amendments are void.
24 Giving effect to them “would undercut Arizona’s public policy objectives of

25 _____
<sup>353</sup> Concordia Br. at 27:9.

26 <sup>354</sup> A.R.S. § 44-2000.

<sup>355</sup> A.R.S. § 44-2032(1); R14-4-308(A) & (C).

1 protecting investors from ... provisions created by those peddling investments and 2 designed to evade the substantive safeguards that Arizona’s legislators have crafted to 3 protect its investing citizenry.” R & L Limited, 729 F. Supp.2d at 1114.

4 Thus, contrary to Respondents’ contentions, the Second Amendments did not
5 extinguish or even alter their restitution obligations. The Second Amendments did not
6 impact the Commission’s statutory authority under § 44-2032(1) to order Respondents
7 to repay the investors the full amounts they entrusted to Respondents.

8 Respondents also complain that the Division’s request for restitution does not 9 take into account the “tax benefits” Respondents contend the investors received 10 because of their investment losses with Concordia. Investment losses, however, are 11 not “tax benefits.” They are losses. Respondents do not cite any authority for their 12 contention that the purported tax benefits should offset the restitution owed. In any 13 event, the Commission’s Rule governing restitution does not provide for a respondent
14 to be credited with any tax benefits an investor may have received. See A.A.C. R14-15 4-308(C).

16 Respondents also complain that the Division is seeking restitution for some 17 investors who do not want it.<sup>356</sup> This is not an issue. The Commission’s standard
18 procedure is to order that “Any restitution funds that the Commission cannot disburse 19 because an investor refuses to accept such payment ... shall be disbursed on a pro rata
20 basis to the remaining investors shown on the records of the Commission.”<sup>357</sup>

21 Respondents also complain that S-194 does not reflect all the salespeople whom 22 they claim sold Concordia’s investments – Lisa Furhman, Ken Crowder, Christopher 23 Crowder, Randy Albers or Charles Buttke – and that it includes Ms. Furhman as being 24 owed restitution. These issues are irrelevant. Those individuals are not respondents.

25 <sup>356</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 71:18-19.

26 <sup>357</sup> E.g. In the Matter of Shadow Beverages and Snacks, LLC, A.C.C. Decision No. 76155 dated 6/22/2017 at 57:28 to 58:5.

1           The Legislature has given the Securities Division and the Commission broad
2 discretion as to how to enforce the Act.<sup>358</sup> It is not for Respondents to dictate who the 3 Division should name in this enforcement action. See State v. Buckholz, 139 Ariz.
4 303, 309 (App. 1983) (“[I]t is within the prosecuting attorney’s discretion to file
5 charges or refuse to charge for reasons other than the mere ability to establish guilt.
6 He may consider a wide range of factors in addition to the strength of the state’s case
7 in deciding whether prosecution would be in the public interest.”) (quoting State v.
8 Rowe, 609 P.2d, 1348, 1353 (Wash. 1980)). That others may have also sold 9 Concordia’s investment contracts does not excuse Respondents’ sales or mitigate their 10 violations.

11           Respondents also complain that S-194 does not group investments by members
12 of the Guest family or the Singleton family. Respondents do not cite anything in the 13 record as to why investments by separate members of these families should be grouped 14 together. Respondents’ contention is irrelevant.

15           Respondents further complain that Mr. Beliak was an expert witness and S-194
16 was an expert report, neither of which is true. An expert witness is one who testifies
17 “in the form of an opinion.”<sup>359</sup> Having certain knowledge, skill, experience, training 18 or education does not convert a fact or summary witness into an expert witness if the 19 witness does not testify in the form of an opinion.

20           Mr. Beliak testified as a fact witness who summarized the voluminous 21 documents Concordia produced concerning the investments and repayments to 22 investors. S-194 was a summary of those documents, not an expert report containing 23 opinions. The Division did not ask Mr. Beliak his opinion on anything.

24
25
26 <sup>358</sup> See, e.g., A.R.S. §§ 44-1971 & 44-2032.

<sup>359</sup> Ariz. R. Evid. 702.

1 Respondents attempted to characterize Mr. Beliak as an expert witness at the
2 hearing.<sup>360</sup> The Administrative Law Judge, however, correctly ruled that Mr. Beliak
3 “has not been brought forth as an expert witness.”<sup>361</sup>

4 Finally, Respondents assert that when Mr. Beliak updated his original summary,
5 S-172, to S-194, “the Division refused to disclose any additional documents.”<sup>362</sup> That
6 assertion is untrue. As stated on the record, on December 5, 2016, the Division sent 7 an e-mail to Respondents’ counsel attaching an update of the list of documents Mr.
8 Beliak reviewed in compiling S-194.<sup>363</sup> Respondents’ counsel acknowledged
9 receiving that disclosure.<sup>364</sup> The Administrative Law Judge found that “the documents
10 that went into the summary [S-194] have been produced.”<sup>365</sup>

11 B. Reducing Respondents’ Restitution Obligations Would Undermine 12 Investor Protection and the Public Interest.

13
14 Fifty-nine (59) investors to whom Respondents sold their unlawful securities
15 lost and are owed $2,643,939.65.<sup>366</sup> “[I]t is well settled that once the Government has 16 successfully borne the considerable burden of establishing a violation of law, all 17 doubts as to the remedy are to be resolved in its favor.” F. Hoffman-La Roche Ltd.
18 v. Empagran S.A., 542 U.S. 155, 170-71 (2004) (quoting United States v. E.I. du Pont 19 de Nemours & Co., 366 U.S. 316, 334 (1961)). The Commission should exercise its 20 broad discretion to order Respondents to remedy their violations by ordering full 21 restitution for the investor-victims.

22
23 <sup>360</sup> Vol. VI at 1071:2 to 1074:13.

24 <sup>361</sup> Vol. VI at 1075:1-2.

25 <sup>362</sup> ER Respondents’ Br. at 72:21-22.

26 <sup>363</sup> Vol. VI at 1073:6-16.

<sup>364</sup> Vol. VI at 1073:17-18.

<sup>365</sup> Vol. VI at 1074:25 to 1075:2.

<sup>366</sup> S-194 at page 3 of 3.

1 The Commission has discretion to reduce a respondent’s restitution obligation
 2 “if necessary or appropriate to the public interest and consistent with the protection of 3 investors....” A.A.C. R14-4-308(C)(5). Reducing these Respondents’ restitution
 4 obligations based on their purported inability to pay would be contrary to the public
 5 interest and inconsistent with the protection of investors, especially the 59 who lost
 6 $2.643 million.

7 Bersch, Wanzek and ER Financial made over $3.09 million.<sup>367</sup> Since 2006,
 8 Concordia has paid C. Crowder more than $1.7 million<sup>368</sup> and its consultant/chief
 9 financial officer, Armen Dekmejian, at least $1,756,500. During the same period, 10 Concordia lost more than $13.8 million. The following table illustrates how 11 generously Crowder and Dekmejian paid themselves each year while Concordia bled
 12 high six-figure and seven-figure losses:

13 14 15	YEAR	C. CROWDER SALARY	FEES CONCORDIA PAID DEKMEJIAN (PACIFIC FINANCIAL ADVISERS)	CONCORDIA’S NET INCOME (LOSS)
16 17	2006	$175,000 Vol. III at 539:20 to 540:1, and 623:5-7	$150,000 Vol. XIV at 2505:22 to 2506:2	($836,186) ER-2 at 122
18 19	2007	$175,000 Vol. III at 623:8-24	$150,000 Vol. XIV at 2505:22 to 2506:10	($1,055,451) ER-2 at 134
20 21	2008	$175,000 Vol. III at 623:8-24	$150,000 Vol. XIV at 2505:22 to 2506:18	($2,252,777) ER-2 at 053; ER- 2 at 134
22 23 24	2009	$140,000 Vol. III at 623:14 to 624:4; Vol. XIV at 2508:19-25	$315,000 Vol. XIV at 2509:5-24	($4,423,362) ER-2 at 141

25
26 <sup>367</sup> S-194 at pages 1 and 2 of 3.

<sup>368</sup> Vol. XIV at 2500:7-11.

1	2010	$140,000 Vol. III at 623:14 to 624:4	$315,000 S-164 at Ex. 13, at ACC011898; Vol. XIV at 2507:21-23.	($4,011,597) ER-2 at 141
2
3	2011	$125,000 Vol. III at 624:3-12; Vol. XIV at 2511:10-14	$350,000 S-164 at Ex. 13, at ACC011901; Vol. XIV at 2512:18-21, and 2513:12- 14	$3,754 ER-2 at 159
4
5
6	2012	$125,000 See Vol. III at 624:3-12; Vol. XIV at 12-14	$200,000 S-164 at Ex. 13, at ACC0119003; Vol. XIV at 2514:17-21	$80,611 ER-2 at 055
7
8
9	2013	$125,000 See Vol. III at 624:3-12; Vol. XIV at 12-14	Unknown	($119,893) ER-2 at 056
10
11	2014	$175,000 Vol. III at 624:13-22; Vol. XIV at 12-14	$126,500 ER-2 at 164; Vol. XIV at 2515:19 to 2516:1	($1,257,626) ER-2 at 164
12
13	2015	$175,000 Vol. III at 624:13-22	Unknown
14
15	2016	$175,000 Vol. III at 624:13-22	Unknown
16		Total C. Crowder Salary 2006-2016 = $1,705,000	Total Consulting Fees Paid Dekmejian 2006- 2014 = $1,756,500	Total Net Loss for 2006-2014 = ($13,872,527)

26

1           The generous six-figure sums Crowder and Dekmejian paid themselves each
2 year make clear that they were not working to maximize the amounts Concordia could
3 return to its investors. Rather, Crowder and Dekmejian did not want their gravy train
4 to end. They have been working to pay themselves as much as they can for as long
5 as they can, at the investors' expense.

6           That Concordia may go bankrupt is not surprising given how much
7 compensation Crowder and Dekmejian have paid themselves. That their lucrative run
8 may end is the natural consequence of Concordia's serial violations of the Act. In any 9 event, the Commission's order for restitution will not be dischargeable if any of the 10 Respondents file for bankruptcy. See 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(19) (debts arising from orders 11 for violations of state securities laws are non-dischargeable).

12           Respondents are undeserving of any reduction in the amount of restitution they 13 should be ordered to pay. Reducing these Respondents' restitution obligations would 14 be contrary to the public interest and investor protection. It would add insult to the 15 investors' injuries. The Commission should order Respondents to pay full restitution.

16
17           C. Significant Penalties Are Warranted.
18

19           Respondents refuse to accept any responsibility for their serial violations of the 20 Act. They express no remorse for any of their 59 investor-victims who lost
21 $2,643,939.65. Instead, Respondents paint themselves as the victims.
22
23
24
25
26

1 Significant penalties are warranted. Respondents acted recklessly, fraudulently
2 and oppressively toward their investor-victims as follows:

- 3 • Crowder did not have any interest in knowing what Bersch, Wanzek and 4 ER Financial were telling investors.<sup>369</sup>
- 5 • Concordia did not supervise the marketing of its investments by Bersch, 6 Wanzek or ER Financial.<sup>370</sup>
- 7 • Concordia did not do anything to determine if an investor had the financial 8 wherewithal to invest.<sup>371</sup>
- 9 • Bersch and Wanzek misrepresented to investors that they monitored
10 Concordia's financial position for the investors.<sup>372</sup>
- 11 • C. Crowder periodically took money for himself from Concordia's petty 12 cash.<sup>373</sup> He also used his company credit card for personal items.<sup>374</sup>
13 Crowder's misappropriations of Concordia's funds for his personal use
14 were bad enough that Dekmejian made Crowder enter a repayment
15 agreement.<sup>375</sup>
- 16 • In blaming the economy for Concordia's financial condition, C. Crowder
17 wrote, "Concordia was in a good position back in December of 2006."<sup>376</sup>
18 C. Crowder's letter did not inform investors that Concordia's December 19 31, 2006, financial statement showed an $838,186 net loss.

22 <sup>369</sup> Vol. I at 94:15-18 and 130:8-10.

23 <sup>370</sup> Vol. I at 129:1-12.

24 <sup>371</sup> Vol. I at 96:24 to 97:2.

25 <sup>372</sup> Vol. III at 510:13-19; S-2f; S-17e; S-2h; see Vol. IX at 1637:25 to 1638:3, and Vol. IX at 1639:13
26 to 1640:16; Vol. X at 1903:9-11 and 1904:9-14.

<sup>373</sup> Vol. X at 1883:18-21.

<sup>374</sup> Vol. X at 1883:24 to 1884:25.

<sup>375</sup> Vol. X at 1883:22 to 1824:25.

<sup>376</sup> S-2i; Vol I at 182:25 to 183:3.

- 1 • Concordia threatened to withhold, and did withhold, the monthly
2 payments it owed investors in order to force them to sign the First
3 Amendment.<sup>377</sup>
- 4 • In 2010, Crowder and Dekmejian attempted to raise more investor money
5 for Concordia’s use without disclosing it was nearly bankrupt, and by 6 misrepresenting Concordia then currently had “a portfolio with stellar 7 performance.”<sup>378</sup>
- 8 • In November 2010, Concordia instructed ER Financial to return the 9 vehicle titles, which purportedly served as the investors’ collateral,<sup>379</sup> to 10 Concordia<sup>380</sup> without the investors’ permission. In doing so, Respondents 11 breached Sections 4.1, 4.2 and 4.3 of the Servicing Agreement, and 12 Section 4 of the Custodial Agreement. When Wanzek sent the vehicle
13 titles back to Concordia in November 2010, the investors’ purported 14 collateral was gone.<sup>381</sup>
- 15 • Starting in December 2011, Concordia threatened investors that it would 16 not return any more of their principal unless the investors agreed to forego 17 55% of the balance they were owed and signed releases that purport to 18 absolve Respondents of any liability.<sup>382</sup>
- 19 • Not long after Respondents did this to the investors, C. Crowder raised his 20 six-figure salary by another 40%.<sup>383</sup>
- 21
- 22

23 <sup>377</sup> S-2k; S-2l; LeMay – Vol. II at 299:21 to 300:23, 301:3 to 302:5, and 330:5-20; Dennison – Vol.
24 III at 516:22 to 517:6; Crowder – Vol. III at 565:18-20, and 566:22-23.

25 <sup>378</sup> ER-15 at ACC011566 (emphasis added).

26 <sup>379</sup> Vol. IX at 1696:18-21 and 1753:11-14.

<sup>380</sup> S-161 at ¶ 4.

<sup>381</sup> Vol. IX at 1697:2-8.

<sup>382</sup> See Vol. III at 587:21 to 588:4.

<sup>383</sup> Vol. III at 624:13 to 625:4.

1 In addition, Bersch and Wanzek terminated ER Financial in response to the 2 Division's investigatory subpoena for ER Financial's records.<sup>384</sup> The ER Respondents
3 have concealed and refused to produce at least one thousand pages of ER Financial's
4 documents that their counsel is holding.<sup>385</sup> Bersch invoked his privilege against self-
5 incrimination<sup>386</sup> when asked whether he purposefully terminated ER Financial in an
6 attempt to frustrate the Division's investigation.<sup>387</sup> Bersch also invoked his privilege
7 against self-incrimination<sup>388</sup> when asked whether, after being served with the 8 Division's subpoena, he destroyed or directed anyone to destroy ER Financial's
9 records.<sup>389</sup> Based on Bersch's invocation of his privilege against self-incrimination,
10 the Commission should draw an adverse inference against the ER Respondents that 11 they destroyed ER Financial's records to frustrate the Division's investigation. See,
12 e.g., Baxter v. Palmigiano, 425 U.S. 308, 316-19 (1976); Curtis v. M&S Petroleum,
13 Inc., 174 F. 3d 661, 673-75 (5th Cir. 1999) (fact-finder may draw an adverse inference 14 against a party from the assertion of the Fifth Amendment privilege by a witness whose 15 interests are aligned, such as the party's agents or representatives).

16 The Commission should order significant penalties based on Respondents'
17 misconduct and refusal to accept any responsibility for their serial violations.

18 RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED this 15th day of August, 2017.

19
20 By
21 James D. Burgess
22 Attorney for the Securities Division of 23 the Arizona Corporation Commission

24 <sup>384</sup> S-168.

25 <sup>385</sup> Vol. IX at 1600:15-19, 1653:23-25 and 1654:12-14.

26 <sup>386</sup> S-173 at 34:22 to 35:5.

<sup>387</sup> S-173 at 34:22 to 35:5.

<sup>388</sup> S-173 at 34:22 to 35:5.

<sup>389</sup> S-173 at 32:18-25.

1 On this 15th day of August, 2017, the foregoing document was filed with Docket
2 Control as a Securities Division Brief, and copies of the foregoing were mailed on 3 behalf of the Securities Division to the following who have not consented to email
4 service. On this date or as soon as possible thereafter, the Commission's eDocket
5 program will automatically email a link to the foregoing to the following who have 6 consented to email service.

7 Alan S. Baskin
8 David E. Wood
9 Baskin Richards PLC
10 2901 N. Central Avenue, Suite 1150
11 Phoenix, Arizona 85012
12 Attorneys for Concordia Financing Company, Ltd.

13 Timothy J. Sabo
14 Snell & Wilmer, LLP
15 One Arizona Center
16 400 E. Van Buren St. #1900
17 Phoenix, AZ 85004
18 Attorneys for ER Financial & Advisory Services, LLC,
19 Lance Michael Borsch, David John Wanzek, and Linda Wanzek
20 tsabo@swlaw.com
21 jhoward@swlaw.com
22 cpaulsen@swlaw.com
23 docket@swlaw.com

24
25
26
By 